Two Voices From Virginia

Within the modest span of 24 hours, two of Virginia's best-known names are in the news.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd opposed the Kennedy plan for aiding education because of a probability that Congress eventually may require desegregation in states which accept federal funds.

A few hours after the senator made his position known, Virginia's former Gov. Colgate W. Darden spoke at Union College, Schenectady, N.Y. His major theme was that the South needs a first-rate school system. "The skills required by a modern industrial state cannot take root in a population plagued with illiteracy . . . we need a first-rate school system . . . primarily because it makes for competency and a richer and fuller life for each individual."

It is easy to understand Gov. Darden. There is no flaw in his conclusion. Sen. Byrd is different. The Byrd organization has given Virginia honest state government. It does not tolerate the rascals so familiar in the expensive wastes of public money in other states, particularly in some of the Old Dominion's neighbors to the south.

Personal Integrity

The Virginia senator grows good apples. He is a man of complete personal integrity. But while one may respect these qualities, it is difficult to admire the almost complete negative quality of his record as a senator. His Senate career has consisted largely of saying "no." It assuredly has lacked innovation, imagination or any apparent awareness of the changes produced by a constantly burgeoning population concentrated more and more in an urban society. It is a far cry from the pastoral peace of the apple orchards to the modern industrial state which Gov. Darden declares must have adequate skills to survive.

Sen. Byrd is against federal aid to education, on the equitable basis of pupil attendance and per capita income, because, he fears, some day in the unknowable future state schools may be required to accept the constitutional guarantees and the orders of courts. One wants to respect the thought process of the senator who will, if he can, deprive millions of American children of a first-rate school system and the skills necessary for competency and a fuller life which Gov. Darden seeks. But Sen. Byrd makes it difficult.

There is posed, by Sen. Byrd's opposition, a problem for all Southern congressional members. They acutely are aware their own state school systems are not adequate. Of the 13 states which would profit most under the Kennedy formula, nine are in the Southeast. Among the states which also would be greatly assisted is Virginia.

Dreaded Day

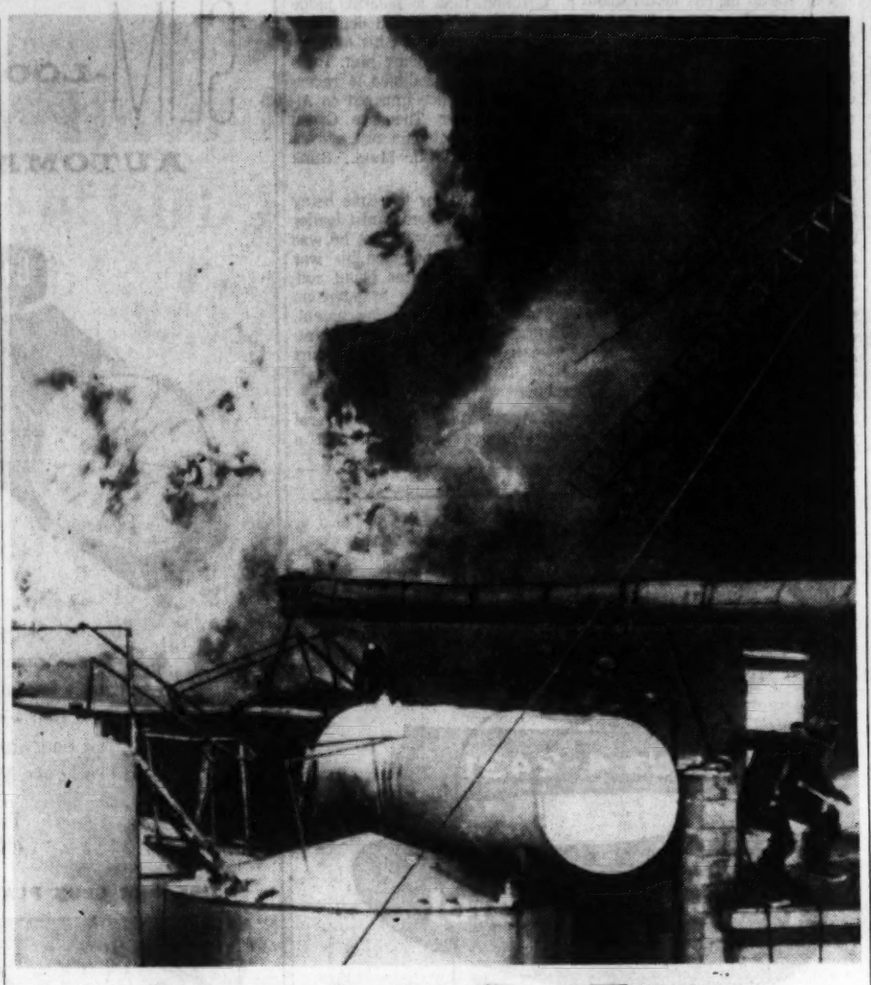

Most Southern congressmen and senators dread the day when they will be required to vote against the children of their state in order to sustain old fears and prejudices. There will be no voice raised in denial of Gov. Darden's thesis. It long has been an accepted fact of life.

Many in the Congress would welcome a court test which quickly would settle the issue. It certainly is not constitutional to use tax money, collected from all the people, on a discriminatory basis. Perhaps a White House directive can solve the dilemma of these men.

The spectacle of Sen. Byrd and those who stand with him in unreasoning fear and prejudice is really one of the saddest in our national politics. One does not grow angry about it. One is made sad. The need is so great. Only education can provide freedom's margin of victory in the great contest with communism.

Einstein once said, "Politics is more difficult than physics." The world, he said, is more likely to die of bad politics than bad physics. And certainly no Southern state, and few others, will be able to acquire what Gov. Darden so truly says we must have, without federal aid.

The symbol of Sen. Byrd's "no" to such aid is bad politics for his state and the nation, however good it may be for him.

Vandiver-Byrd Budget Rolling to Showdown On Senate Floor Today

Car Titles Win, 32-1, In Senate

By RICHARD ASHWORTH

Georgia, through the action of the State Senate Monday, was on its way to become the 42nd state in the nation to have an automobile title law.

The Senate voted 32-1 for the bill which House and Senate committees had worked out during the recess of the General Assembly.

Sen. Earl Staples of Carrollton, who helped perfect the bill which earlier won resounding approval by the House, told the Senate owners of new automobiles would have to obtain title registrations in 1962, while owners of older cars would have three years to obtain such registrations.

2-DAY ORDEAL

Staples said the House and Senate motor vehicles committee had worked for two days to "get the bugs out" of the bill.

Passage of a title law has been repeatedly urged in Fulton County by grand juries as a means of preventing Georgia from being a "dumping ground" for stolen automobiles.

With the passage of the measure, and its signing into law by Gov. Vandiver, Sen. Staples said there will now be 42 states with title laws.

BENEFIT STUDY VOTED

The Senate was due to take up the House-approved anti-drag racing bill, but action on it was postponed until 11 a.m. Tuesday. A vote on the bill was previously postponed when some senators ob-

House Committee Balks, Stands By Its Own Bill

The Byrd-Vandiver appropriations bill steamroller will get into high gear Tuesday as it faces its first big showdown in the Senate.

Lt. Gov. Byrd called for the Senate Appropriations Committee to release its version of the appropriations bill Tuesday so that Byrd can have his own bill substituted for it on the Senate floor for a vote the same day.

His move came after the House Appropriations Committee balked Monday. Byrd, Gov. Vandiver and the legislative leadership apparently had previously worked out an agreement on the new state spending bill.

Vandiver and Byrd, claiming sufficient votes to push their bill to victory in both Senate and House, met secretly with legislative leaders Monday afternoon and offered some concessions in exchange for support of the appropriations bill.

The leaders, including House Speaker George Smith II and Floor Leader Frank Twitty, appeared ready to accept the agreement, but the House committee rejected it in another secret session.

House Appropriations Committee Chairman Jack Ray said after the meeting which lasted more than two hours:

"The House committee had indicated its desire to insist on its position as expressed in substitute House Bill 90 (which the governor and Byrd oppose). However, they are not precluding further consideration."

COMFORTABLE VICTORY

Byrd and Vandiver were saying they have over 40 Senate votes and over 140 House ballots. That would give them a comfortable victory cushion in both bodies.

Byrd said Monday night it is his "hope that the Senate Appropriations Committee will present its version of House Bill 90 for action by the Senate on Tuesday."

Of Monday's closed meetings, Byrd said, "I have done everything within my power to bring about a meeting of the minds of those concerned. The leadership and members of the House have been most understanding during these discussions. However, I honestly believe that my bill is worthy of adoption and certainly feel that the House of Representatives will act upon it favorably."

SERVE NOTICE

Although talk of compromise filled the air Monday afternoon, there seemed to be little compromise in the position Vandiver and Byrd outlined to the committee.

They reportedly served notice in the meeting with the legislative

Byrd's Strategy Wins Fund Duel

Lt. Gov. Garland Byrd clearly has won the budget battle in the General Assembly. He has the other contestants in the position of having to accept his spending bill or do without one.

Byrd has the votes in the Senate. Without them, no budget proposal has a chance of passage. With them, leverage can be applied to the House leadership which wants to pass an appropriations bill, even if it is not one of their own making.

IN AGREEMENT

With the lieutenant governor thus in the driver's seat—and in agreement with Gov. Vandiver at the same time—the House leadership is whipped.

To cinch the weather, Byrd circulated a statement over the weekend for the signatures of senators saying they would not participate in an extra session of the Legislature.

In effect, the statement said: All right. You have a choice in the House. Pass our bill and don't pull anything that would cause Vandiver to veto the bill. We won't come back into session, so it has to be passed now.

BIBLICAL REFERENCE

This adroit piece of political maneuvering had Capitol observers chuckling to themselves Monday afternoon.

They were pulling out references, Biblical andd otherwise, about men being hanged on the scaffolds they had built for others.

To gain the victory, Byrd and Vandiver teamed. This weekend they made enough telephone calls to allow American Telephone and Telegraph to declare extra dividends.

They talked to virtually all the members of both the House and Senate personally, asking for their support in the budget fight. The results were obvious immediately.

BILL OR NOTHING

Legislators who went home Friday swearing they would support the House appropriations bill or nothing came back eulogizing the virtues of compromise.

It didn't take long-winded phone conversations to remind these legislators that Vandiver still is gov-

River Projects Periled As Flood Swirls On

By BILL SHIPP
Constitution State Editor

IN THE FLOODED CHATTAHOOCHEE RIVER BASIN — The angry, swollen Chattahoochee River continued to run wild at least 100 miles south of Columbus Monday. It played havoc with three multi-million dollar public works projects, covered hundreds of acres of pasture land and forced many farmers to evacuate livestock to higher ground.

At the $15 million Columbia Dam and Lock project, the U.S. Corps of Engineers prepared to flood the entire 20-acre lock construction area in a last-ditch effort to save a huge coffer dam surrounding the site.

PROJECT SET-BACK

The flooding will set back the project several weeks, R. N. Haygood, resident engineer at Columbia, said.

To the north, at Ft. Gaines, a half-dozen minor leaks were reported in the coffer dam surrounding the Walter F. George Lock construction site. Engineers were piling dirt and stone on top of the dam and an adjoining dike in hopes of holding back the raging river.

A detailed evacuation plan was announced for the 350 workers in the area.

LITTLE HOPE

Still farther north at Georgetown, the river swept away two 30-foot construction bridges and a 40-foot coffer dam was sub-

Rusk Asks Buildup In Non-Atom Army

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk has recommended a big stepup in non-atomic forces of America and its Allies in order to lessen the danger of a nuclear war.

Rusk's views were given to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara in a secret paper.

WHITE PROTESTS

State Department press officer Lincoln White, while declining to specify what Rusk had recommended, Monday night denounced as "the grossest distortion of the views of the Department of State." One version of the Rusk recommendations was published by The Washington Star Monday.

The Star story described Rusk's position as this:

"1. Use of the big missiles and bombers carrying atomic weapons should be confined to deterrence of attacks on this country and deterrence of 'nuclear blackmail.'

CONVENTIONAL WEAPONS

"2. Attacks on Europe should be met with 'conventional,' nonnuclear weapons unless the enemy started to use nuclear weapons.

"3. Limited aggressions outside

President Accepts Ike's Space Budget

By JOHN W. FINNEY

WASHINGTON — The Kennedy administration told Congress Monday it was adopting, at least for the time being, the space budget drafted by the Eisenhower administration.

In the first declaration of administration policy on the space program, space agency officials indicated that no substantial increases were planned in the $965 million budget drafted by the Eisenhower administration for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration for the coming fiscal year. They also left open the possibility that certain aspects of the space budget might be cut.

James E. Webb, new head of the NASA, told the House Committee on Science and Astronautics he had been authorized by President Kennedy to go before Congress with the Eisenhower space budget.

At the same time, he said, the President had ordered a "hard-boiled reappraisal" of the space

No Harm in Fishing Sunday, House Decides

Rep. Bill Kimmons of Pierce County, self-styled last of the wool hat boys, sold a sympathetic House Monday on the notion that Sunday pursuit of fish is just as wholesome as pursuing "them little white golf balls or looking for a hog."

The House voted 107 to 32 to legalize Sunday fishing.

"I want you to vote your conscience," the elderly legislator urged in an infrequent speech on the House floor. "I don't see a bit more harm in fishing on Sunday than I see in chasing one of them little white golf balls around."

Rep. Louis T. Raulerson of Echols County arose to oppose Sunday fishing and Rep. Kimmons immediately took him to task.

"Is there any difference between fishing a little and looking for hogs on Sunday?" he demanded.

"We're not trying to legislate hog hunting," countered Rep. Raulerson. But he retired and the House voted with Kimmons.

HOLLYWOOD—Elizabeth Taylor won her fourth Oscar nomination in four years Monday as the Motion Picture Academy announced nominees for the 33rd annual awards.

Miss Taylor, not yet a winner, was named for her performance as the wanton beauty in "Butterfield 8." She faces strong competition from three foreign born actresses and one American — Shirley MacLaine, the wistful elevator girl in "The Apartment."

Also nominated for best performance by an actress in 1960 were Greer Garson, as Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt in "Sunrise at Campobello;" Deborah Kerr, the shepherd's wife in "The Sundowners," and Melina Mercouri, the Greek actress who portrayed a prostitute in "Never on Sunday."

It shaped up as a hot race among the actors, too. Laurence Olivier was nominated as the hard-bitten music hall performer in "The Entertainer," and Spencer Tracy as the Darrow-like lawyer of "Inherit the Wind."

The other nominees were:

Congolese Soldiers Rape U.N. Woman in New Terror

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — Congolese soldiers have loosed a campaign of rape and terror against U. N. personnel in Leopoldville, already imperiled by the advance of leftist rebels.

President Joseph Kasavubu and the United Nations Command in the Congo exchanged threats of force. Kasavubu's government sought aid from rebellious Katanga Province against the rebels now reported only 280 miles from Leopoldville.

In the midst of the tension, G. Mennen Williams, U. S. assistant secretary of state for African affairs, arrived in Leopoldville on his African tour. He declined to comment on the latest Congolese developments.

Congolese soldiers, reported angered because the U. N. Command has done nothing to stop rebel leader Antoine Gizenga's soldiers in their march toward Leopoldville, went on the rampage Sunday night and early Monday.

In one attack, a woman working for U. N. headquarters was taken from a car and raped repeatedly by Congolese soldiers while her escort, an unarmed Sudanese officer of the U. N. Command, was forced to look on at gunpoint. The U. N. refused to disclose any details of the woman's identity or nationality. A U.N. spokesman described the attack upon her as "a beastly assault."

Other unarmed U. N. personnel were hauled from cars and manhandled. Four Canadians were forced to run nearly a mile over rocky ground in their bare feet while soldiers beat them with rifles.

U. N. headquarters sent a stiff note to Kasavubu warning that such attacks will not be tolerated and will be resisted with full force. U. N. trucks rumbled through the capital, emphasizing

3 Slay Captain, Miss Guevera

HAVANA (UPI)—Three youths Monday shot and killed a Cuban army captain in a daring but unsuccessful attempt to assassinate economic czar Ernesto (Che) Guevara.

The youth who fired the shot was identified as Carlos Manuel Duarte Delgado, 21, of Fomento, Las Villas Province. He killed Army Capt. Hector Salinas, 29, when Salinas asked him for identification in front of Guervara's home in suburban Mirimar.

Duarte showed Army papers but Salinas said they were false. Duarte then fired.

Duarte was wounded in the 20-minute gun battle in front of the villa. All three youths were captured. One eyewitness said at least one of the attackers was a former Guevara army bodyguard.

The ex-bodyguard said they wanted to kill Guevara "because he is a Communist," according to witnesses.

Guevara generally is regarded in Western intelligence circles as Moscow's liaison man with the Fidel Castro government. His influence in Cuba is second only to that of Castro.

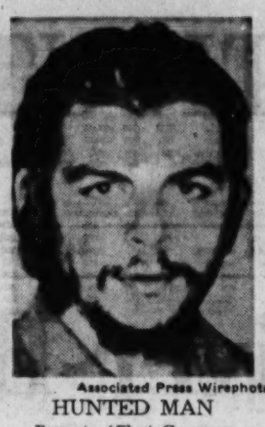

It was the second attempt on Guevara's life in the past four months. In the previous unpublicized attack, a Cuban army captain was reported to have been killed. That attack forced Guevara to move to the residence where Monday's attack took place.

Guevara was not at home during the attack. He was at the presidential palace being sworn in as Industry Minister.

The government, meanwhile, was reported preparing official announcement of a "decisive victory" over embattled anti-Castro guerrilla forces in the Escambray Mountains.

Unofficial reports said government forces in the past week had inflicted several defeats on the insurgents in the Trinidad (Mountain City) area of Central Cuba.

The sources said scores of rebels had been captured.

Supreme Court Upholds Red Inquiry, Rips Probers

By CHARLOTTE G. MOULTON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A sharply split Supreme Court reaffirmed Monday the right of the House Committee on un-American Activities to investigate communism. But the committee's tactics were assailed sharply by the dissenting justices.

By a 5-4 vote, the court upheld contempt of Congress convictions against Frank Wilkinson of Los Angeles and Carl Braden of Louisville, Ky., who refused to answer questions put to them by a subcommittee in Atlanta in 1958.

Justice Hugo L. Black, marking his 75th birthday anniversary Monday, led the dissenters with a vigorous criticism of the committee's practices. He was joined by Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justices William O. Douglas and William J. Brennan Jr.

For the majority, Justice Potter Stewart cited a 1959 court decision which dealt exhaustively with the right of congressional committees to inquire into communism. That ruling upheld the contempt conviction of Lloyd Barenblatt, former Vassar College instructor who defied the House committee during a hearing on communism in education.

Black objected with these words: "In my view, the conclusion is inescapable that the only real limitation upon the committee's power to harass its opponents is the committee's own self-restraint, a characteristic which probably has not been predominant in the committee's work over the past few years."

He said this means that from now on anyone who disagrees with the committee runs the risk of being subpoenaed, asked to repeat gossip he has heard about any of his friends, held up to the public as a subversive and a traitor, jailed for contempt and "branded by his neighbors, employer and erstwhile friends as a menace to society."

Wilkinson, 45, refused to answer a question whether he had ever been a Communist on grounds of conscience rather than the fifth amendment's protection against self-incrimination. The former Los Angeles housing official said Monday's decision means the majority of the court "has sanctioned the committee's efforts to silence its critics."

Both he and Braden, a one-time copy editor on the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal, face a one year jail sentence for their defiance. Braden, 46, is now field secretary for the Southern Conference Educational Fund.

In other actions Monday, the court:

1. Ruled that a federal judge must allow a convicted defendant a chance to speak on his own behalf before sentencing him. However, the court declined to reconsider the sentence imposed on Alcatraz prisoner Theodore Green who was convicted in 1951 of robbing the Norwood, Mass., Bank & Banking Co.

2. Dismissed for the time being a complaint by Communist leader Robert G. Thompson that he was unconstitutionally denied his war veteran benefits after being convicted of conspiring to advocate the overthrow of the government. Thompson's case can be reappealed to the Supreme Court after the U.S. Court of Appeals renders a verdict.

3. Again ruled that a federal court is powerless to prevent a state court from admitting wiretap evidence obtained by local police in violation of federal regulations. Douglas and Warren dissented in the case which involved New York's criminal prosecution of Bronx attorney Burton N. Pugach.

Kennedy Outlines School Aid Stepup

By W. H. LAWRENCE

Copyright 1961 by the New York Times Co.

WASHINGTON—The White House sent detailed legislation to Capitol Hill Monday to carry out a portion of President Kennedy's education program—the $2,300,000,000 three-year aid program for primary and secondary schools.

Kennedy, at the same time, announced his aim to expand and strengthen the nation's foreign scholarship and cultural exchange program as a vital arm of foreign policy.

With the federal education program already under fire from a Republican-Democratic coalition, the measure offered by the administration Monday invited more controversy by proposing cuts in the aid program for areas having large concentrations of federal employes. The effect of these amendments would be to reduce present federal assistance for such areas by about 50 per cent.

Appealing for the enactment of his broad program, Kennedy wrote to House Speaker Sam Rayburn that he believed the proposed legislation "will lift our schools to a new level of excellence."

"I am convinced," he said, "that the national interst requires us to provide every child with an opportunity to develop his talents to their fullest. Inadequacies in our school system handicap this development."

Speaker Rayburn opposes that part of the administration program calling for payment of teachers with federal funds and would limit the measure to providing funds for additional classroom construction and operation.

But the teachers' salary fund remained in the administration bill sent to Congress Monday. The measure would provide $2,298,000,000 over the next three years to help states build more public elementary and secondary schools, with the states free to decide whether some of these funds could be used to employ more teachers or pay them higher salaries.

The bill offered Monday was only par tof the $5,700,000,000 aid-to-education program outlined in a special presidential message last Monday.

Senators To Push a Bill a Week

Copyright 1961 by the New York Times Co.

WASHINGTON — Amid indications of quickening progress on the congressional front, the Senate Democratic leadership announced plans Monday for Senate action on one major administration bill a week through the normally inactive spring period.

After a Democratic caucus at the Capitol, Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate Democratic leader, said he was prepared to bring the administration's bill increasing the number of federal judgeships to the Senate floor this week.

ONE BILL A WEEK

Thereafter, he said, he hoped that the Senate would act upon at least one bill a week from President Kennedy's 16-point agenda of priority legislation.

The ambitious schedule laid down by Mansfield called for Senate action next week on the $389,500,000 depressed areas bill and ratification of the treaty providing United States membership in the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development.

NEW JUDGESHIP

The Judiciary Committee, moving with surprising alacrity, met Monday afternoon and approved a bill calling for the creation of 69 new federal judgeships, 10 more than the President had requested.

The Foreign Relations Committee is scheduled to act on the OECD treaty Wednesday. Hearings on the depressed areas bill will probably end Thursday with the testimony of three Cabinet secretaries—Luther H. Hodges of commerce, Orville L. Freeman of agriculture, and Arthur J. Goldberg of labor.

De Gaulle, Bourguiba Agree as French Riot

RAMBOUILLET, France (UPI)—Riot police battled anti-Gaullist demonstrators in Paris Monday while President Charles de Gaulle and Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba met in this suburb and expressed hope for a "positive and swift" end to the Algerian war.

A cautiously—worded communique from the secret talks at the Rambouillet chateau 30 miles from Paris nevertheless indicated optimism and was taken as a sign that talks might open soon between De Gaulle's government and the Algerian rebels.

During their five-hour parley, thousands of Parisians swarmed through the streets of Paris to demonstrate near the Arch of Triumph against the De Gaulle plan for a semi-independent Algeria.

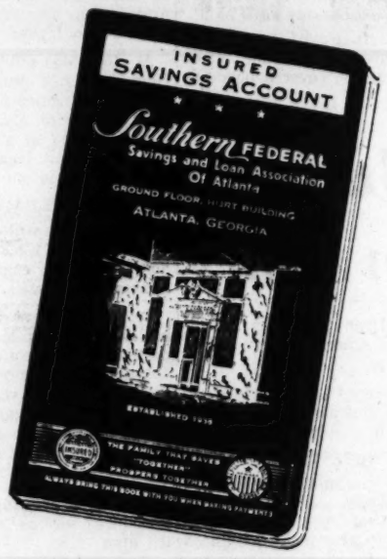

Some 1,500 riot police moved in. About 40 police and 10 demonstrators were injured and 300 persons were arrested.

De Gaulle and Bourguiba said they discussed the Algerian issue at length "in the light of recent developments," presumably a reference to the Algerian referendum in January which gave De Gaulle a mandate to seek an end to the fighting.

The statement said the two presidents agreed "on the possibilities and the hope that exist now of a positive and swift evolution" of the six-year-old conflict to peace in Algeria.

In a massive manhunt for the 59-year-old, toothless suspect, police now have his photograph to help them, plus a full physical description and a partial record of his movements between October 1949, and last Jan. 31. The hunt has focused on Massachusetts and New York.

Thompson was born in London and raised in London and Worcester, Mass. According to Assistant Chief Inspector James Walsh, "This fellow is a floater—an itinerant handyman, waiter, busboy and porter."

He was also described as a "heavy drinker, partial to beer." About 40 empty beer cans littered the dingy room where Edith's body was found Sunday.

Fingerprints on the beer cans led the police Monday to their first big break in the case. They tallied with those on an application for a cabaret identify card dated Nov. 13, 1953, which also contained Thompson's photograph.

Budget Fight Has Run Its Course

Aims of the budget struggle got lost in the murk and the efforts to end it are sensible.

It is entirely possible that a Georgia governor's wings should be clipped somewhat on money powers. But this is not the kind of thing to be rammed through hastily in a political wrestling match, as some House leaders tried to ram it. It ought to follow a thorough and sensible study and be part of an overall budget reform.

The crying need for this reform was underlined by the constructive activities of these same House leaders during their questioning of Gov. Vandiver's budget. Let a careful study go forward and let a prudent revision of budget practices follow.

The money part of this controversy became moot when the House, the Senate and the governor all decided they would spend more on teacher and bus driver raises than the state can afford under present taxes. House leaders tried to find the income to pay for a $250 raise and failed, but wanted to give the raise anyway. Then Gov. Vandiver and Lt. Gov. Byrd raised them $50 to $300 and admitted flatly it would have to come out of the state's surplus, or savings. When the savings are gone, no revenue is in prospect to continue paying the raises without a tax increase. Gov. Vandiver says he'll be out of office before then. But the taxpayer should not lose sight of what is coming to him later as a result of what the governor and legislature did this month.

And what of the teacher? She remains underpaid, even though the little bit she got plunged the state into deficit financing. This is about as clear a call as we have seen for Georgia's congressmen to support the federal aid to schools that President Kennedy is offering, and for all of Georgia's counties to start paying locally as they are able. The state's teachers and taxpayers cannot carry this load alone any longer. Our children bear the injury of our inability to support their schools adequately.

What of Those People Bombers Try to Please?

How much courage does it require of a man to bomb the home of a 75-year-old Negro and his wife? How much pride in his race? How much faith in his manliness? How much understanding of morality?

It requires none. It requires, rather, only an animal mentality, an inability to believe in man or God or right.

When the bomb throwers are caught, they will be mystified by the knowledge that they generate only contempt from those they sought to please. That those they sought to please are not animals, yet never tried to curb their excesses is perhaps an even sadder commentary on our times.

These Fulton Measures Deserve Passage Now

Fulton County's delegation in the General Assembly owes it to the community to come up with favorable action on a pension plan for city and county employes to be hired in the future. They also should agree upon the retirement plan for department heads which not only is just but badly needed.

Petty politics from whatever source should not hold up action for another year on what basically is a fine pension program. Employes covered under present plans should recognize, too, the long-range benefits which would accrue to the city in bringing some order into the whole problem of pensions. The present drift, if allowed to continue, will become more untenable every year.

The "emeritus" salary or retirement bill for department heads is sound. It places control under elected officials while guaranteeing some reward for years of superior service.

We urge all members of the delegation to forego such ideas as halving the size of the board of aldermen and to pass these measures which are in the best interest of all citizens.

Georgia Badly Needs Kennedy's School Bill

President Kennedy's initial legislation to implement his federal aid to education proposals calls for an outlay of 660 million dollars in grants to states for the public schools beginning with fiscal year July 1. Georgia's congressional delegation should support it.

A minimum of $15 per pupil is allotted under the bill but aid would be dispensed otherwise on a basis of economic need. Georgia would get about $26 per pupil, enough to provide a teacher pay raise of at least $700.

Georgia, which right now is facing a serious financial dilemma because of its school problem and pressure for teacher pay raises, would benefit more than most states. Certainly the state is doing its best under existing tax structures and economic capabilities. With federal aid and with greater equalization of effort at the local level, our schools can be financed at a rate more commensurate with need.

Georgia's troubles are indeed part of a major national problem. We cannot make the mistake of expecting the federal government to take over our burden. We can welcome help, especially in paying teachers a decent wage, until we are able to work out our own financial problems through tax equalization and economic growth.

Puny Support Accorded Industrialization Effort

State spending is out of kilter in Georgia.

As pointed out by Constitution Business Editor Jim Montgomery in an open letter published yesterday, the state pours more and more millions of dollars into the advancement of agriculture and agriculturally related endeavors but is miserly in providing funds to lay the groundwork for bringing in new industry.

Money spent wisely on agriculture should not be begrudged. It also should be taken into consideration that a sizable portion of money going to the Agriculture department serves consumers, through inspection and regulation of products, and certain industries handling food and fibre.

But where the state misses the boat is in its feeble support of research and other requisites for a vigorous industrial development program. Studies have been made, including the recent one by the Senate Government Operations Committee, but the state has dragged its feet in implementing recommendations.

As a result, Georgia lags in bringing in new plants in such fields as electronics, nuclear energy, space, synthetics, basic metals and other high-paying industries.

The state has been and is penny-wise and pound-foolish in its failure to invest more than the pittance it has in efforts to speed industrial development. Such investments that have been made, small as they were, have paid for themselves many times over in taxes alone collected from new businesses and their employes. In addition, there is the impact upon the general economy to be considered.

Despite these factors, though, the state is failing to stimulate industrial growth to the extent it should.

Who Can State Our National Mission?

While everybody agrees today that America in the 1960s does have a national mission, there is not much agreement on who knows best what that mission is, on who shall put the mission, the national purpose or whatever you call it, into simple, believable and eloquent words.

This, Clinton Rossiter says, is "the hard question. . . . Who can state our mission in such a way that . . . it will be accepted and acted upon by the American people? We have no Marx, no teacher revered as the First Source. We have no Pope, no God-touched prophet whose words command unique respect."

We do have a President. But is that enough?

The President's first duty is to the nation, all the nation. If he had only this first duty, if he had only one role, then his voice could state our mission for us. He has a second role and duty, though. However much we may regret it (however much he may regret it), he is also the leader of his party. Most of the time John Kennedy speaks as the No. 1 American. Some of the time he must speak as merely the No. 1 Democrat. A lot of people can't tell the difference and because of this the force of his first voice is often weakened. (The fault here is generally theirs, not his.)

One way we could differentiate between national mission and party mission would be to elevate the role of the leader of the opposition party. I mean Mr. Nixon.

Nixon should speak out on national issues as often and as forcefully as the President, not just when he disagrees with him (though he should then, too) but when he agrees. He should speak out especially when he agrees. His party should provide the opportunity for him to do this. The newspapers, magazines and television networks of the country should provide him a forum.

During the presidential campaign Nixon said over and over that he and Sen. Kennedy agreed on objectives but differed on the ways that those objectives should be reached. He was rebuked by his friends and derided by his enemies for this. He shouldn't have been. The American people today need just this sort of continual, day-to-day reminder from both its political parties' leaders that there is such agreement. Without it we may never fully grasp what our national mission is. Until we grasp it, it can't be fulfilled.—TED LIPPMAN.

First It Ticks, Then It Tocks

America's mood sweeps in the cycle of a pendulum. After wars, right. After right, left. Then back. And forth. Choose your present position from these 30-year-old words from "Only Yesterday," by Frederick Lewis Allen, describing America after the first World War:

"By the end of the war with Germany, social compulsion had become a national habit. The typical American of the old stock had never had more than a half-hearted enthusiasm for the rights of the minority; bred in a pioneer tradition, he had been accustomed to set his community in order by . . . a sumptuary law, a vigilance committee, or if necessary a shotgun.

"During the war he had discovered how easy it was to legislate and propagandize and intimidate his neighbors into what seemed to him acceptable conduct, and after peace was declared he went on using the same sort of methods to see that they continued to conform.

"From the coercion of alien enemies and supposed pro-Germans it was a short step to the coercion of racial minorities and supposed Bolsheviks . . . And from legislating sobriety in wartime it was a short step to imbedding prohibition permanently in the Constitution and trying to write the moral code of the majority into the statute books . . .

"After the early days of the Big Red Scare, the American middle class majority met with little resistance in its stern measures against radicalism and its insistence upon laissez faire for business . . .

"When, however, the middle class majority turned from persecuting political radicals to regulating personal conduct, they met with bitter opposition not only from the bright young college graduate but from the whole of a newly class-conscious group—the intellectuals of the country."

If the depression and the onset of the Second World War had not driven the pendulum back to the left, those classes who were offended by intimidation would have. And that is about where we stand now, following the right-wing McCarthy era and then the Eisenhower years, and disregarding much of the current lip-shallow liberalism.

Right-wing inflammation of race friction has palled on Georgians and a new breed of politics, a better crowd, is rising from the clinkers, more bent on making sense than on making noise. Ku Klux Klan cries that communism lurks in Negro quarters boomerangs off the hard general knowledge that a Communist agent, truly dedicated to damaging America in the world, would far more usefully plant himself in the Ku Klux Klan. Sorry little Atlanta sideshows where a generation-old lynching is celebrated now embarrass even the participants. And the people who rang the telephones of United Church Women here to complain that their Prayer Day speaker, a former president of the National Council of Churches, was "communistic," were very lonely and pathetic in their effort to regulate the conduct of others.

Free Americans will put up with politics for awhile, but they will not have their personal conduct regulated for long by intimidation from their neighbors. That is the place where the pendulum swings.

Facts vs. Theories On 'The Chicoms'

WASHINGTON—The sweat box is growing very hot for President Kennedy over "The Chicoms," the Chinese Communist regime. It is plainer day by day that when British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has his first meeting in Washington on April 5 with the President, the atmosphere is going to be made a little humid by "The Chicoms."

Support for putting Communist China into the United Nations, and throwing out our ally, Nationalist China, is sweeping wide now. Heavily encouraged by the British, it is picking up nations which formerly backed us in resisting the entrance into a world organization of a bandit regime which made still-unrepented war on that organization—and on us—in Korea.

The argument of the prorecognizers rests upon what they are fond of calling "the facts of life." These "facts of life," as they call them, are as follows:

Communist China is a vast, going power, whereas Nationalist China, in its redoubt of Formosa, is neither.

There can be no chance of world disarmament unless the Chinese Communists are let into the United Nations.

Much of the world has long since been willing to recognize the Chicoms—so why not the United States?

In simple truth, however, this reasoning is based far more on theories of life than "facts of life."

Yes, Red China is a vast, going power and Nationalist China is not. But beyond that point, what?

1. There is not a germ of evidence that the Red Chinese would accept any sort of world disarmament. They are demonstrably more aggression-minded even than the Russians.

2. To put the Red Chinese into the U.N. manifestly would quickly complete the destruction of free-world predominance there.

3. Most of the prorecognizers' "facts of life" are offered by diplomatic types who seem more interested in making things "regular" than in the realities of world power.

4. To say that Nationalist China is finished wholly misses the real point. The real point is that every major pro-Western government in Asia is profoundly against letting the Communists into the United Nations.

Prime Minister Macmillan is a sensible man. He will bring no dogmatism of his own to the Washington meeting with the President. But if he is wise—and he has been so far—he will leave the United States with some way out short of total capitulation. Not even the threat of a licking in any U.N. roll call on the recognition issue can push us that far.

Kennedy School Program Is Brilliantly Conceived

President Kennedy is not likely to send to the Congress any more important legislative message during his entire term than the message urging a major federal effort to improve the nation's educational system. The crisis facing America's schools and colleges is so urgent, so vast and by this time so well known that it is superfluous to dwell upon it. What is absolutely essential now is action.

The President has supplied the leadership in offering a brilliantly conceived program, though one more modest in prospective financial outlay than many experts think necessary. The basic principles of federal aid to education have been discussed for many years; this year, within the next few weeks, the Congress has the direct responsibility of passing an aid-to-education bill that will at least start to meet present and future needs.

Representing a smaller outlay in federal assistance to public elementary and secondary schools than either the bill passed last year by the Senate (which died with the end of the session) or the recent recommendations of the Hovde committee, the Kennedy proposals are, as he says, "modest." They nevertheless would be a giant step forward if accepted by Congress, as by and large they ought to be.

The President introduces an interesting innovation foreshadowed in the Hovde report—to provide extra help for "areas of special educational need" such as city slums, thus setting up a kind of equalization program within the respective states as well as the one along more familiar lines between the states.

In addition to helping the schools, the Kennedy program provides for continuation of existing authority for federal loans to colleges of all types for dormitory housing, plus a welcome new plan to grant loans for other kinds of academic facilities such as classrooms.

An entirely new program of 50,000 federal scholarships a year, to be awarded on basis of ability, is a major feature of the President's education message. This is good; but serious question arises over a corollary proposal to extend direct federal help to the colleges that the scholarship winners choose to attend, "to enable these institutions to accept the additional students" without increasing their fees or suffering undue financial loss.

Taken as a whole, the President's program—designed in its various parts to extend over different periods of time—would cost a total of $5.6 billions. This is certainly not too much. There is no problem facing this country today—foreign or domestic—more critical than that of insuring the education essential to keep our society strong and free.

Why Do Workingmen of the South Elect Congressmen Who Fight Minimum Wage?

Winder—We wonder why people of the South elect congressmen who in coalition with the Republicans fight the minimum wage laws?

Are our factories paid on an equal with those in the North, West and East of us?

No! If our employes in the many factories in the South who receive less than $1.25 per hour were paid accordingly to others we could afford to pay more taxes and stimulate the economy.

We could afford to pay our teachers more with this tax.

We cannot go on in the Dark Ages, and lay this matter to poor education because our unemployment figures show that our economy is in bad shape.

The average working man in the South has always lagged in not using his voting power to enrich a higher standard of living.

Crisp Resident Raps Rep. Summers' Views

Cordele — I wish to state that I do not go along with Rep. Marvin Summers' views with reference to the school attendance of Negro children in Crisp County which he represents.

What is good for one group of children is good for the other group of children. Negro education, not only in Crisp County but in the state at large, has been too long neglected, which brought about the crisis we are now having in Georgia and the South. What Mr. Summers failed to see was that for 50 years in Crisp County there was not a single city or state supported high school provided for the Negro children from taxes paid by citizens.

If the non-compulsory attendance law is allowed to pass, it is felt that juvenile delinquency will prevail among all of the children throughout the state. It is appalling to know that our elected representative would advocate such a thing which tends to put our own state of Georgia further down the educational ladder. What is good for one group of children is good for all of the children.

'Why Cross Swords With Mayor?' He Asks

Atlanta—When you flatly state that Hartsfield is wrong and make a remark about political thinking and scientific facts, someone should challenge your statement.

Why a smart association of reporters and publishers would cross swords with a man who has always been more than fair to them is beyond my understanding. In the first place, why would any sensible group that enjoys the God-given blessing of some of the purest water in these United States advocate the addition of anything to that supply? With all due respect to Dr. Jones and to his profession, I seriously doubt he has qualifications which would fit him to advise a million people to fluoridate their water or to suggest any other drastic change.

The Digging Is For Amateurs

Wanna' do a bit of diggin' for nothin'? Some folks do and have already responded to an invitation from Arthur R. Kelly, archaeologist, University of Georgia. Dr. Kelly offers "free digging at your own expense" March 13-19 at three archaeologically significant sites near Eufaula. Said sites soon will be submerged as the Walter George dam backs up Chattahoochee waters.

Then there was the digger who wrote, "I have just unearthed a remarkable piece of early Roman timber."

"What size?" the museum wrote back.

The answer: "II by IV."

COLLECTIVE: The teacher said, "Name two collective nouns." The smart boy answered, "A garbage can and a vacuum cleaner."

In Oklahoma the other day a vacuum cleaner swallowed a parakeet. Quick surgery on the dustbag retrieved the pet minus tail feathers. In Swainsboro, Ga., Bill Rogers reports, a child with home cleaner extracted redhot coals from the fireplace. Quick action put out the coals and the fire.

And you can add "odd collections" in Georgia, theft of a hay baler from a Hancock County farm, first steal of that kind ever heard of in middle Georgia. At last word, the law was both pressing the search and searching the press.

Pilot the Victim Of This Tragedy

LONDON—Three years ago a BEA Elizabethan aircraft crashed at Munich killing 23 people including many members of the Manchester United Football team. The surviving pilot Capt. James Thain was later found guilty of negligence and dismissed.

The main charge against him was that he did not satisfy himself that the wings were free of ice. The second, and comparatively trivial, charge was that he was sitting in the right hand seat of the cockpit instead of the left.

Three years after this tragic affair the Ministry of Aviation has published a most significant document on take-off in icy, snowy and slushy conditions — which were exactly those which prevailed when Capt. Thain's Elizabethan failed to get off the ground on the far end of the Munich runway.

The Civil Aviation Information Circular No. 8 says that the Elizabethan type aircraft, in which so many deaths took place in 1958, requires 40 percent more runway in which to take-off in half an inch of slush than on a dry runway.

No other of the sixteen aircraft types tested needs such a hugely increased margin of safety.

If the slush is an inch thick the plane should be grounded. The Elizabethan is by far the most dangerous in slush.

None of this was laid down before—for the simple reason that no one had taken the trouble to find out.

It looks to me (and also to the 750 BEA members of the British Air Line Pilot's Association who know a darn sight more about it than I do) that Capt. Thain may have been the victim of a grave and intolerable injustice.

He may have been sacked in terrible circumstances for actions which had not the slightest contribution towards the death of 23 men.

I have to report that influential tiger-circles in India were not very impressed by the presence of the Queen and Prince Philip in their midst.

A jungle spokestiger said in advance of their visit: "While we appreciate the importance and the great honor of their visit, the fact that both her Majesty and the Duke are scheduled to take part in a tiger hunt in which one of our colleagues will be shot dead, naturally colors our view.

"We quite appreciate the compliment of the Royal Family's taste for tiger blood, although opinion is divided in the jungle as to whether having tethered goats and young buffalo calves as a bait to tempt one of our hungrier brethren is a wise or considerate move.

"We gain some slight, loyal consolation from the news that if the Queen or the Duke fails to slaughter our brother, there may be a sharp-shooter hidden in the trees who will get him with a simultaneous shot."

Birds, Teen-Agers, Prisoners And Duffers Came With the Sun

Somewhere a mockingbird sang and she came closer and closer until there she was bouncing along over the rye grass. Then came a brilliant red Cardinal, surveying the scene, then swooping down. Already the sparrows had come to Piedmont Park and they were pecking at crumbs which were being strewn about by a simple soul who believed the birds might need food after a week's washout. The sun shone on this first day after the rains and the birds were not the only things which had come to the park. People, perking up and following the sun, had come to sample the free things of life. The best things, so they say.

Gay teen-type girls sat the benches and ate ice-cream cones while only a row away young mothers, not long out of bobby-sox themselves, sipped cokes and tried to pacify babies by pushing them to-and-fro in strollers.

A man drives to an unshaded spot to park. On the hood of his auto he places a can of wax. Soon it will be soft and he will polish his car.

White-clad workers, with the blue stripes of city prisoners on their legs, work across the way on the swimming pool area. Prisoners? Here they are, out in the soft sun, feeling a slight breeze on their faces, and those that are free are trapped off there somewhere in those buildings that make up Atlanta's skyline.

Men, their coats off and across their arms, their ties loosened, sit and swing. They throw things to ducks which quack and come across muddy water seeking each strange surprise. Other fellows, fathers mostly, fish as if the waters were crystal clear and each instructs young sons as they thrash the top. It will be a foolish fish which bites and is caught this day. Another man moves past this scene swiftly for he is walking away weight and is leaving a black cigar smoke trail. He is the only man here in a hurry.

Slow-playing duffers whack into the Piedmont turf, taking 8 and 9 blows at the ball on each hole, but cheering each other along, saying, "That's the way to smack it—sounded good, but I didn't see where it went." I did, the shooter will say. "Right into the ditch, where it always goes on this hole."

An alert teacher has brought a brown-bag group of girls out for a sunning and they run and search for the best places to picnic. Some skip rope; others sit and throw jack-stones. A man with a camera spots them, shoots, but the bet is that the pictures will be bad. The newness of his equipment shows he is an amateur.

Parked as far away as they can get are the matinee lovers taking 1:20 p.m. kiss breaks. In the cars you can sometimes see but one head; other times none. In a three-seated station wagon as many couples are in embraces undisturbed by through traffic.

All those in parked cars are not lovers, however. A lone teen-ager reads a comic book; a salesman slipped from his job turns pages to a quarter novel; an older man studies the want-ads of a newspaper.

But all under the same sun.

The sun which shone on Atlanta's Piedmont Park the day after the rains. The sun which was good business for the birds and so pleasing to the people.

It's a Nice Town in the Spring

By HUNTER JAMES

Ed Gentry came out of the telegraph office at 4 p.m. holding an envelope with $5 in it. He had wired for $50, but all he got was enough for a bus ticket home.

The thought of going back to the farm without a job disturbed him. What would his wife say? He stood for a moment at the corner of Forsyth and Marietta; it was raining on him.

In a bar, he found someone to talk to.

The man sitting down the counter wasn't paying any attention. Ed moved closer. Then the man said, "Look, buddy, I got troubles of my own."

Ed knew he wasn't dressed right for making friends. He was wearing the same suit he wore at high school graduation. The lapels were out of style now and his arms stuck too far out of the cuffs.

Ed had meant to stay in town another week. The more he thought about it, though, the more he decided he had done about all he could do. Every time he asked for work he got the same answer. Sorry, pal, come back next spring when business picks up.

He was on the street again and dusk was falling. A man with no front teeth came up to him. Help me, mister, my lungs is full of cotton. Help me, mister.

Ed went back to his room at the mission house. He had a cot upstairs. A mist pushed against the window, and down the street a neon sign winked its pink eye into the mist and below the mist there were voices. People were drinking beer in a tavern across the street.

But he wasn't thinking of them now; he was thinking of home, the ripening fields, the grain leaning out of the barn windows.

And before he knew it he was on a bus. 3 a.m. The mist had turned to rain.

The woman in the seat beside him said, "Atlanta isn't much to see this time of year, but you ought to come back in the spring. It's a nice town in the spring."

Despite Varied Menu, People Parrot: 'Make Mine the Same'

No disease has reached epidemic stage among the American family like the contagious "me-too-itus." Especially among the younger generation there is a deadly conformity to the same old patterns; a subservient ditto to the old, slick traditions. "Make mine the same" isn't exactly the easy-going agreeableness that it sounds; instead, it may be monotonous rote of having no alternatives. Imitation, pirating, gerrymandering, plagarism—all are well-known processes in our day.

Our loss of individuality is greater than our loss of national prestige. Is it a crime to be different? To think? To vote "no" when everyone else seems to vote "yes"? Who killed the spirit of individuality?

Look at the nauseating evidence: subdivisions of houses, like a child's roughly hewn blocks stacked in unsightly rows; songs that begin where the latest hit parade left off; books that ride the same vulgar horses in plot, phraseology and moral; clothes cut by assembly-line yardstick; political jargon that mouths identical, meaningless platitudes; attitudes that allow no fresh wind to blow in; little if any creative, honest, soul-searching initiative.

There is little wonder that so few good artists, writers, or musicians are produced in this climate. A good student of any of these disciplines usually is regarded with a jaundiced eye of envy, suspicion or distrust. At best he is tolerated.

And how did we get this way? Well, the gray-flannel boys cut the stencil and many business personnel ran off their copies. "Be like us" became an incessant demand. Deviation from the approved methods" often constituted ostracism. Stepping out of line to be a person instead of "people" might offend some weaker soul, so most stay in line. Any spark of creativity is quickly hosed to death by conformists.

Then, we simply must be liked, you know. Oh, this at any cost! Dare not have a colleague dislike you. The price paid to be liked is often the price of our souls. This indeed is a bad bargain.

The conformist ritual has written a gospel all its own. It demands. "Be well-rounded; be adjusted." But like a rubber ball, the well-rounded person is apt to roll with the slightest push.

They called him a "square" just because he wouldn't roll with the crowd. But because that "square" stood his ground, he inspired the words that warn, "Better like Hector in the field to die, than like a perfumed Paris, to turn and fly."

We Should All Thank Jaycees For 'Poison' Prevention Week'

If I can make room enough among those dusty, crusty old pill boxes and cough syrup bottles in my medicine chest, this is the week I'm going to post one of those neat little "What to Do in Case of Poisoning" charts inside the cabinet door. It's not that I'm so daft about being in the swing of things that I want to rush out and observe Poison Prevention Week, just because all the other kids are doing it Feb. 27 to March 4. The sobering truth of the matter is that I didn't realize poison was such a serious hazard in the home.

Until those zealous, up-and-doing young men, the Jaycees, got interested in the subject and pulled off a full-scale Poison Prevention Week with proclamation by the mayor and everything, I always assumed the only poison that menaced my dear ones was last week's soup. (How many cooks like me can't bear to part with a particularly fine pot of soup? To construct a soup is a loving ritual with me, if I have the time and can find the proper knuckle bone and brisket, and after I have it going I cling to the delusion that it improves with age.)

No matter, I have just learned from the Jaycees that there are much greater dangers than even my nine-day-old porridge lurking in every home. Aspirin and kerosene, for instance, are dangerous in the hands of small children. Drugs and cleaning chemicals and insecticides are all better kept out of reach of the young. Bleaches and paint thinners and varnish and furniture polish account for a surprising number of deaths or serious injuries to little ones.

In families where Mama likes to putter with furniture refinishing she's more likely to have that old death-dealer, a can of lye, close by than a bottle of Chanel No. 5. So the Jaycees, aided by the Junior League, have set out to remind us casual users of caustic powders and liquids what we've got and what to do In Case.

As one who never could remember if heads should be raised or lowered in Girl Scout life saving, I'm particularly happy to have the little first aid cards they're giving out. (Get them from the nearest public school, drugstore, supermarket or filling station.) When somebody at your house has swallowed poison and the label on the bottle says "Induce vomiting" maybe you are the kind to remember how—I'm not.

This little first aid card does not mealy mouth around. It tells you HOW to induce vomiting and when not to. (I forgot there were times when it was worse to than not to.)

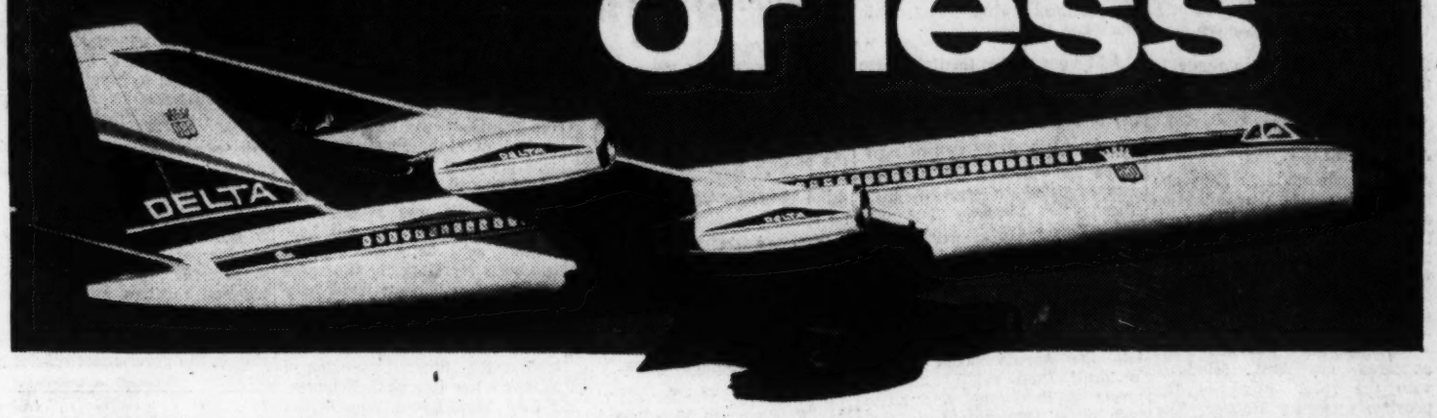

The directions are clear and explicit and they have the approval of the county medical society and the State Board of Health. There are not many Weeks-with-a-capital-W that are worth more than a minute's attention but death by poisoning is such a hideous, needlessly wasteful thing, I think we should thank the Jaycees and the Junior League for reminding us to avoid it.

Flood Perils River Projects

merged. Workers were forced to pull back heavy equipment from where they are building a new highway bridge and a railroad trestle. A construction foreman said work was halted on the bridge projects seven days ago because of rising water.

There was little hope of any immediate respite from the flood. U.S. Engineers said the weather forecast called for two to three inches of rain to fall Tuesday north of Columbus. This would bring another floodtide surging down river, and could cause additional trouble at West Point and Columbus where the river Monday still was at between three and four feet above flood level.

The Small Business Administration Monday designated 15 counties in Alabama, six in Mississippi and two in Georgia as disaster areas as a result of the floods.

The Georgia counties are Muscogee and Troup. Columbus is in Muscogee and West Point in Troup.

CAN GET HELP

The designations permit owners of homes, businesses, churches or charitable institutions damaged or destroyed by the floods to apply to the SBA for reconstruction or rehabilitation loans at 3 per cent interest. Loan applications may be filed at the SBA office at 90 Fairlie St., NW, Atlanta.

Columbus and West Point Monday were busy cleaning up after the highest waters in 31 years. Most of the hundreds of families forced to flee their homes Saturday were reported able to resume almost normal living conditions late Monday.

Although the Chattahoochee flood appeared to be the most destructive, other rivers in Georgia also were on the rampage.

CREST ON FLINT

The Flint River at Montezuma was expected to crest at noon Tuesday at 24 feet, four feet above flood stage; at Albany nine feet above flood stage on March 3; at Newton five feet above flood stage, and two feet above flood stage at Bainbridge on March 6.

The Flint is expected to hurtle into the Appalachacola at the Woodruff Dam shortly after it crests at Bainbridge and hit a high of 71 feet—nearly six feet above flood stage.

The project on the Chattahoochee which appeared to be most endangered was the Columbia lock. Engineer Haygood ordered a 75-foot stretch of the coffer dam prepared for breeching at noon Tuesday. It is expected to take approximately four and one-half hours for water to fill the 60-foot-deep 20-acre construction basin.

TOP BY NOON

Haygood said he expects the river to rise to the top of the dam about noon. It will continue to rise to an expected high of about 50 feet on March 2, officials predict.

Haygood said it was hoped water on both sides of the quarter-mile-long coffer dam would equalize the pressure, thus saving the structure from destruction.

The river at Columbia sheered off 300 feet of a 30-foot high clay bank across the river from the construction site.

At Ft. Gaines, dozens of watchmen walked the coffer dam and dike at the Walter F. George project to spot new leaks which were appearing all day Monday.

At one point, a portion of the dam gave way and a watchman sank up to his waist into the dirt structure. He was not injured.

Trucks scurried back and forth with dirt and rocks to strengthen the coffer dam which surrounds the construction site of the power house and lock.

Tons of debris carried by the flood and white-capped waves dashed against the side of the partially-constructed dam. William Coryell, resident engineer at the project, said this was by far the worst flood since work started four years ago.

Congolese Terrorize U.N. Aides that the command was ready to use the force authorized by the Security Council last week to keep peace in the Congo.

ASKS MOBILIZATION

Shortly thereafter, Kasavubu called for a general mobilization and in a radio address told each Congolese army military commander "to open fire if necessary against anyone who opposes the mission to which he is assigned."

His mobilization order, however, appeared concerned primarily with the rebel threat to the province's eastern frontier. The main Congolese army force under Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu is out of position in Equator Province to the north.

RECALLS RESERVISTS

Kasavubu announced all reservists will be recalled to the army. He urged all army veterans to re-enlist.

Kasavubu sent Premier Joseph Ileo to Elisabethville, capital of secessionist Katanga, ostensibly to discuss a proposed peace meeting of all rival Congolese factions in Geneva, Switzerland. But sources close to President Moise Tshombe of Katanga said Ileo was really seeking quick military aid to help block any move by Gizenga's rebels against Leopoldville.

BETTER TRAINED

Tshombe's army is better trained than the forces of other factions and has some modern equipment. But it is currently engaged in northern Katanga against Baluba tribesmen loyal to Gizenga's rebel Stanleyville regime.

Ileo's plea may get a cool reception. A Katanga spokesman noted Tshombe offered to sign a military pact with the Leopoldville regime more than a month ago but Kasavubu and Ileo hesitated.

"WOULD BE OBLIGED"

Tshombe told newsmen that if any Stanleyville forces now moving through neighboring Kasai Province to the Leopoldville Province border make any move against Katanga "my army would be obliged to take up positions to insure the security of the state."

While a foe of Gizenga and his leftist political mentor, the slain Patrice Lumumba, Tshombe maintains his independence of Leopoldville.

man of "The Apartment"; Burt Lancaster, the Bible - pounding "Elmer Gantry," and Trevor Howard, the drunken father of "Sons and Lovers."

"The Apartment" took top honors among films, scoring with 10 nominations. It was nominated for best picture, along with "The Alamo," seven nominations; "Sons and Lovers", seven; "Elmer Gantry," five; and "The Sundowners," five.

Other major nominees:

Best Supporting Actor:

Peter Falk, "Murder Inc."; Jack Kruschen, "The Apartment"; Sal Mineo, "Exodus"; Peter Ustinov, "Spartacus"; Chill Wills, "The Alamo."

Best Supporting Actress:

Glynis Johns, "The Sundowners"; Shirley Jones, "Elmer Gantry"; Shirley Knight, "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs"; Janet Leigh, "Psycho"; and Mary Ure, "Sons and Lovers."

As expected, the 33rd running of Hollywood's big derby loomed as a wide-open race. The numerical lead of "The Apartment" made it the entry to beat. But the race could go in any direction. There were no surprises among the nominees.

The most notable aspect of the choices is the heavily foreign flavor, with almost half of the acting nominations going to those born outside the United States.

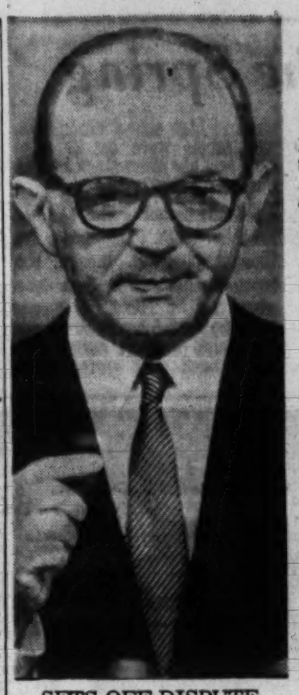

The coveted Oscars will be handed out April 17 on a telecast, emceed by Bob Hope, from the Civic Auditorium in seaside Santa Monica.

Rusks Asks Buildup of Non-Atom Army

SETS OFF DISPUTE
Dean Rusk

Europe should be handled by our troops rather than those of our Allies, and we should use nonnuclear weapons in meeting such aggression."

Kennedy administration authorities promptly started an inquiry to find out who had leaked information to the press on the Rusk document.

RETAINING DISCRETION

Rusk favored retaining discretion as to the place and time nuclear weapons might be used in case of Red attack.

But in a shift away from the "massive retaliation" policy once enunciated by the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Rusk sought a strengthening of conventional forces to combat Communist aggressions that might be staved off without unleashing atomic destruction.

Rusk was said to have made his recommendations for McNamara's use in the Defense Department's broad review of U. S. strategy. McNamara's studies have been completed and sent to the White House.

Officials said there was no split between the views of Rusk and McNamara in this letter and that the heart of it is implicit in moves already made by President Kennedy.

For example, Kennedy has ordered a strengthening of airlift capability to fight brush-fire wars. And the Army has been training men in small numbers for special service in combatting guerrilla attacks.

One theory underlying the Kennedy administration's thinking is that smaller outbreaks of fighting are more likely to occur around the world than a direct Soviet nuclear assault.

AS ONLY METHOD

Another belief is that, with its conventional forces too thin, the West is limited to atomic retaliation as its only method of hitting back in case of attack.

Rusk's paper dealt mainly with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the forces involving European Allies, the core of the U. S. global defense set-up.

Officials who disputed the Star story said:

1. No one has suggested that a massive attack on Europe should be met by conventional weapons alone.

2. Nor has it been proposed that Communist aggression outside Europe be fought by American troops using conventional weapons, instead of by troops of the country under attack.

NO COMMENT

There was no immediate comment from The Evening Star.

White said: "I do not pretend to know the source of this report, but the person or persons responsible reflect the most irresponsible and reckless attitude I can conceive of."

He indicated he was referring to the government official or officials who supplied the information for the Star story, not the newsmen who wrote it. The story appeared under the joint by-line of Earl H. Voss and Richard Fryklund.

Rusk could not be reached for comment. He was in New York.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said Rusk would be asked about his views at a closed-door Senate Foreign Relations Committee meeting Tuesday. The session was scheduled before reports of Rusk's paper were published.

President Accepts Ike's Space Budget

program, which could be expected to lead to "some changes and revisions." Significantly, in the opinion of space agency officials, Webb did not indicate that these revisions would necessarily be upward.

The adoption, subject to revision, of the Eisenhower budget was viewed within the space agency as reflecting a change in attitude within the administration about the relative urgency of civilian exploration of space.

Both before and after the election, Kennedy and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson generally were critical of the pace and management of the space program under the Eisenhower administration.

Furthermore, according to officials, the Kennedy administration was more or less forced to accept the Eisenhower budget because of its own delays in coming to grips with over-all space policy.

The administration, which has pledged to make the Federal Aeronautics and Space Council into an active policy-making committee, has yet to call a meeting of the group. Nor has the administration sent to Congress a request for a change in the space law permitting Vice President Johnson to become chairman of the council, as Kennedy said he planned to do.

The policy responsibility for the space program has been assigned to Johnson, and it was understood from administration sources that the President was becoming concerned over the inaction of the vice president in reactivating the space council.

Johnson, it was reported by administration sources, has been waiting until he would find an executive secretary for the space council. Two persons under consideration for the job, it was understood, are Dr. Edward C. Welsh, military specialist on the staff of Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, and George J. Feldman, a New York lawyer who helped draft the space law creating the space agency and the space council.

In his first appearance before Congress as space administrator, Webb echoed the philosophy of his predecessor, Dr. T. Keith Glennan, by declining to view space research as simply "a race" with the Soviet Union and by emphasizing the objective of peaceful exploration of space.

"I look at it more as an exploration than as conquest or efforts to control," he said.

jected to the bill's felony punishment provisions as being too stiff.

The Senate passed several other routine measures as it awaited word from its presiding officer, Lt. Gov. Garland Byrd, on when it will take up the appropriations bill.

One of the other measures passed was a resolution by Sen. Carl E. Sanders of Augusta which would set up a legislative committee to study expansion of the Peace Officers' Annuity and Benefit Fund.

The Senate's calendar Tuesday, as approved Monday by the Rules Committee, will include a proposal to increase the amount of criminal fines paid into the peace officers' fund from $5 to $10 on fines under $100 and 10 per cent of fines over $100.

Also on the calendar will be bills to lower truck tag prices, allow appointment of guardians for incompetents in workmen's compensation cases, allow prison industries to sell items to veterans' organizations, let wages of governmental employes be garnished, allow $1 from marriage license fees be paid to the ordinary's retirement fund, require registration of non-resident contractors and let the Georgia Literature Commission bring court action against publishers of obscene literature.

Senate committees acted on a number of other bills. The Senate Judiciary Committee killed a bill prohibiting advertising of alcoholic beverages in dry counties and the Public Utilities and Transportation Committee killed a bill to require railroads to mount windshields and tops on their track cars.

The Rules Committee approved bills to allow the State Patrol to use radar speed-timing equipment on highways and to set the salary scale for patrol radio technicians.

The Government Operations Committee approved a bill to put all health and accident insurance of the State Employes Retirement System under one policy, but killed a bill which would have required reimbursement of Milledgeville State Hospital Employes for eye-glasses or dentures broken in a scuffle with a patient.

Is Your English Holding You Back?

"Many intelligent men and women are held back in their jobs and social lives because they use poor English or can't speak and write effectively," says Don Bolander, director of English at Career Institute, Chicago.

"Adults who realize that their English is holding them back use our new home method to stop making embarrassing mistakes in English, to improve their writing, to increase their vocabularies, to speed up their reading, to acquire the techniques of fluent conversation. But the use of effective English pays off in unexpected ways," says Bolander, "because language is a tool of thought as well as a tool of expression.

"You use words with which to think. The more you learn about words and how to arrange them to express your ideas, the better your thinking becomes. The improvement of your English—including your thinking—can lead to amazing personal achievements."

For those interested, Bolander has made available a free 32-page booklet that tells how you can gain the ability to speak and write like a college graduate, in your own home. Just put your name and address on a card or letter and send to Don Bolander, Dept. AC-6, 30 East Adams, Chicago 3, Illinois. The booklet will be mailed promptly with no obligation, of course.

Mother of 2 Killed In 12-Story Plunge

An Atlanta woman died Monday in a 12-story plunge from a window of the Medical Arts Buidling at 384 Peachtree St., NE, police said.

She was identified as Mrs. Gerda E. Degan, 44, of 642 Cresthill Ave., NE.

Detective G. A. Royal said a window was found open in the waiting room of a dentist's office on the 12th floor of the building, and a grey coat identified as Mrs. Degan's was found at the window.

4 WITNESS FALL

The sleeves of the coat were turned partially inside out as if thhe coat had been removed hastily, Royal related. He said the body landed in Peachtree street directly beneath the window.

No one saw Mrs. Degan enter the room, Royal said, and no one saw here at the window. He added four persons saw the body as it plummeted downward.

A note found in her purse was turned over to the Fulton County coroner's office, Royal said. Contents of the note were not revealed.

RULED SUICIDE

Coroner Tom Compton said a death certificate had been issued listing the cause of death as a suicide.

Royal said Thomas Stewart, 62, of 543 Wabash Ave., an orderly in Suite 1106 of the Medical Arts Building, said Mrs. Degan entered that office earlier, went directly to a window, removed a flower pot from the still and began to open the window.

Stewart said he asked what the trouble was, and Mrs. Degan replied, "I am hot and want some fresh air." Stewart said he explained it was against the rules to raise a window, and she left.

NO APPOINTMENT

On the 12th floor, a dentist was quoted that he had come by his office and raised a window about six inches. Royal said this was the window that had been opened wider and beneath which the coat was found.

Royal said that as far as he could determine, Mrs. Degan had no appointment in the building.

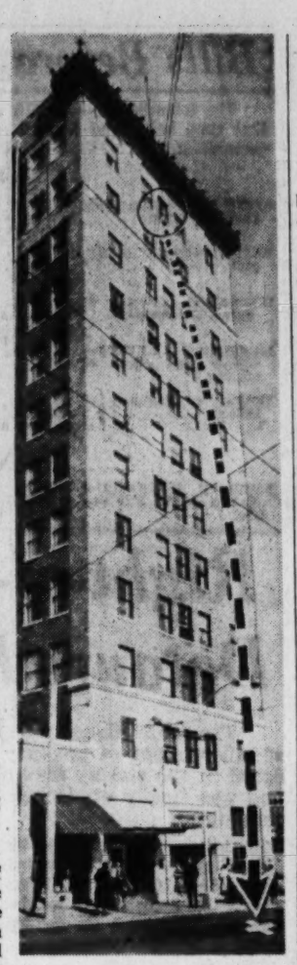

Her husband, Leopold B. Degan, a patternmaker at a clothing plant, was at work, officers said.

ACTIVE INCHURCH

Mrs. Degan was a member of Ahavath Achim Congregation, the Ahavath Achim Sisterhood, the Mr. and Mrs. Club, B'nai B'rith Women, the Progressive Club, and the Workman's Circle. She was born in Vienna, Austria.

Surviving besides her husband are a daughter, Miss Sylvia Degan, and a son, Dennis Degan.

Funeral services will be at 4 p.m. Tuesday in Blanchard's Chapel. Rabbi Dr. Harry H. Epstein and Cantor Joseph Schwartzman will officiate. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Plane-Led Posse Grabs Last 2 of 8 Fugitives

JEKYLL ISLAND (AP)—A posse led by bloodhounds and directed by circling aircraft Monday recaptured the last two of eight prisoners who escaped from a road camp work bus this morning.

Officers said Albert Sawyer, 31, described as a ringleader, and William T. Sturkie, 29, were spotted hiding in the underbrush on the south end of Jekyll Island near a Negro picnic area.

The two men surrendered about 5 p.m. to a posse led by bloodhounds.

Three of the convicts were hit by shotgun fire from guards when the break occurred and were quickly recaptured. The other three prisoners were recaptured during the day during an extensive manhunt. A helicopter from the Glynco Naval Air Station at Brunswick and a small private plane owned by a citizen of Jekyll Island circled over the resort area and helped spot the convicts.

The eight prisoners were among 30 aboard a bus from the Wayne County prison camp at Jesup and were being transported to work on a golf course being constructed at Jekyll Island when the escape occurred.

The State Patrol said the break came when the bus stopped for gasoline at a service station on the Jekyll Island Parkway about two blocks from the Jekyll Creek bridge.

The three wounded men were captured shortly after the escape, authorities reported. Critically wounded were Henry Walling, 31, of Savannah, serving a 49-year term for burglary, simple larceny and robbery by force in Chatham County.

Also wounded, but with only flesh wounds, was Kenneth Miley, 21, from Spalding County, serving 6-8 years on two counts of armed robbery in Lowndes County, the patrol said.

An aircraft called to aid the search assisted in spotting Otis Crook, 30, of Columbus, who also suffered minor wounds. The patrol said he is serving 5-10 years for assault with intent to murder and attempted robbery in Fulton County.

Three more prisoners were captured before they could leave the island, a state park where they were to work in constructing a golf course. They are Arthur Hylander, 33, of New York City; Vaughn Kitts, 31, of Roslin, Tenn., and Ralph Standridge, 39, of Roswell, N.Y. All were reported to be serving extended terms.

Telfair Jury Told to Hunt Vote Frauds

McRAE—In a fiery charge to the Telfair County grand jury, Oconee Circuit Judge John K. Whaley called Monday for a "full-scale investigation" into charges of vote fraud in last November's general election.

Judge Whaley assured the Jurors that if they return indictments charging vote fraud he will call a special term of court to try the cases.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation recently completed an exhaustive investigation in Telfair.

The FBI's probe was prompted by a series of Atlanta Constitution articles alleging many cases of vote fraud in the county.

The judge said he was ordering that the ballots be preserved for at least two years and that the clerk of court, who has custody of them, make them available for inspection by the jury.

If warranted, he said, indictments "should be unhesitatingly returned regardless of who may be implicated."

Judge Whaley said there had been "rumors" that FBI agents had investigated for vote fraud in Telfair.

"Honest and fair elections," he told the jurors, "are the life blood of Democracy. Without fair elections we will not and cannot have honesty in government.

House Okays Boost In Teacher Pension

Increase of $133 a Month Is Approved Unanimously

By CELESTINE SIBLEY

Without a dissenting vote the House Monday passed a bill which would raise teacher retirement benefits an average of $133 a month.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Mac Barber of Jackson County, provides for a one per cent increase in contributions from teachers, a slice from proceeds from Teacher Retirement Fund investments and contributions from the various county boards of education. The average monthly pension payment, under this measure, would be $233 instead of the present $100.

The bill goes to the Senate.

NARROWLY SAVED

Rep. George Busbee of Dougherty County narrowly saved his bill to block quickie teen-age marriage from death by indefinite postponement Monday afternoon. When he saw membership of the House was depleted by an unexpected meeting of the Appropriations Committee, Busbee asked that his marriage bill be postponed to Tuesday morning.

Border county foes of the bill, Rep. Bill Shaw Abney of Walker County and Rep. Leon H. Baughman of Early County, swiftly moved for indefinite postponement—a motion which would take parliamentary precedence. Busbee appealed that the bill be given a chance for action by the full House and his motion prevailed. Under the Busbee bill ordinaries who do not require either written parental consent or a certified marriage license from teen-age applicants may be removed from office.

FOR NEW MANSION

A new move to get a new governor's mansion was launched by Rep. J. P. Fuqua of Richmond and Rep. W. S. Stuckey of Dodge in the House. They offered a resolution reactivating an interim commission, including five members of the General Assembly, the auditor, secretary of state and four laymen to be appointed by the governor, to seek a mansion which would more nearly "portray and reflect the charm, hospitality and graciousness of the state" than the present gray granite house in Ansley Park.

The resolution describes the present mansion as "a cold, gray, austere, medieval structure."

FUND SOURCE

Under the resolution funds for purchase or construction of the new mansion would come from the governor's surplus or special appropriation by the General Assembly.

The House Education Committee reported out favorably a bill by Rep. James Mackay of DeKalb to make available free textbooks for several thousand school children who do not have them. Rep. Mackay said textbook adjustments are made only every six months, which by no means keeps pace with rapidly growing population of DeKalb schools.

Boats Wreck

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The Texas fishing vessels Dragnet and Valley Star were reported Monday to have been driven on the rocks near Vera Cruz in a weekend northeaster. The crew reached shore without injury.

Would Beer Law Restrict Vet Clubs? Panel Wonders

If the General Assembly passes a law against firms or corporations having two cases of beer on the premises without a license, will it apply to veterans' and fraternal clubs?

That's a question the House Temperance Committee wants answered before it will act on Rep. Talmadge Echols' proposed two-cases-of-beer bill.

Rep. Echols of Upson County told the Temperance Committee Monday he is interested in correcting a situation in his county where business firms which have lost their beer licenses or have not bought them, cannot be charged with an offense unless officers catch them in the actual transaction of a sale. He wants the possession of two cases of beer to constitute prima facie evidence that the dealer is in the beer selling business. His bill would not apply to residences or private clubs, he said.

"But look here," said a member of the committee, "it says 'corporations.' Many of these veterans' clubs are incorporated."

The committee adjourned with the promise of meeting again as soon as Rep. Echols gets a ruling from the attorney general on that point.

Brooks Studies Bill to Cut Aldermanic Board in Half

By MARION GAINES

A move to cut the membership of the Atlanta aldermanic board in half was being studied Monday by Fulton Rep. Wilson Brooks.

The proposed bill, which Rep. Brooks reported to have prepared but which he has not introduced, would whack eight members off the 17-man board.

Rep. Brooks declined to comment on the matter, which has stirred up some consternation in aldermanic circles. Already there is opposition.

Under the proposed measure, membership on the city lawmaking board would be limited to one alderman (in place of the present two) from each of Atlanta's eight wards, plus the president of the board who is chosen as an at-large member.

COPIES OF PROPOSAL

Copies of the proposal, which would be far-reaching in its import on local government, have been circulated among members of the present aldermanic board.

But it appeared Monday that Rep. Brooks may not try to introduce the bill during the current legislative session.

"I haven't signed it and I won't sign it," said Fulton Rep. M. M. (Muggsy) Smith, widely regarded as an almost certain candidate in this year's upcoming mayoralty campaign.

"A matter of such import deserves much more time for study and consideration," said Smith. "It's something we simply haven't had time to discuss thoroughly."

DeKalb Rep. James Mackay and Fulton Rep. Ralph McClelland both agreed more time was needed to study such a proposal.

"Rep. Brooks said he proposes to introduce such a bill," said Mackay, "and I have asked him to arrange immediately a full-dress public hearing if he does so."

"The bill is of such major importance to the City of Atlanta that I do not see how adequate consideration could be given to it at this time to justify its passage," Mackay said.

Rep. McClelland said "unless we can have complete accord among the two delegations (Fulton and DeKalb), then it's entirely too late to bring up a matter of this importance."

TOO MANY ALDERMEN?
Rep. Brooks

OPPOSITION FEARED

"I would go along with it but not if there's opposition from any source in view of the time element," McClelland added.

The crux of Rep. Brooks' proposal is this:

"Effective Jan. 1, 1962, each of the eight wards of the City of Atlanta shall have one alderman, who shall be a bona fide resident of the ward. Such aldermen for each ward shall be elected at the general city election to be held on the third Wednesday in December, 1961, and shall serve for a term of four years beginning the first Monday in January, 1962, or until their successors have been duly elected and qualified."

W. Virginia Kills Mixed-Drink Bill

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The House of Delegates Monday defeated the controversial liquor-by-the-drink resolution when it failed to get the required two-thirds majority vote.

The vote was 65-35 for the resolution, two short of the required 67 votes.

Byrd Wins By Adroit Strategy

ernor for two years and that Byrd is a likely prospect for the four years after that.

(No suggestion is made here that Vandiver and Byrd made these reminders. They apparently talked on much more friendly topics. But the legislators remembered, just the same.)

Byrd's decision to make the big fight on the spending bill was a calculated gamble—and an educated guess that he could win the Senate to his side.

It was, as one of his lieutenants said, mighty early to make his show of political strength. These things are expected in the months just before a gubernatorial race—but almost never a year and a half before the election.

It is, to be sure, far too early to pass any judgments on whether Byrd can sustain this show of political strength.

He had one built-in factor working for him—a popular $300 pay raise for teachers—that might not be present in other fights.

The way Georgia politics has been going in the past few weeks, it is conceivable he could lost even this fight.

But at the moment he has won—big.

leaders that they will insist on the $412 million bill, on retaining the governor's budget powers, on a $300 teacher pay raise and on $200 bus driver increases.

That stand is in sharp conflict with the House's position in a bill passed by a vote of 172-8 last week before Byrd and Vandiver began their all-out fight.

Byrd also made certain there will be no special session of the General Assembly following the regular session. He obtained the signatures of 41 senators over the weekend saying they would oppose a special session.

Without the Senate agreement, a special session could not be called by the House.

Meanwhile, the Senate Appropriations Committee scheduled another meeting for Tuesday morning in an attempt to decide what spending bill it will send to the floor for debate later in the day.

Senate Appropriations Committee members met for several hours Monday afternoon working on its proposal for the Senate. It may report the House bill onto the floor and allow the Byrd-Vandiver bill to be substituted there.

The comment of Ray that the House committee is "not precluding further consideration" indicated it may be seeking some further agreements with Vandiver and Byrd before deciding to support his bill.

GROUNDWORK LAID

Groundwork for the agreement was laid in a meeting of top state officials Monday shortly after noon in the meeting room of the State Board of Regents—away from the hustle and bustle of the legislative floor and the governor's office.

Participants in that meeting included Vandiver, Byrd, Smith, Twitty, Ray, Senate president protem Carl Sanders, Senate floor leader Gordon Knox and some members of Vandiver's staff.

The leaders kept quiet on the details of the meeting when two reporters met them outside the Regents' board room. They indicated that a statement would be issued later in the afternoon, but it was not forthcoming.

WOULD BE PUSHED

But it was learned that Vandiver and Byrd informed the rebellious House leaders that the Vandiver-Byrd substitute spending bill would be pushed. The House leaders apparently agreed to support it, if the appropriations membership would go along.

Vandiver and Byrd apparently agreed to some minor concessions:

1. That the governor would begin periodic meetings of the State Finance Commission which was created several years ago but never has been an active group.

2. There would be a joint study committee created to conduct a series of meetings during the coming year to seek some new methods of handling future budget measures, as well as day-to-day financial operations.

3. Vandiver would utilize the powers already existing in his office to hire a financial expert to become budget officer in the administration.

Before the round of meetings got underway, Rep. Herschel Lovett of Laurens took the House floor to criticize Vandiver.

Lovett said he told the governor he is wrong in fighting the legislature, first proposing no teacher pay raise and then asking for a $300 raise.

The Laurens legislator said that Byrd and Vandiver have ben playing politics with the various spending bills before the legislature. "Every move they make, to me, now is political," he said.

Bill Stiffens Training For Barbers

A bill was introduced in the House Monday that would trim off applicants for a barber or beautician license who didn't have some experience first.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Norman B. Doster of Wilcox County, would require at least 18 months training in a beauty or barber shop or at least a six-month course in a barber or beautician school.

"As it is now, I could take the test, and if I studied a book or something, I could probably pass and become a barber," Doster explained.

HOUSE BATTLE

1865 Fort Outguns Gunboat

They reopened Civil War hostilities in the Georgia Legislature Monday and the Confederate fortification, Fort McAllister, won hands down over the Confederate gunboat Chattahoochee.

Rep. Jack Shuman of Bryan County asked the House to approve a resolution authorizing expenditure of $75,000 to restore Fort McAllister as a tourist attraction and museum.

ONLY ONE IN WORLD

No fair, cried Rep. Mac Pickard of Muscogee. In his county they have "the only Confederate gunboat in the world today" and he wanted to ask the House to authorize $25,000 to build a museum to house it, but he thought it was understood that members would not offer such amendments to the appropriations bill.

Rep. Arthur J. Funk of Chatham County joined the fray to point out that the last shot fired in the Civil War was at Fort McAllister, where Confederate defenders held out against 10,000 Yankee soldiers.

CLAIMS SHOT

No, said Rep. Leon H. Baughman, of Early County, the last shot was fired by the gunboat Chattahoochee on the Chattahoochee River. Rep. Funk suggested that somebody's history book needed rewriting. Rep. W. D. Ballard of Newton said the only historic thing they did in his county was to "get beaten" but he thought Fort McAllister ought not lose out just because the gunboat Chattahoochee's friends were slow to act.

Members fired a volley of 110 ayes to 31 nays in defense of Fort McAllister.

County Money Gone

CLAYTON, Mo. (AP)—St. Louis County's bounty fund for wolves, coyotes and wildcats was exhausted in 1960 for the first time in recent years. The last $15 in the fund was paid to Dallas Lyon of the University City animal control division. He snared a wolf. It was the 10th bounty payment of 1960 for the county, largely a suburban St. Louis area.

Bills Before the Assembly

The following general bills and resolutions were read for the first time before the General Assembly Monday and referred to committes:

HOUSE

STATE EXAMS—(Scoggin of Floyd and others) H. B. No. 656—To repeal an act providing that certain applicants taking exams under state examining boards or commissions be given extra score points. (State of Republic)

BARBERS—(Doster of Wilcox) H. B. No. 657—To prescribe certain experience and schooling qualifications for applicants for the barbers and hairdressers exam (Hygiene and Sanitation)

INSURANCE—(Crowe of Bartow and others) H. B. No. 663—To repeal code section 56-2007 prohibiting farmers' mutual fire insurance companies from accepting reinsurance of the risk of any other insurer. (Insurance)

MECHANICS' LIENS—(Dickey and others of Chatham) H. B. No. 665—To provide that mechanics shall file for record their claims of lien against property within 90 days after work on said property is completed. (Judiciary)

TRAPS — (Raulerson of Echols) H. B. No. 669—To provide that the manufactur or possession of certain traps for catching game or fish shall be illegal. (Natural Resources)

SENATE

LIABILITY INSURANCE—(Overby of the 33rd and others) S. R. No. 55—To provide an interim study committee to study laws relative to motor vehicle liability insurance. (Rules)

Right-of-Way Bill Detoured in House

The State Highway department's bill to provide for speedier taking of property for roads and streets foundered in the stormy seas of House opposition Monday and was finally drydocked for repairs in the judiciary committee.

The house passed a motion by Rep. Wilson Brooks of Fulton and Rep. Johnnie Caldwell of Upson that it be recommitted to the Judiciary Committee for further study.

Rep. James Mackay of DeKalb, who has led opposition to the bill, called it "a terribly fallible thing," which opens the door for state abuse of property owners."

Rep. Joe Underwood of Montgomery County, assistant floor-leader, pressed for passage of the bill, which, he said, is badly needed by the highway department to expedite road building and to take advantage of millions of dollars in federal funds.

The bill, one of a trio to implement a constitutional amendment ratified by voters in the last general election, would do away with the present system of a three-member board of appraisers or condemnation by a special master and allow the highway department to fix the price of land condemned. Rep. Underwood said he was prepared to amend the bill to provide that the highway department confer with county commissioners on appraising land and to provide that the owner be paid the amount of the appraisal.

Underwood said that while "condemnation" is evil at best, The Constitution also provides that no one person can retard progress to the detriment of his fellow man.

Mackay said that while there have been instances of gouging the state, one of the distinguishing characteristics of a democracy

House Unit Curbs Vets' Privileges

The State of Republic Committee approved a bill Monday which asks that points given veterans on Civil Service grades not apply for the purpose of helping the veteran to "pass" a professional examination.

C. L. Clifton, joint secretary of State Examining Boards, said professional standings will be jeopardized under reciprocal recognition agreements with other states unless all professional exams are passed with the unaided grade of 75.

The committee referred to a subcommittee a bill which would require that teachers give up retirement pay upon becoming employed by a department of the state.

Frank DeLamar, executive secretary of the State Retirement Commission, told the committee that the bill would make teachers subject to the same retirement restrictions as state employes.

The committee approved a bill which would allow the Georgia Historical Commission $75,000 to restore the Little White House at Warm Springs.

The committee approved a bill regulating peace officers' retirement but killed an amendment which would have allowed the pension plan to include parole supervisors.

U.S. Red Tape Holding Up State's Roads, Duncan Says

Constitution State News Service

SAVANNAH—A State Highway Board member charged here Monday that federal "red tape" is slowing road building in Georgia.

Clarke W. Duncan made the charge in an address to the Georgia Highway Contractors Association. He called on President Kennedy to do away with the "red tape."

"There have been areas in this state in which federal projects have been delayed because of difficulties in acquiring rights-of-way," Duncan said. "By the same token, there has been too much unnecessary red tape in obtaining approval from the Federal Bureau of Public Roads on many of these projects."

"Also, we appeal to the local officials, property owners and taxpayers of this state to join us in a united effort to speed up the highway program."

In Atlanta Monday afternoon, J. S. Call, Georgia district engineer for the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads, said the agency "certainly makes every effort to expedite the work."

"I suppose everybody has a little red tape," Call commented.

East literally failed to rise to the occasion in today's hand and permitted the declarer to walk off with a game contract.

South might have arranged to describe his holding more economically by treating his major suits as equals, and bidding spades first. Although the hearts are longer, the spades have better texture and, by showing them first, South will have available a convenient rebid in hearts. In any event, however, the partnership would eventually arrive at four hearts.

West made the safe opening of the ten of diamonds and the declarer overtook dummy's jack with the ace and quickly cashed out three rounds of the suit in order to discard the queen of clubs. It may seem that there was no need for a hasty sluff, since South has control of the clubs, but the psychological effect it produced on East was devastating.

The four of hearts was led from the dummy next and East played low. South's seven forced out the ace of trumps, and the defense was subsequently limited to two more tricks—the ace of spades and the king of hearts.

West berated his partner for not rising with the king of hearts when that suit was led in order to return his singleton spade. West would have been able to give him a ruff, with the ace of trumps still to score. East contended that, inasmuch as declarer seemed so anxious to obtain a quick club discard, that suit must be his weak spot, and any side strength in West's hand figured to be in clubs.

While there is a certain logic in East's reasoning, nevertheless, when there is only one holding that will defeat the contract, a defender should play on the theory that partner has that holding no matter how unlikely it may be. If West does prove to have the ace of clubs, then the defense might as well surrender, for declarer can surely restrict his losses in the major suits to two tricks.

In order to defeat the contract, East must find his partner with the ace of hearts. He should therefore have put up the king of trumps in an effort to obtain the lead. When it holds the trick the rest is easy.

GOOD HEALTH: Exercise Can Help Prevent Coronary

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

I want to discuss what we can do to protect against having a coronary thrombosis.

Hardening of the arteries is part of the problem—but we all have some degree of that as we grow to maturity. It's as natural as gray hair, wrinkles and boredom with some of the activities that were so fascinating when we were young.

Dr. Paul Dudley White thinks regular exercise is important—that instead of spending so much time sitting down when we reach 30, more or less, we ought to keep on being active. I think he's right, contrary to the thoughts voiced by a few who don't think exercise is important if you don't feel like it.

Albeit I feel adequately certain it may do great harm for somebody to leap into a life of athletics after 20 or 30 years sitting around and getting soft and short-winded.

Getting fat? Definitely a danger. If nothing else, it puts the heart to work harder than it should need to work, because there's that much more blubber which must be served with circulation.

Does obesity itself help "cause" a heart attack? Perhaps this would be hard to prove, but we know, very definitely, that on the average, lean people outlive the overly plump ones. Even though I know lean folks who have had heart attacks, the useful fact is that they don't have as many of them. And they tend to recover more easily.

Diet? Here again I can't point to any individual and say, "He avoided heart trouble by eating the right diet," but there's enough evidence to impress me. It's obvious we don't know the whole story of fat, cholesterol and sludge-laden arteries but there's enough probability to make me think it's wise to take it a little easy on eating too much fat.

I do not think there is any sort of juice, seed, drug or medicine that will prevent, cure or correct hardened arteries.

Is cancer contagious? Grandfather has cancer of the tongue. He insists on giving his grandchildren a hug and kiss.—R. O.

We have no reason to believe cancer is contagious, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, with an advanced case there is likely to be some degree of secondary infection. I would discourage mouth-to-mouth kissing as a safeguard against any lesser infection which may be harbored by the cancerous area.

Women Voters Oppose Repeal Of Compulsory Schooling

By BRUCE GALPHIN

The Georgia League of Women Voters announced opposition to repeal of compulsory school attendance Monday, and the state PTA president requested a public hearing on the question.

Companion bills which would limit forced attendance to segregated school districts and might abolish requirements statewide were passed by the Senate last week and assigned to the House Education Committee Monday.

Rep. Battle Hall of Floyd, chairman of the committee, said he would announce Tuesday whether his committee would schedule public hearings on the bills. The request was made by Mrs. J. R. Pinson, state PTA president.

BLOCKED BY PANEL

A House-authored bill to repeal compulsory attendance already has been approved by the Education Committee but has been blocked from the calendar by the Rules Committee.

Meanwhile Monday Rep. David Newton of Colquitt and other representatives offered a resolution calling on the attorney general to supply all local school boards with a complete study of pupil placement plans.

The resolution states that recent federal court decisions indicate the need of boards of education for "full and complete knowledge" of attendance plans ruled permissible by the courts.

IMPROVEMENT CITED

Newton said that if boards wait until faced with desegregation suits before drawing attendance regulations, they might be restrained by the courts from putting such plans into effect then.

The League of Women Voters voiced its opposition both to the Senate compulsory attendance package and to the measure being held up in the House Rules Committee.

"Attendance rates have been greatly improved over recent years by the compulsory attendance law and the visiting teacher program," the League said in a message to Hall and Speaker George Smith signed by state president, Mrs. Edward Vinson.

"Without enforcement of the compulsory attendance law, increased child delinquency might result. Society must prepare to pay the cost in terms of increased ignorance, poverty and crime if this law is repealed," the statement said.

Assistant State School Supt. C. S. Hubbard explained Monday that one of the Senate bills provides for dropping compulsory attendance in districts where there is any desegregation. If that bill were declared unconstitutional, however, he continued, the other bill, which repeals forced attendance outright, would go into effect.

Fulton Asks Pupil-Grant Jury Rulings

A bill that would permit two successive Fulton grand juries to determine when tuition grants could be made "without substantial harm to the public schools" of Atlanta and Fulton was introduced Monday in the Georgia Senate.

Introduced by Sen. Charlie Brown of Atlanta, the bill is a population measure that would affect only Atlanta and Fulton County.

All previous attempts to amend the tuition-grants program—part of Gov. Vandiver's save-the-public-schools package—have encountered unbending resistance from the governor and administration leaders in the Legislature.

DEMANDS CITED

A number of demands for tuition grants have already been made on the Atlanta, Fulton and DeKalb school boards by parents who have children now attending private schools.

State Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook has ruled that the tuition-grants program cannot become effective until July 1, when state funds are available to finance it.

The Fulton school board asked Sen. Brown to introduce the amendment as "necessary to prevent a chaotic financial drain" on local school systems.

2 JURIES DECIDE

The amendment would suspend the grants program in Atlanta until two consecutive grand juries determine that the school systems have "adequate funds available" to put the program into effect without harming the systems.

Over in the House Monday, Fulton Representatives Ralph McClelland and M. M. (Muggsy) Smith offered bills that would boost slightly the pension benefits of Atlanta firemen and police and Fulton County general employes.

The bills provide for a $5 increase to monthly pensions for each full year's service above 25 years, and for an addition $5 for each year in excess of 30 years.

FOR AGNES SCOTT

John Sibley Launching Fund Push

John A. Sibley will address some 600 local Agnes Scott College alumnae, business leaders, and city and state officials at a Tuesday dinner at the Dinkler Plaza Hotel.

The 7 p.m. dinner will launch Agnes Scott's $4½ million drive for endowment and building funds, the last lap of an $11 million, 11-year program scheduled to end in 1964 on the college's 75th birthday.

SMITH TO PRESIDE

Sponsors termed the drive "the greatest financial effort the college has undertaken." Eight previous fund-raising campaigns have been successful, they said.

Sibley, who is chairman of the executive committee of the Trust Company of Georgia, is a member of the college's board of trustees and honorary vice chairman of the national campaign committee. His topic is: "The Unique Role of Agnes Scott College in Education today."

Hal L. Smith, chairman of the Board of Trustees and national chairman of the campaign, will preside. President Emeritus James Ross McCain will give the invocation, and President Wallace M. Alston will introduce the speaker.

PAST HALF-WAY MARK

The Agnes Scott Glee Club will perform.

The current drive was kicked off on the campus last spring, when some 630 students and 130 faculty and staff members contributed more than $160,000, or 42 per cent more than their own $75,000 goal. The drive has been carried by alumnae and friends into 20 other areas.

Total gifts to date bring Agnes Scott past the half-way mark, sponsors reported. Successful completion of the 75th Anniversary Development Program, they pointed out, will provide funds for additional endowment, increasing faculty salaries and student scholarships, improving library and other teaching facilities, and additional construction on the campus.

Strike Shuts Mines

DONCASTER, England (AP)—A wildcat strike shut 29 Yorkshire collieries Monday and left more than 36,000 miners idle.

Morocco Crowds Mourn King in Tearful Parades

RABAT, Morocco (UPI)—Tens of thousands of Moroccans, weeping and wailing, paraded in mourning throughout the nation Monday as the body of King Mohammed V lay in state in the royal palace.

Statesmen from African and other world capitals began converging on Rabat for Tuesday afternoon's funeral for the 51-year-old monarch, who died Sunday following a nasal operation. Mohammed's son, the new King Hassan II, will lead the funeral cortege.

In London, the U.S. Embassy announced that American Ambassador-at-Large W. Averell Harriman was interrupting his visit to the British capital to go to the funeral as personal representative of President Kennedy.

THE WISDOM OF THE AGES COUPLED WITH THE HEALING LOVE OF THE CHRIST MEET EVERY NEED OF THE HUMAN FAMILY.

In this New Age of Spiritual Enlightenment, those who know how to utilize the Ancient Wisdom in a practical way, while expressing the good-will of The Christ, are blessed with better health, greater happiness, success and prosperity.

This is the basis of the broad spiritual training given by the Threefold Truth Center which enables men and women to cope with the challenges of the New Age. Its program of spiritual development enables one to become selfless, well-adjusted to life, and find one's right place of service in the world.

A non-profit, religious organization, the Threefold Truth Center is nondenominational, with a universal message. Regardless of your religious background, you will derive much from attending the Wednesday evening class at 7:30 p.m. in Suite 207, 1182 W. Peachtree St., N.W. (Love offering basis.)

How Fame Found State's Gen. Clarke

The accompanying article on Gen. Elijah Clarke is one of a series of weekly articles by Constitution staffers on famed Georgians. Dr. E. M. Coulter, retired head of the history department of the University of Georgia, is advisor for the series. Readers, particularly students, are urged to save this article, as a quiz on Clarke will be published in Thursday's Constitution.

Poll Finds 70 Pct. Have Church Ties

About 70 per cent, of 555,147 persons questioned here in the Greater Atlanta Religious Survey are church members.

Billy T. Hargrove, director of surveys and special studies for the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board here, directed the operations of 10,496 volunteer census-takers from 17 denominations. Negroes were not included in the survey.

Of a total of 403,595 church members, 51,400 said they are members in a place other than greater Atlanta.

About 25 per cent of the total persons surveyed said they were not Christians and another 5 per cent said they are Christians but have never joined a church.

A total of 127,557 families were interviewed. The canvass covered all of Fulton and DeKalb counties and parts of Clayton and Gwinnett counties. A similar census is planned for Cobb County.

History Is Human

Fighters Flocked to Clarke

By GEORGE VANCE

To the battle-stunned Tories and British of the Revolutionary War, Wilkes County was known as the "Hornet's Nest"—all because of one man, Gen. Elijah Clarke.

When the tocsin of war was sounded, the genius of command arose in this rustic frontiersman and Indian fighter, historian Lucian Lamar Knight says. Without waiting for a commission from his government, he gathered a band of sturdy backwoodsmen, trained them for guerrilla combat in the forests of Wilkes, and became the terror of the British whenever and wherever he struck.

This Nathan Bedford Forrest of that era was the most colossal figure of the war, according to Knight. He emerged from the conflict as one of the most shot-up generals in American history and the state's greatest Revolutionary hero.

But before his life was spent, the honored general was to become a scourge of the state government and a thorn in the side of President Washington when he almost succeeded in upsetting international relations.

Except for the facts that he was born in Edgecombe County, North Carolina, in 1733 and migrated with his family to Wilkes in 1773, history records nothing of Clarke until the beginning of the war when he and his band of frontier horsemen appeared at Savannah to guard an Army supply train.

Clarke then joined Gen. Robert Howe in his ill-fated expedition to St. Augustine and returned severely wounded to Wilkes County. Little else was heard from him until the British invaded Savannah and Augusta and headed toward Wilkes County.

Elijah picked up the musket on his cabin wall and rode night and day through the wilderness organizing his dragoons. It was estimated that not less than 300 frontiersman were enlisted under his command, although he never seemed to have led more than 100 men in his frontier battles.

Among the members of his band was Nancy Hart, who acted as his spy, and his beloved wife Hannah, who tended to his many wounds and nursed him through attacks of malaria and smallpox.

Hannah, who had several close calls with the British, must have done a good job of caring for her soldier husband, for Clarke was wounded in the battles of Alligator Creek, Musgrove's Mill and Long Cane. He also participated in the battles of Wofford's Iron Works, Fishdam, Blackstocks, and Beattie's Mill.

But he was most famous for the battle at Kettle Creek, near Washington, Ga., where the Redcoats first felt the sting of defeat at his hands.

On February 14, 1779, Clarke's frontiersmen joined the forces of John Dooly and Andrew Pickens to meet the marauding British invaders at Kettle Creek. With his 13-year-old son John fighting alongside him and Nancy Hart doing his spying, the frontiersmen unleashed a merciless brand of guerrilla warfare against the Redcoats. Clarke made his way to the enemy's rear, grabbed a strategic hill and turned the tide of battle to the Americans.

Clarke wanted most to recapture Augusta. Perhaps he had heard stories of the atrocities perpetrated by the British commander Brown from a group of 300 women and children refugees he had escorted to the safety of the Tennessee hills in 1780. The next year, a few weeks after being wounded at Musgrove's Mill, he gathered his band of riflemen—350 strong—to march on Augusta.

Nancy Hart went into the city ahead of him. Dressed as a man and pretending insanity, she amused the soldiers and took notes of conditions. Then Clarke stormed the city, wounded Brown and demanded the British surrender. Brown held out until reinforcements arrived, and Clarke was forced to retreat.

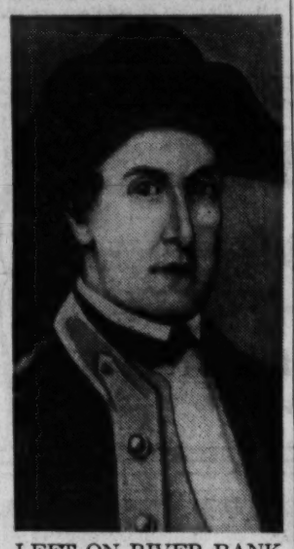

The next year, with the aid of Gen. Harry Lee, he captured the city.

Toward the end of the Revolution, a group of Tory outlaws and adventurers settled among the Cherokees on Long Swamp Creek and carried on a reign of terror on the Wilkes frontier.

Clarke banded with Pickens again, broke up the settlement and forced the Cherokees into a treaty ceding land from the Tugaloo River to the Chattahoochee to the Georgians.

The Georgians had no right to make the treaty, according Dr. E. Merton Coulter, historian. But he explains that such rights were neither granted nor denied under the loose Articles of Confederation; and Georgia, being independent in all respects she cared to be, took the Indian problem as her own business.

After the war Clarke was named to the state Indian board which drew up a treaty at Augusta confirming the Long Swamp accord and the Indians were induced to give up any claim on the territory. From this land the state cut out the counties of Washington and Franklin in 1784.

Honors and much land came to Clarke after the war. Not only did the state give the plantation of the notorious Tory, Thomas Waters, who had led the Long Swamp settlement, but also the state by 1785 had made him head of the militia and given him grants of 5,875 acres in Wilkes County and 1,150 in Washington County.

Dr. Coulter suggests that the huge land grants probably aggravated the land fever which gripped Clarke as old age approached; and the general went off on a series of at least three tangents which embarrassed the state and federal governments.

First, there was the Yazoo Land Fraud which swept Georgia in the 1790s. Clarke and his sons—the unlettered John, who served as governor, and the Yale-educated Elijah the younger, who ran for Congress—were mixed up to the hilt in this infamous land speculation scheme.

The second tangent came in 1794 when the old soldier was befriended by Edmond Charles Genet, the French emissary in America to arouse popular hostility to Spain with which the federal government wanted to remain neutral.

Clarke fell in with Genet's scheme to raise an army to seize Spanish-held Florida and Louisiana. Clarke loved France and hated Spain. The Spanish had influenced the Indians to break Clarke-instigated treaties.

The general agreed to raise the army at a reported salary of $10,000 and a commission in the French army as a major general. After all, the general was a soldier and not a diplomat and saw nothing wrong with the plan.

As historian Aboslam Chappell reports, Clarke could raise an army quickly for "there never failed to come trooping to him, at his bugle call, from field and forest, bands of armed men."

Clarke's troops rendezvoused along the banks of the Oconee River and poised for their attack on Florida. But President Washington acted quickly. He had Genet recalled to France, proclaimed our continued neutrality with Spain, and left the general stranded on the river.

Stymied, Clarke started out on his third tangent after the Genet fiasco. Using remnants of his motley army, he crossed over into Indian territory and set up a nation of his own—the Trans-Oconee Republic—near the present city of Milledgeville.

His group drew up a constitution. A committee on public safety was formed with law-making powers. Fort Advance and Fort Defiance were erected for the defense of the Republic. Clarke ruled as leader of it all.

Gov. George Mathews punctured his new dream. Prodded by President Washington, who preferred to remain behind the scenes, the governor ordered Clarke to quit the territory and sent Gen. John Twiggs after him. The general returned peacefully to Wilkes County and was acquitted by a jury of wrongdoing.

Thinking the jury's action freed him and the Republic of any more interference, he crossed the Oconee again and went about his state matters. This time, Washington authorized Mathews to use federal troops to put down Clarke.

The troops were dawn up along the Oconee, Gen. Twiggs reported, and after "friendly conversation" Clarke agreed to leave the territory.

Clarke returned to Wilkes County to live out his years among his family.

FAST RELIEF FROM DRY, ITCHING, CHAPPED WINTER-IRRITATED SKIN!

READ THIS IMPORTANT MESSAGE ABOUT DERMASSAGE, THE MEDICATED BODY RUB AND SKIN TREATMENT USED ROUTINELY IN OVER 4,000 HOSPITALS

All of your skin can use the medicated protection of Dermassage . . . the skin you expose to the harsh, drying effects of winter weather—and your "hidden" skin, too, that is "chafed" by heavy clothing when you're outdoors, and "dried-out" by heat when you're indoors.

Your first application of Dermassage will show you why thousands of hospitals and nurses use and recommend this pure-white emollient body rub for all-over skin care. Dermassage brings fast, comforting relief from the pain and discomfort of rough, red, chafed skin — it also helps protect against infection and heal irritations as well.

Dermassage is a special blend of medicinal ingredients that supplies healthful lubrication, acts as an antiseptic and deodorant, while producing a pleasant cooling effect.

Dermassage has a clean, fresh smell—no perfume. It's non-greasy, can't stain and is absorbed rapidly by the skin. Ask for Dermassage by name at your favorite drug counter.

WINTER-IRRITATED SKIN can look like this, in an enlarged view . . . rough, red, chapped and cracked.

HEALTHY SKIN TISSUE Dermassage medication helps skin quickly return to soft, smooth, normal texture.

Dermassage treats and medicates winter-irritated skin 5 important ways

1. STOPS SKIN ITCH caused by winter weather and heavy winter clothing.
2. RELIEVES PAIN of rough, red, chapped skin irritated by windburn. Gently soothes tender, weather-dried areas.
3. FIGHTS INFECTION in open skin cracks through its antibacterial and antifungal action. It's medicated!
4. HELPS HEAL chapped, dry, cracked, irritated skin, chafed backs, knees and elbows through its medicated action.

Milledgeville Boost Endorsed by Byrd

By JACK NELSON

Lt. Gov. Garland Byrd announced unqualified support Monday for an appropriations bill amendment to boost the Milledgeville State Hospital budget by an additional $750,000.

Lt. Gov. Garland Byrd announced unqualified support Monday for an appropriations bill amendment to boost the Milledgeville State Hospital budget by an additional $750,000.

The amendment will be offered in the Senate Tuesday by Sen. Floyd Harrington of Milledgeville.

Byrd and Harrington released a joint statement saying the additional funds are necessary to move Georgia toward Gov. Vandiver's announced goal of a mental health program "second to none in the nation."

Vandiver had included a boost of one million dollars for the hospital in his original appropriations bill. This would put the institution's budget at $13 million.

The Legislature's appropriations committees first decided to add $800,000 to what Vandiver had proposed, then decided on an addition of $400,000. Then, Vandiver and Byrd got together on a revised appropriations bill which set the budget at Vandiver's original proposal of $13 million.

Byrd and Harrington said a budget of at least $13,750,000 would be required for Georgia to make decisive steps toward an adequate treatment program for the mentally ill.

Harrington pointed out that Dr. Irville H. MacKinnon, hospital superintendent, reported several months ago that the new mental health program was in danger of bogging down because of inadequate financing.

The Milledgeville senator said additional funds are needed to provide better treatment for patients and better working hours for hospital employes.

Byrd and Harrington predicted the amendment would get overwhelming support in the Senate. And they saw little opposition to it in the House.

Rep. Frank Twitty, House floor leader, commented Monday that he believes the concensus of House members is that "we should give every dime we can—every dime possible — to Milledgeville Hospital."

Peters Loses Criteria For Teachers

Members of the State Board of Education Monday approved criteria for three advanced teacher training programs over the protest of chairman James Peters of Manchester.

Peters charged, "This looks to me just like it's just a rehash of the same old program, only this time it's put in very big words."

Members were attempting to set criteria for programs for teachers working for sixth-year certificates in elementary education, for fifth and sixth year programs for visiting teachers and for music education.

Only the music education program won Peter's full support. "I think it's good," he said after insisting on a separate discussion of the program.

Members of the board will reconvene Tuesday at 10 a.m. to discuss school building applications and various requests from school boards.

Mrs. Ruby Crowe, chairman of the State Social Studies Committee, outlined proposed changes in the schedule of social studies taught in Georgia schools. She advocated wide-spread changes including an introduction to history, government, economics and politics for children in kindergarten through the third grade.

The new program would call for the abolition of the one-year Georgia history program now mandatory in state schools. This would be replaced with three different courses.

U.S. Asked To Act in Bus Cases

MACON — Federal intervention was sought Monday in the arrests of 18 Negroes for violating a state bus seating law which was overturned in an Atlanta court decision two years ago.

FBI officials in Atlanta said the bureau has no jurisdiction in the case but said the Department of Justice might be concerned and "we are pressing Washington to pursue that end."

The father of one of the arrested teen-agers first requested the FBI to halt proceedings against the youths and then telegraphed U.S. Attorney General Robert Kennedy asking him to order the Justice Department to intervene under the Civil Rights Act.

The Negroes entered Bibb Transit Co. buses in groups of three to five Saturday and refused driver requests that they move to the rear. Officers repeated the requests and when the Negroes refused to move, they were arrested.

2 Gunmen Invade Home, Get $2,000

ROME—Two masked gunmen forced their way into the home of a Rome service station operator about midnight Sunday and robbed him of about $2,000 while holding his family at gunpoint.

2 Sought in Killing Of Macon Cab Driver

MACON—Two murder warrants were issued Monday in connection with Sunday night's slaying of Harry Thompson, a 55-year-old Macon taxi driver. Thompson's body was found shortly before midnight Sunday with a gun wound in the side. Officers said Monday's warrants were issued for Roy Morris, 24, and Richard A. Rogers, 33, both still at large and believed to be in Georgia.

City to Open Bids On Renewal Tracts

Bids for Atlanta's first two urban renewal parcels to go on sale will be opened at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Council Chamber at City Hall.

Atlanta Housing Authority officials Monday said the bids are expected to arrive at their office on Wednesday morning. None has been received, although one is said to be "in the mail."

Project director Earl H. Metzger Jr., said widespread interest has been shown by prospective bidders for the first two parcels. The two parcals, zoned for high - rise multi - million-dollar buildings, are in the Butler Street urban renewal project.

Doctor Center In Buckhead Is Approved

A $3 million doctors building, first structure planned to conform with the rehabilitation program for the Buckhead business district, was given final approval Monday by the Traffic and Transportation Commission.

The building itself already had been approved. Action Monday covered a 150-car parking garage planned for the project.

Dr. John Mitchell, developer of the 14-story building, said it will contain about 65,000 square feet of office space for doctors. Construction costs were estimated at $2 million; land and other costs, $1 million.

The site is on North Fulton Drive between East Paces Ferry Road and Buckhead Avenue.

In addition, the commission approved two other parking facilities with 776 parking spaces.

One of the garages will be at the northeast intersection of Spring and Baker streets for 674 cars. The other will be at 1337 Peachtree St., NE, for 102 cars.

Traffic Superintendent Jimmy Brown reported seven deaths, 382 injuries and 2,340 accidents involving damage through Feb. 26, 1961.

DeKalb Hails STAR Pupils And Teachers

Twelve teachers and 12 students were honored Monday night by the Student-Teacher Achievement Recognition (STAR) program sponsored by the DeKalb County Chamber of Commerece and DeKalb County Jaycees.

Mrs. Bernice McCullar, director of public information for the state Board of Education, principal speaker, told the group, "The greatest dream of my life is to see these teachers—31,200 state paid teachers and 2,000 others—paid more nearly what they are worth."

Designation of STAR students was determined by top ranking scores made in the college board scholastic aptitude test and scholastic averages during their senior years as of Jan. 1.

Students honored were Robert H. Byers, Avondale High, teacher, Mrs. Mary Lallerstedt; John Howard Casper Jr., Chamblee High, Mrs. Lucille Burnett; Patricia Ann Walter, Clarkston High, Mrs. Kenneth Nelson; James A. Koger, Cross Keys High, T. Preston Bentley; Harvey G. Young, Druid Hills High, Mrs. Margaret Wight; Carol Ann Mowell, Gordon High, Howard T. Cummings; Linda Hawkins, Lithonia High, Owen K. Sterner; Gerald Baker, Southwest DeKalb, Mrs. C. D. Simmons; Carolyn Pearl McKern, Stone Mountain High, Daniel H. Barnes; Jean Johnson McCord, Tucker High, Mrs. Martha Conlee; Maria L. Davis, St. Pius High, Sister Bernard Marie; N. Johanna Logan, Decatur High, Miss Frances Lovingood.

Atlanta Is Only Big City to Cut Crime, Fire Losses, Mayor Says

Atlanta has reversed the national trend and is the only major city in the nation to reduce crime and fire losses, Mayor Hartsfield told the Atlanta Board of Firemasters Monday night.

The mayor's statement followed a report by Fire Chief C. H. Hildebrand showing that Atlanta fire losses last year were $2 million less than the previous year and that 1960 losses show a decline of 19 per cent over the previous five-year-period average.

Police Chief Jenkins reported that major crimes have dropped in Atlanta while the rest of the larger cities of the nation show gains percentage wise.

The board, headed by Alderman William T. (Bill) Knight, promoted Albert L. Leiker, board secretary, to assistant fire marshall; fireman Frank Merritt to a lieutenancy; John A. Carter to succeed Leiker as board secretary, and firemen William H. Sims and Emmett D. House to fill two posts as fire investigators.

'61 Ford Fairlane costs least to buy*... least to drive of all full-size cars in America!

HERE'S PROOF YOU'LL SAVE MORE WITH A '61 FORD

Come in and get this folderful of proof! In addition to its lower price tag, the '61 Ford Fairlane can save you as much as $124.05 per year in operating costs compared to your present car regardless of make, and it will save you more as you drive it than other 1961 full-size cars! There's no other car at this low price so beautifully built to take care of itself . . . and you!

HERE'S PROOF YOU'LL SAVE MORE WITH A '61 FORD
COSTS LEAST TO BUY
COSTS LEAST TO DRIVE

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF

Lubricates Itself—You'll go 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications (which cost only about $4.00 and take about 20 minutes) because Ford has replaced conventional grease fittings with a sealed-in lubrication system.

Cleans Its Own Oil—You'll go 4,000 miles between oil changes because Ford's Full-Flow oil filter gives you filtration through fibers . . . trapping more dirt than any other type of filter made.

Adjusts Its Own Brakes—New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves—automatically.

Guards Its Own Muffler—Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminized—to last 3 times as long as ordinary mufflers.

Protects Its Own Body—All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing the body panels beneath the doors.

Takes Care Of Its Own Finish—Just wash and clean Ford's new Diamond Lustre Finish and it continues to glisten like new. It never needs waxing.

RHYME A DAY

By OLLIE REEVES

"Salesmanship is an art and a profession worthy of best efforts whether it be in neckties, automobiles, real-estate or whatever . . ."—Sales manual quote.

The man who's happy with his trade . . . Or his profession, "has it made" . . . Regardless of his type of work . . . The surgeon, carpenter or clerk . . . Who tackles it and gets it done . . . Will, in the meantime, have some fun.

The carpenter can saw a plank . . . The banker manages his bank . . . The surgeon sews or amputates . . . But heaven help the clerk who "waits" . . . On customers who come to buy . . . A shirt, a handkerchief or tie . . . And having had the clerk display . . . His entire stock, just walk away.

The banker makes someone a loan . . . The surgeon gets the opening sewn . . . The carpenter piles up his planks . . . And each receives somebody's thanks . . . But, woe unto the hapless clerk . . . Nobody thanks him for his work . . . And ringing up the "No Sale" sign . . . Can't help this friend of yours and mine . . . Who might have had much better luck . . . If he had learned to drive a truck.*

Supreme Court Denies Appeal In State Slaying

WASHINGTON (UP)— The Supreme Court Monday refused to review the trial of Phil Whitus, a Negro under death sentence in Georgia on conviction of aiding and abetting in the murder of J. E. (Peter) Glenn near Pelham in 1959.

Whitus was convicted by a jury in Mitchell County Superior Court Jan. 14, 1960.

He contended in his appeal that he was denied a speedy trial before an impartial jury. He also asserted there was no evidence on which a conviction could be based.

Papers in the case did not give details of the crime.

Gunman Grabs $14,000, Drops Half of His Loot

A gunman robbed a southwest Atlanta supermarket of an estimated $14,000 Monday and then dropped half his loot during a get-away. Three other armed robberies and an attempt were reported during the day.

Holdups occurred during morning rush traffic hours at Colonial Stores, Inc., 884 Gordon St., SW, where the heaviest haul was made, and at a drive-in market at 1931 Cheshire Bridge Road, NE. Police said the incidents apparently were the work of different individuals.

Frank Tullivant, 34, of 2599 Godfrey Drive, NW, told police he was robbed of $138 by two men who forced their way into his car at North Avenue and Strong Street, NW. Tullivant said the robbers were white.

ORDER BEER

Stratis Handrinos, employe of a wine shop at 309 Decatur St., SE, said two Negro men ordered a case of beer, then threatened him with a knife and took $250 in cash and checks from the cash register.

Sylvester Glenn, 19, employe of a service station at 2060 Peachtree Road, NW, grabbed a soft drink bottle and routed two men who entered, asked if "you want to get hurt" and then demanded the money.

In the second morning robbery, J. C. Bennett, manager of a drive-in store at 1931 Cheshire Bridge Road, said a white gunman took $300 to $400 from the cash register, ordered him to lie on the floor and then disappeared.

ASKS FOR MANAGER

Sgt. N. W. Flanagan and Detective R. E. Nickerson said they were given this picture of the supermarket robbery:

A slight "foreign-appearing" man entered soon after opening time and asked for the manager. Harold B. Bullard, an employe, pointed out the assistant manager, E. B. Watkins. The man approached Watkins and drew a pistol and said:

"This is a holdup . . . How much money is in the safe?"

Unnoticed by other store employes, Watkins was forced to take 13 sacks containing cash and checks and two trays of change from the safe to his office. There he was instructed to place the money in a cardboard box.

A. D. Thompson, the store produce manager, walked up and Watkins told him his wife had called. Thompson, unaware that a robbery was in progress, twice attempted to telephone his wife but each time found the line busy.

The bandit stuck a pistol against Thompson's back and ordered him into the office. Warning Watkins and Thompson to remain in the office, he ripped the phone wires from the wall and left through the front door.

Thompson, a member of the Red Oak Volunteer Fire Department, started out to use a short wave radio in his car to spread an alarm. As he opened the back door, he saw the bandit with the cardboard box sprinting across the parking lot.

STUMBLES, FALLS

"Stop or I'll shoot," the unarmed Thompson called.

The robber stumbled and fell, spilling seven money sacks from the box and dropping his gun. He grabbed up the gun and box, still containing six money sacks, and fled to a get-away car in which a confederate was waiting.

Officers said the seven money sacks recovered where they had been dropped were believed to have contained the major part of the cash.

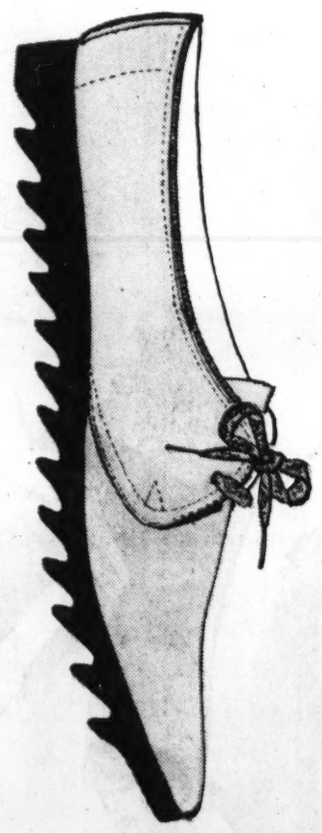

The supermarket robbery was the first sizeable holdup haul made in Atlanta this year. Officers said it occurred one year to a day from the $12,000 robbery of a Colonial Stores supermarket at 1889 Lakewood Ave., SW, but added the same persons were not responsible.

The manager of the Lakewood supermarket, L. B. Moseley, and five other persons were kidnaped and driven to the store. Moseley was forced to open the safe. That robbery occurred Feb. 27, 1960.

To Replace Fish

FRONT ROYAL, Va. (AP)—The Virginia Water Control Board has settled a suit against American Viscose Corp. here for $30,000—which it says will replace fish in the Shenandoah River it claims were killed by waste from the corporation's plant.

British Consul and Wife Set Party To Commemorate Poet's Birthday

By KATHRYN BARNWELL GRAYBURN
Constitution Society Editor

SPECULATION is rife concerning the identity of the gentleman who attended a large party and briefed his wife thusly: "You must tell me who people are and who they're with before I speak to them."

Kathryn Grayburn

BRITISH CONSUL Granville Ramage will be very elegant in his Scottish kilts when he and Mrs. Ramage entertain at a gay Scottish cocktail buffet this coming Saturday. Originally planned for January, the party will commemorate the birthday of the Scottish poet, Robert Burns.

ACCORDING TO RUMOR, a young brunette, noted for her beauty and glamour, will soon wed an attractive man who has just acquired new freedom in the courts.

Entertaining Honors Visitor

THE RED CARPET is out at the home of the Frank Fleming Jrs. for her sister, Mrs. Sidney Holmstrom of Birmingham, England, who has just arrived for a six-week visit here. A whirl of entertaining will honor the charming visitor, who will be joined by her husband, Major Holmstrom, for the last two weeks of her stay. The Flemings, by the way, have a handsome new home on Northside Drive.

TEN-YEAR-OLD VICKI FOSTER, daughter of Mrs. Valerie Blacknall Foster, inherits her mother's flair for musical comedy. She delighted her ballet class with an imitation of her mother's rollicking rendition of "Whatever Lola Wants, Lola Gets," at a recent Five Star Final. The production was another triumph for the Matrons Circle for Tallulah Falls School.

Vicki Foster

A TALL AND DARK executive from the East is receiving malevolent glances from ladies whom he has forgotten despite repeated introductions.

GADABOUTS: Mrs. W. A. Alexander left Sunday to spend a month in British Honduras as the guest of her son, Bucher Scott, Mrs. Scott and their children, Carlie and Alex. . . . Jeff and Scott Harris recovered from a bout with the mumps barely in time for their departure Wednesday for New York. Accompanied by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Harris Jr., the boys will sail Friday for England, where they will reside for six months.

SCARLETT O'HARA will be among guests attending the Centennial Ball to be given Saturday evening at Lakeside Country Club. According to the grapevine, an ingenious lady with a flair for designing studied Scarlett's green velvet gown, now being modeled in a local department store, went home and turned out a stunning copy.

Another Lakeside lady has unpacked her wedding gown and inserted hoops in the full skirt to wear to the ball.

And What They Wore

GLIMPSED at the Shakerag Hunt Ball: Mrs. Fred Sorrow, cochairman, wearing white lace embroidered with paillettes. . . . Mrs. Leon Jones Jr. arriving in a sequin-bodiced gold chiffon gown and a white fox coat. . . . Mrs. John H. Jones attired in a Spanish-styled gown of flame satin. . . . Mrs. Dan Sage Jr. gowned in emerald green satin. . . Mrs. William Ireland topping her champagne chiffon gown with a brocaded jacket. . . . Mrs. John Hartley gowned in white silk and matching stole appliqued with brilliant-studded turquoise. . . . Mrs. Malcolm Therrel, back from Palm Beach, wearing turquoise chiffon and a white orchid. . . . Mrs. Bart Hoag accenting her silver brocade gown with a cluster of red camellias. . . . Mrs. L. W. Robert Jr. arriving in a dramatic black lace gown and crimson velvet evening coat. . . . Mrs. J. M. Ward Jr. attired in a red printed model. . . . Mrs. Tommy Thompson in sparkling emerald green silk with matching jewelry. . . . Stunning Mrs. Francis Turnbull of New Orleans, gowned in a gleaming red sequin sheath.

Mrs. John Hartley

WHERE THE BOYS ARE: "When it comes to hunting he's a rank amateur. Why, he shot at a quail and killed my best bird dog!"

GLIMPSED at the Symphony Guild tea: The hostess, Mrs. Mason Baird, accenting her brunette beauty in green wool. . . . Mrs. Lawrence McEvoy, president of the Women's Committee, looking stylish in a gold wool suit with a fur hat. . . . Mrs. Malcolm Dewey, wife of the guest speaker, wearing a black suit collared in beige fox . . .

What They Talk About

WHILE DISCUSSING an earlier Symphony Guild tea the ladies recalled with amusement the apron sale. (Dainty aprons, made by the various committees, were sold to help raise funds.) A gracious lady there, attempting to make a sale, informed her "customer":

"When you have a cocktail party, just wear this and it will be a conversation piece among the men." The elegant matron replied, "My deah, when I'm having a cocktail and talking to a man, I won't be talking about kitchen aprons!"

A Spin of Its Axis Reveals That It's Still Gals' World

It's a woman's world, all right, as these dispatches from correspondents around the world attest:

LEICESTER, England (WNS) —Mrs. Edith Hill, 46, has given birth to her 21st child. She already is a grandmother but doesn't believe this baby is her last. "I love children," she explained.

GENEVA (WNS) — Queen Frederick of Greece is the proprietess of a de luxe boutique here that sells scarves, dress materials, and other feminine items produced by Greek artisans. It is such a success that she will open another in Paris.

PARIS (WNS)—Dolly Bell, 22-year-old dancer, was sued for $400 for not having paid choreographer Siro Pruni for a dance routine. In court, she got into a fight with fellow artist Dodo d'Hambourg, who thereupon sued her for $4,000. And while in court, her apartment was robbed of $5,000 worth of jewelry. And on her drive home her automobile was smashed up in a collision.

ACHILTIBUIE, Scotland (WNS)—David McNab, owner of the Summer Isles Hotel, has complained that he finds himself running a marriage bureau. "Ours is a town without girls, and they are married as soon as I import them," he explained. There are bachelors galore, but the youngest single woman is 25, and she's engaged. "Achiltibuie hasn't much to offer women," said Postman Bob McLeod, the town's youngest bachelor. "There's no television and not even a railroad. Just men."

TEL AVIV (WNS) — Mrs. Luba Finkle, 65, a wealthy widow, announced her intention to wed 31-year-old Louis Katz; the Rabbinate Court refused to issue her a license, saying that the marriage would be contrary to religious mores. "I've already reached the age of consent," the widow shouted in court. "My dear lady," the rabbi replied, "I am afraid you are aleardy past the age of consent."

COLOGNE, Germany (WNS). A ladies committee investigating insufficient housing reported that the lack of apartments is sometimes a blessing. "The housing problem can solve other problems," they reported. "For example, one man and woman who agreed to divorce discovered that they couldn't find small apartments in which to live singly. So they patched up their marriage and stayed together in their original dwelling."

Tobe Says:

Sleeves Leave Fashion World

All the new coats, suits and dresses, as you well know, have less sleeve than we've seen for many years. Our coat and suit sleeves are a short three-quarter length, while for dresses they end at the elbow or above or often do not exist at all, even for wintry days.

I find this barer arm fashion very young, but it means arms must be properly gloved for town or country. With the new below-elbow shorter sleeves, it's smarter to wear gloves to meet them. Slim leather gloves now launder well, too, and come in a complete gamut of colors.

Dress Shields Will Protect Garments

If you are troubled by excessive perspiration, dress shields will protect your clothes. Styles include under-arm and back protectors and shield bras.

To function efficiently, these wardrobe-savers need to be laundered after every wearing in plenty of warm soap or detergent suds and rinses.

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN
CANNOT READ EFFECTIVELY

If your child is a slow or poor reader; if he is having trouble with comprehension and spelling, then phonics and our reading improvement program may be able to help him as it has helped hundreds of children of all ages all over the nation. We can help any normal child improve his reading ability with just 15 minutes of home study each day in the privacy of your own home.

Want a Date? Then Don't Sit Home 'n' Wait

MUNICH (WNS) — "If you want a date, don't sit at home and wait. Extend an invitation," is the advice of marriage counsellor Romy Breithoff.

"When you meet a man you like, offer him a date," she suggested, "but at no expense to him and with no obligation attached." Invite him to your home, but:

1. Don't invite a man alone. "It may make him feel trapped, suspicious and uncomfortable."
2. Invite one, two or three other people, not more.
3. Don't have dim lights or sultry atmosphere.
4. Don't dress too seductively.
5. Invite people your guest will enjoy. "Don't invite only girls who are older and less attractive than yourself."

Spring News From Paris Blooms With Dramatic Flowers

The Paris house of Lanvin-Castillo showed the floral look from France in an evening dress ensemble with a matching scarf. Big brown flowers stand out boldly on white silk. Purple printed mousseline was chosen for the Nina Ricci dress that drops a straight top into a skirt of full pleats. A matching beret completely hides the hair. A Gallic touch for gaiety was shown in the Ricci collection in a long, slim evening gown. White silk, printed with blue, brown and black floral patterns, it was matched to a circular cape with blue fox border.

That Look Is Coming Back, Paris Says

Jacques Heim proves that he is still influenced by the loose line in a cocktail dress of fuchsia gauze. Three rows of matching ostrich feathers ring the hemline. Typical of the collection of Marc Bohan, of the House of Christian Dior, is his bulky jacket atop a skirt in gray and white wool.

Atlanta Career Girl

Where Is the Truly Stupid Man? Why, He's in His Private Office!

By JUNE WILSON

Any young girl who aspires to a Hollywood career has disenchantments waiting for her. The stars she has admired she often finds are neither handsome nor beautiful without the art of the makeup man. Worse, the emotional depth and feeling portrayed on the screen are also poses assumed for the camera.

In business, too, disillusionment awaits the young working woman . . . and in an area where she has cause for believing that positions of importance must be backed by solid ability and knowledge.

It is not so. There is less out-and-out ignorance in the business world, perhaps, but in no area of American life can one find a heavier blanket of stupidity. The wheels of commerce drag with it, the higher brackets are corroded with it. Bumbling, witless, thick-headed stupidity; far worse than simple, unenlightened ignorance.

Time was in the large corporation when, if a man could do the job above his, better than the man assigned to it, he got the better job. Nowadays all it takes to usurp the job above is the syrupy art of ingratiating oneself where it "counts" and the constant, silken smile for the "right" people. Stupidity succeeds . . . because it appeals to stupidity.

What are the signs of the stupid businessman? There is no better criterion than the fact that his favors can be had for a silky smile. But there are other symptoms.

The businessman who instructs the girl who answers his phone to let all callers know that "I'm a busy man" . . . and to ask any strange voice or unfamiliar name, "what is the nature of your business?" wants to leave the impression that he is busy. This can only impress others as stupid as he.

Witness the $50,000-a-year dolt who instructs his secretary to "tell everybody I'm out" . . . then remains in his office with the door closed and chews out an underling at length and at the top of his executive voice.

The secretary may feel like a fool explaining that Mr. Bombast is out to the caller who stands smack in front of her desk and hears all this, but she is only doing her job.

The bellowing man behind the closed door doesn't feel anything. He's far too stupid. He either does not know or he has forgotten that by many small things does he project the "image" of himself and the company he represents to the public.

And when he is prize-winning stupid, he does not know that the public is made up of people.

And it is people—separately, individually — who keep the books, buy the products or reject them, and keep the wheels of commerce turning.

A Mother Ponders PTA And in Defeat Asks 'Why?'

The Atlanta mother who wrote the following account of a PTA meeting has asked to remain anonymous since, in her words, "I still have children in school, and they might suffer because of it." Her letter is the springboard that launches a series of articles, "The PTA, Pro and Con," by Betty Carrollton, which will begin Wednesday in The Atlanta Constitution.

It was Father's night at the PTA.

In the stuffy auditorium, 300 mothers and fathers slumped in weary resignation as a female voice rasped some garbled psychological mumbo-jumbo into a microphone.

For fifteen minutes we had listened to the minutes of the last meeting, which seemed to have been even more bleak and tedious than the one now in session.

A bitingly militant and unrelenting matron had arisen to announce yet another paper sale. $100 was the net yield of the last debacle, which brought us out at dawn into a February drizzle to load the station wagon with soggy newsapers while our querulous progeny wailed that Mrs. Jones' second grade would win the prize because papa used last Sunday's paper to light a fire.

A hundred dollars, we reflected, as the committee chairman announced with gleeful sadism that the forthcoming ordeal would be held at 7:30 of a Saturday morning.

We had heard from an exuberant young salesman who popped up to announce a backbreaking roster of new cub scout activities.

And now we were being treated to a diatribe on the delicate psyches of our young—who even at that moment were, no doubt, being coldly and meanly settled into bed with neither a story nor a kiss by a paid-by-the hour sitter.

Ah, but not all the children were at home. In front of us a sturdy little fellow writhed in wretched agony beside his mother, who sat at rigid attention, a monstrous child-psychology leer frozen on her face. He was watching her bleakly when an idea lit his little face. He produced a piece of paper and a pencil and scrawled a wanly hopeful note—"Mama, why do I have to stay?"

"Because," she scribbled back efficiently.

"Because why?" he wrote back, still hopeful.

"Just because," she answered imperiously.

He crumpled up the paper and sank dispairingly in his chair. We echoed his long, heartrending sigh of utter defeat—but the unanswered question still haunts us.

PLASTIC FLOWERS BLOOM ON HER NEW SPRING BONNET
Mrs. W. P. Rocker, Left, Tries Her Creation on Her Sister, Mrs. Leon J. Cox

This Talent Went to Her Head, Settling on a Flowered Bonnet!

Most housewives get heady over the prettier-than-life plastic flowers on store counters these days.

But they went straight to the head of attractive Mrs. W. P. Rocker of 226 E. Lake Dr., SE.

A skilled gardener and flower arranger, the Decatur matron went out on a blooming limb this spring and made herself a whole bonnet of plastic blossoms.

By JEAN ROONEY

"I just got carried away," the petite blond homemaker jokes.

TRIMS HER OWN

She has dabbled with trimming her own hats for years.

"And this year, the prettiest artificial flowers are plastic," she explains.

Her friends looked askance. How could she sew through plastic?

But she did, sewing through and over the stems of cyclamen and shocking pink baby orchids. She attached them to a cone-shaped straw hat base she had from last season.

TIPS FOR AMATEURS

Here are her tips to other amateur milliners:

1. Use lavendar and pink flowers together, for a spring '61 color combination. Sprinkle them over the crown or brim.

2. Combine the citrus shades—oranges, lemons and limes.

3. Applique small green leaves to last spring's hat to bring it up to date.

4. Wrap maline (a milliner's tulle) around the crown, for a soft hat silhouette. Sprinkle in some tiny blossoms, if you want it dressier.

5. Try the new straw cloth to cover an old hat for the appearance of straw but the workability of fabric.

If You're Snow Bound, Strike Bound, Fog Bound, Canned Apples Are Perfect for No-Shopping Days!

It's already been quite a winter—and with more to come. People have been snow bound, fog bound, strike bound or for other reasons isolated and immobilized, sometimes for days, and thrown on their own facilities and supplies to keep well fed and healthy.

Fortunately, this has been a winter when grocers' shelves have had unusually abundant and varied supplies of canned foods to offer. And most homemakers wisely stocked up according to their families needs and tastes.

So when shopping itself was not possible, and regardless of what was happening, they were still able to prepare appetizing and well-balanced meals from the canned foods on hand.

A well supplied canned foods shelf includes, not only the basics like meat and potatoes, but fruits like canned apple products that add variety and special flavor to the simplest meal.

Canned apple sauce, apple juice, canned apple slices are products of 1,001 uses—in dishes, with dishes, and all on their own. They fit happily into any meal from breakfast to late evening snacks—and they are universal favorites for everybody loves the taste of apples.

This dessert is frankly and joyously apples all the way through with a homey simplicity and heartiness most inviting, especially on a chilly day.

Canned apple sauce is rolled up pinwheel fashion right in the dumplings themselves. That done, the dumplings are baked, snuggled deep in more apple sauce, with a rosy cinnamon syrup poured over to give a sweet, candy glaze.

Fresh from the oven and ready to serve, the dumplings look tender and tempting under their rosy glaze, smell warmly of apples and cinnamon, and taste delicious.

This is a dessert for family meals or for guest meals . . . it's great for either. And it's easy to make.

APPLE DUMPLINGS IN ROSY CINNAMON SAUCE

2½ cups canned apple sauce
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons baking powder
¼ cup shortening
¾ cup milk
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup red cinnamon candies
1¾ cup water
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon water

Measure 1 cup apple sauce into saucepan. Bring to boil and simmer gently a few minutes to thicken. Sift together flour, salt and baking powder; cut in shortening. Add milk and stir to make a soft dough. Turn dough onto lightly floured board, roll into rectangle about ¼-inch thick. Spread with thickened apple sauce; roll up into long roll pinching dough along edge to seal. Cut into 8 thick slices. Pour remaining apple sauce in baking pan, arrange rolls on top, cut side down. Combine cinnamon candies, water, sugar and cinnamon in saucepan; bring to boil. Pour ¾ cup syrup over rolls. Bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees, about 30 minutes. To serve: Add 1 teaspoon cornstarch dissolved in a tablespoon water to remainder of syrup. Bring to boil and simmer until syrup thickens. Pour small amount over each portion. Serves 8.

Executives' Office Gyms Aid Health

NEW YORK (WNS)—Women who want to keep husbands safe from ulcers and heart trouble should urge them to install a small gym in a corner of their office, declared the Executive Furniture Guild.

After some research, it has come up with a recommendation for the gym: Two vertical floor-to-floor ceiling poles, 36 inches apart, with one horizontal crosspiece, for pulling and chinning exercises.

For refreshment, the Guild recommends small portable refrigerators, combination refrigerator-bars, or coffee-server outfits.

If a wife is steering her husband's redecorating job at the office, she might try yellow for creative work, brown for a feeling of friendliness, and blue for a tranquilizing effect suitable for folks who do exacting work.

Smart Shirt Buying Pays Big Dividends for Women

Every woman should know how to buy a shirt, since it's a gift most men appreciate.

The National Cotton Council suggests you follow these points when shopping for cotton shirts:

Be sure the shirt is made of good fabric which has been preshrunk. Basic shirtings include broadcloth, madras, chambray, and oxford (a heavy fabric with a basket weave and soft, dull finish). Sheer batiste, voile, porous meshes and other open weaves are used in summer shirts for coolness.

Double-stitched welt seams add strength where needed for strain and wear. Other seams should be straight and closely stitched.

Check to see that collars are neatly cut with matched stay-down corners. Buttenholes should be securely stitched with no loose thread ends on the right side and the buttons should be of high quality.

Finally, choose a collar style which will flatter the man for whom you are buying the shirt. Wide, pointed collars are becoming to tall, thin men; while narrow pointed collars are more suitable for round-faced men.

In the March Ladies' Home Journal

Once there was a girl...

...who wrote in a schoolgirl poem:

"I love the feeling down inside me that says to run away
To come and be a gypsy and laugh the gypsy way."

Instead she grew up to be the year's Number 1 Debutante, the Inquiring Camera Girl for a Washington newspaper, the wife of a young senator and finally First Lady of the United States. Read the full and fascinating story, with photographs from Jacqueline Kennedy's own scrapbooks, by Mary Van Rensselaer Thayer in the March Ladies' Home Journal.

Can a wife and mother save more by not working?

Can a family of six, with $6,000 yearly, save enough to send four children to college? The Kellys of Renton, Wash., have found the answers to problems which millions of American families share. "HOW AMERICA SPENDS ITS MONEY."

Should you remarry a man you've divorced?

Dr. Clifford R. Adams gives six tests which will show the likeliness of success (or the opposite) in such a marriage.

BY GEORGE

Chicken a la South Georgia

DEAR GEORGE:

Mine has been a strange life.

I am an advertising man with headquarters on Madison Avenue, a happy, perfectly well-adjusted person, as normal as blueberry pie. Except for an odd twist of fate, that unexpected circumstance which lies around the corner of immediate time awaiting us all.

My wife is a dear woman, except for one annoying, if understandable trait. When she becomes angered at me she bursts into tears and goes home to her mother.

Unhappily, her mother came to my home to live with us, which frustrated my wife as she had no place to threaten to go—in turn, lost my temper and went home to MY mother.

My mother lives with her mother on a rather large poultry farm. They are both dear women. However, my mother is a close friend of my wife's mother and is leaving for a visit to my home in New York all next month.

Coincidentally, this is the same month my grandmother is taking an extended Nassau cruise, which will leave me alone in a large frame house on a poultry farm in southeast Georgia. My problem is twofold:

(1) Should I swallow my pride and/or (2) how much chicken food—or "feed," I believe the term is—comprises the daily nutritional requirements of 4,300 Rhode Island Reds?

Thanking you in advance, I remain,

UNDECIDED.

DEAR UNDECIDED:

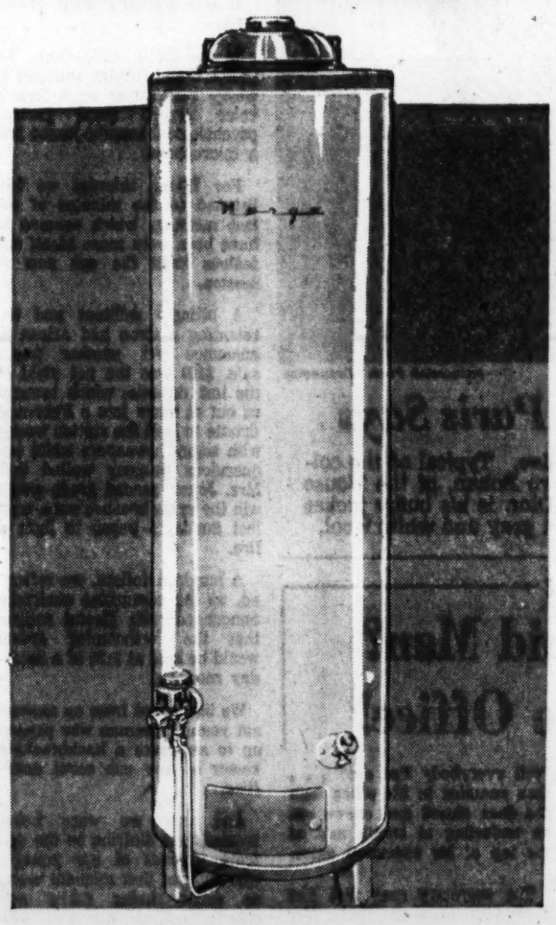

Have amnesia.

LAYING CAST IRON WATER MAINS AND STEEL WATER MAINS FOR ATLANTA WATER WORKS, CITY OF ATLANTA, GEORGIA

Sealed proposals for laying cast iron water mains and steel water mains within the area supplied by the Atlanta Water Works system of Atlanta, Georgia, will be received by the Purchasing Agent, City of Atlanta, Georgia, at the City Hall. Bids will be opened and read publicly at a joint meeting of the Purchasing Committee and the Water Committee of the City of Atlanta, Georgia, and must be deposited with the undersigned prior to the beginning of said joint meeting at 2:00 P.M. on March 13, 1961. No bid may be withdrawn after scheduled closing time for receipt of bids for at least thirty (30) days.

The work to be done consists of furnishing all equipment and personnel and performing all labor necessary to install cast iron water mains and steel water mains of various diameters in various streets within the area supplied by the Atlanta Water Works system of Atlanta, Georgia. The City of Atlanta Water Works will furnish all material including cast iron pipe, steel pipe, fire hydrants, valves, fittings, yarn, lead, straps and/or other materials that will be incorporated in the finished main. It is the intention of the Atlanta Water Works to use flexible joint cast iron pipe and steel pipe with Dresser type couplings.

The following tabulation shows the approximate amount of pipe to be laid:

BASIC PROJECT
Approximate Amount of Pipe to be Laid

Size	Amount
6-in. Cast Iron	5,000 ft.
8-in. Cast Iron	10,000 ft.
12-in. Cast Iron	4,000 ft.
12-in. Steel	3,621 ft.
16-inch Cast Iron	2,000 ft.
20-in. Cast Iron	1,000 ft.
24-in. Cast Iron	4,000 ft.
24-in. Steel	4,750 ft.
30-in. Steel	7,052 ft.

It is the intention of the Atlanta Water Works to install mains in two independent areas at the same time. The contractor will be required to provide the necessary personnel and equipment to work in two different sections of the area supplied by the Atlanta Water Works simultaneously, and to complete installation of cast iron water mains at a minimum rate of two (200) linear feet per day or one thousand (1,000) linear feet per week and one hundred (100) linear feet per day or five hundred (500) linear feet per week of steel water mains in each location.

The bidder must be experienced in the installation of cast iron and steel water mains in congested areas of cities comparable to Atlanta, Georgia. No consideration will be given for experience in the installation of pipe for any other purpose other than the distribution of water. If a bidder does not have experience in the installation of cast iron and steel water mains comparable to the work proposed in this project, the bid will be rejected.

All proposals must be accompanied by a certified check, drawn in favor of the City of Atlanta, Georgia, in the amount of one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500) such check representing a guarantee that the successful bidder, if awarded the contract, will promptly enter into a contract and furnish performance bond and payment bond as required by law and approved by the Attorney for the City of Atlanta, Georgia, in the amount of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000). This check shall be forfeited to the City, as liquidated damages, if the bidder fails to execute a contract and provide performance bond and payment within ten (10) days after notice that he has been awarded the contract. Each bid submitted shall be accompanied by a written financial statement from a bank or other financial corporation as to bidders ability to carry out the contract, if awarded to him.

Specifications and contract documents are on file at the office of the Purchasing Agent, Atlanta, Georgia, and at the office of Paul Weir, General Manager of the Atlanta Water Works. A copy may be obtained from the office of the General Manager of the Atlanta Water Works at the City Hall, Atlanta, Georgia, upon deposit of twenty-five dollars ($25). The full amount of the deposit for one set of specifications and documents will be returned to each actual bidder and all other deposits will be refunded less than ten dollars ($10) upon return of the set in good condition within thirty (30) days after the date of the opening of bids.

The right is reserved to accept or reject any and all bids and to waive informalities. Available funds will determine extent of contract awarded.

A schedule of minimum wages to be paid all classes of labor and trades in the work must accompany all bids.

All proposals must be accompanied by a certified check, drawn in favor of the City of Atlanta, Georgia, in the amount of five thousand dollars ($5,000) such check representing a guarantee that the successful bidder, if awarded the contract will promptly enter into a contract and furnish a performance bond and payment bond as required by law and approved by the Attorney for the City of Atlanta, Georgia, in the amount of bid price. This check shall be forfeited to the City as liquidated damage if the bidder fails to execute contract and provide performance bond and payment bond within ten (10) days after notice that he has been awarded the contract. Each bid submitted shall be accompanied by a written financial statement from a bank or other financial corporation as to bidder's ability to carry out the contract, if awarded to him.

The City of Atlanta makes no guarantee, either expressed or implied, as to the nature of underground soil conditions, locations of mains, locations of appurtenances attached thereto, nor to the exactness of plans or drawings attached and made part of these specifications.

To insure that all bidders inform themselves prior to bidding of existing physical conditions including areas of highly congested traffic and to the general public's protection in such areas, plans and specifications will be issued only to those bidders or their agents calling in person at the office of the City of Atlanta Purchasing Agent, 403 City Hall, Atlanta, Georgia, or at the office of Paul Weir, General Manager, Atlanta Water Works, City Hall, Atlanta Georgia, at which time a physical inspection of the work contemplated will be arranged in the company of authorized Water Works personnel. This inspection to be only during regular working hours on Monday through Friday.

The City of Atlanta reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to waive any informality.

The foregoing Provisions comply with Section 76-116 of the Code of the City of Atlanta, Georgia.

Letting Long's Ordinary Pick Jury Officials Killed

The Senate Judiciary Committee Monday killed a proposal that would have placed selection of the jury commissioners in Long County in the hands of the ordinary rather than leave it in the hands of the Atlantic Circuit judge.

The committee action was described by Sen. G. Ed Perry of Claxton, who strongly opposed the measure, as a "break" in the power of the Long County political hierarchy.

ELECTION CITED

Proponents of the bill claimed in an affidavit several weeks ago that the jury commission selected by the present circuit judge, Henry H. Durrence of Claxton, had used a "prepared" jury list to select those who would serve on the grand jury and the traverse jury.

Perry said, in a statement before the committee last Friday that the fight in Long County stems from the 1958 election when Judge Durrence defeated Judge Mel Price from Long County for the judgeship of the Atlantic Judicial Circuit. Price held the post for 16 years.

Petitioners against the bill said, 'the only reason for this bill is that when the last revision (of the jury lists) was made, many good men who had been excluded from the jury service in previous revisions were put back in the jury box, and the proponents of this bill want to again get control of the jury box and the courts." The petition was signed by over 300 persons in the affected area.

Sen. Perry, who gave Sen. Charles F. Warnell of Pembroke credit for helping defeat the measure, said he felt the committee "made a wise decision and I feel like it will mean something for Long County and that part of Georgia."

LONG DISAPPOINTED

He said that many people had contacted him over the weekend to congratulate him on his efforts and ask if they could help defeat the measure.

Sen. W. C. Long of Nahunta was chief backer of the bill in the Senate committee. Long said he was disappointed that the bill did not pass and added, "I don't know what is going to happen now."

According to Senate rules, a motion could be made when the Judiciary Committee's report is read to the Senate for the Senate to override the committee's action.

Atlantan Gets Life for Setting Fires at College

MARSHALL, N.C. (UPI)—A 23-year-old Atlanta man was sentenced to life in prison Monday when he pleaded guilty to setting three fires at Mars Hill College near here.

Robert Lee Henry Jr., a former student at Mars Hill, admitted setting fire to the college's $50,000 auditorium, a men's dormitory and another campus building on Feb. 5.

Judge Willie McClain accepted the plea and ordered the life term, mandatory sentence on a guilty plea for first-degree arson charges.

Henry was questioned earlier in Atlanta about nearly a dozen mysterious fires between August 1960 and January of this year. He was released because of insufficient evidence.

Henry was questioned by Atlanta authorities in connection with fires of suspicious origin along Edgewood Avenue, one of them in his home at 785 Edgewood Ave., NE, and nine next door.

Wanted Badly: 7 Yak Tails to Honor a Friend

LONDON (UPI) — A university lecturer in Devon has asked a London newspaper to help him find seven yak tails.

In his request, Tex Rundle explained that a friend coming from the Far East for a visit was the descendant of a religious dignitary and, thus, was entitled to fly a white banner decorated with seven yak tails outside his "tent."

"I would like to plant such a banner in my front lawn during his visit," wrote Rundle, "but where do I get yaks' tails?"

The newspaper said it couldn't help directly but passed his plea to its readers.

Restrict Price Of Political Ads, Rep.. Budd Asks

Rep. Roger M. Budd of Lowndes County has introduced a bill to keep newspapers, radio and TV from charging more for political advertising than they do for other ads.

Budd said that in his county he has to pay "twice the going rate" of regular ads when he's running for office.

"They're taking an unfair advantage of us," he complained.

Minister Says He's Ready --Then Collapses and Dies

A 48-year-old North Carolina minister collapsed and died of a heart attack here Sunday night soon after telling a congregation that whenever death beckoned he was ready.

The Rev. Andrew Sterling of Dunn, N.C., was stricken en route to the bus station and died in a hospital. Earlier, he had preached at Faith Memorial Church.

During his sermon, a member of the congregation recalled after his death, the minister had declared:

"When the doors of heaven open for me, I am glad I can walk right in."

The Rev. Mr. Sterling was district superintendent of the Assembly of God Churches in North Carolina. He was born in Scotland. He is survived by a wife and two sons in Dunn.

Mrs. W. S. Devault, secretary of Faith Memorial, said the title of the minister's last sermon was "The Open Door," and his main thoughts centered around heaven.

"Now that he is dead," she continued, "it seems like he preached his own funeral. He said that Jesus was the open door into heaven. He gave an evangelistic message to sinners or the lost. . . . He talked about the glory of heaven and what a wonderful place it was."

Funeral services and burial will be in Dunn.

To determine line rate figure 5 words per line.

WHEN CANCELING ADS

Get and keep your Cancellation Number—it's your receipt of cancellation. Ads cancelled before publication will be charged for at the rate of one-half the one-day rate.

ERRORS

Errors in classified advertising should be reported immediately as The Journal-Constitution will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. Atlanta Newspapers, Inc., will not be liable for any error in advertisement to a greater extent than the cost of the space occupied by the item in the advertisement.

DEADLINES

Tuesday through Friday, 6 p.m. previous day: Saturday, 12:00 noon Friday; Monday, 12 noon Saturday; Sunday, 6 p.m. Friday. No new ads, correcting or cancellation can be accepted Saturday a.m. for the Sunday issue.

Our front counter is open Sundays from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. to accept cancellations and corrections for the Monday papers. Call JA. 2-5050. Extension 318.

WHAT OCCUPIES A BOY'S MIND?

IDLENESS encourages a boy's mind to wander—and often leads him into trouble. A poorly-chosen activity may be a complete waste of time, or may even teach him bad habits. But an activity which challenges him, and offers him something both constructive and profitable to do, will provide a valuable springboard to sound character growth. For many years now a boy's own newspaper route has been the perfect answer to this need. Many of today's leaders in all walks of life set a pattern for success while serving as newspaper carrier-salesmen. You may want to recommend this worthwhile activity to a son, a grandson, or the son of a neighbor. You'll be glad you did. So will he.

GET your son to apply for an Atlanta Journal or Atlanta Constitution newspaper route by completing the form below and mailing it today.

Post Office Urged for Capitol Area

Establishment of a branch post office in Atlanta's Capitol Hill section was urged Monday in a resolution offered in the Georgia House by Fulton Reps. Ralph McClelland and Wilson Brooks.

It was pointed out that state government departments have "principal offices in the State Capitol and in near-by office buildings" and that "numerous offices" of the city and county governments are located in the Capitol Hill area.

"The volume of mail dispatched and received by occupants of the Capitol Hill area would fully justify the establishment of a branch post office," the resolution said.

You're Roger Kaiser

You're Roger Kaiser, the first bona fide All-American to play basketball for Georgia Tech. By proclamation of Whack Hyder, Adolph Rupp, Babe McCarthy, Red Lawson, Bob Polk and others, you have been proclaimed one of the greatest players ever to perform in the Southeastern Conference.

Appreciative Georgia Tech alumni honored you with a "Roger Kaiser Night" Monday when you heard cheers reverberate in Alexander Coliseum in your final home game. It was appropriate that Gov. Ernest Vandiver proclaimed Monday "Roger Kaiser Day" instead of "Roger Kaiser Night." For two straight seasons it has been "Roger Kaiser Night" every time you took the court.

Outlar

No one admires your talents more than Georgia Coach Red Lawson, and you're the worst enemy he ever had. Saturday night you shot down Georgia for the tenth time in a row, which must be a record in the ancient and bitter series.

You are, of course, accustomed to setting records. You edit the Tech book of achievements every time you shoot a goal or a free throw. Statistics frequently are misleading, but they afford accurate testimony to your greatness.

Before your night against Florida, you had hit on 577 of 1,322 field goal attempts, a remarkable marksmanship mark of 43.6 per cent. You had cashed 438 of 510 foul tosses, a fantastic accuracy percentage of 85.9.

—Dodd Presented Greatest Accolade

You are the leading scorer in the SEC for the second season with a point output of 572, a game average of 23.8. You had hoped to lead Tech to the SEC title in your final fling. You came close to achieving that goal as a junior when the Engineers logged a 11-3 conference worksheet and read 22-6 overall. You were a stickout when Tech represented the SEC in the NCAA tournament. You earned the plaudits of Ohio State Coach Fred Taylor when the mighty Buckeyes eliminated Tech.

You are a cinch to be voted Tech's outstanding athlete for the second year in a row, an unheard of achievement at an institution where football players have dominated the scene for so many years. Your most cherished accolade came from Tech Athletic Director Bobby Dodd, who would be expected to favor football All-Americans. But Dodd, who has been watching Tech athletes perform for 30 years, recently nominated you as the greatest of all the Techmen.

Your name is always in the headlines when Tech plays basketball. You've been heralded as a one-man team. College teammates frequently resent such billing. To your eternal credit, your teammates are your greatest boosters. You not only lead the team in points; you are an inspirational leader. Your teammates selected you as their captain, not once, but twice.

—Also an All-American Off the Court

You wear the cloak of greatness with modesty befitting an athlete of ability and class. You tell newsmen that your teammates deserve much of the credit for your success. They have battled vigorously and the dice of destiny at times appeared loaded against Tech. Unfortunately Tech was merely overrated at the outset. It's only an average team with the greatest Tech player of all time in the lineup, but you have played every game to the hilt. You have performed as though first, instead of last place, was at stake.

You paid the price to become a national star in your favorite sport. You didn't meet fame on a blind date. You started shooting baskets in your back yard as soon as you were large enough to bounce a ball. Your father and mother played basketball, which is the national pastime in your native Indiana.

Neighbor Buddy Blemker, whom you succeed as a superstar at Tech, influenced your decision to become an Engineer. Also like Blemker, you are not a one-sport star. You are a gifted baseball player. Marse Joe Pittard, the lovable Tech baseball coach, insists that you have the ability to hit the big time as an outfielder. You don't hit baseballs with the amazing consistency you hit goals, but you are an above-average batsman.

More important, you are an All-American on the campus. You are listed in College Who's Who; you're a representative on the Student Council, treasurer of the ODK honorary society, a captain in advanced ROTC and you also score high as a student in Industrial Management.

Tech alumni made it official Monday night, but for the last two seasons every basketball night at Georgia Tech has developed into a "Roger Kaiser Night."

You're Roger Kaiser, the type of All-American American colleges can point to with pride. Georgia Tech and the entire state are justly proud of you.

Kaiser's Goal Sinks Florida

Jackets Dump Florida, 52-50

By JACK WILLIAMS

Roger Kaiser's final field goal in Alexander Memorial Coliseum spiked a Florida rally Monday night and Georgia Tech won, 52-50, in a weird game which drew almost as many boos as bravos.

There were cheers aplenty for the dynamic Kaiser who celebrated his "night" by sparking a furious Yellow Jacket comeback in the second half.

When he hit the clincher on a driving layup one minute and 30 seconds from the end, the big crowd of 7,000 almost tore the gym apart.

But the fans had booed lustily when Coach Whack Hyder called for a slowdown in the final nine minutes, a maneuver which saw Kaiser end his Atlanta career playing "catch" with teammates near the midcourt line.

Held to four points in the first half when the Jackets trailed, 31-30, the Tech all-America roared back with 11 after intermission. It was his sharpshooting which helped the Jackets open up a 49-42 lead, setting the stage for what the fans hoped would be a blazing finish.

But Hyder and his coaching rival Norman Sloan had different ideas. Hampered by the loss of Keith Weekly, who broke his nose in the early minutes, Hyder ordered a slowdown with 9:06 left on the clock.

The bit of strategy was actually made to order for Sloan, who had only seven players available following dismissal of three stars for disciplinary reasons Sunday.

Sloan had his tired Gators sit back in their zone defense and rest while Kaiser and John Hoff-

Maroons Clinch League Crown

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Mississippi State cinched the Southeastern Conference basketball title here Monday night with a come-from-behind 62-57 victory over Tulane. It was the second SEC crown for the Maroons in three years. But they won't represent the conference in the National Collegiate Athletic Association tourney.

Davis Joining Jackets; Auburn Adds Roberts

LSU Aide to Coach Frosh; Navy Assistant in for Senn

By PAUL ATKINSON

Art Davis, former Mississippi State All-American halfback and an assistant at Louisiana State, will be named Georgia Tech freshman coach, and Auburn will hire J. D. Roberts, one-time Oklahoma star lineman, as offensive line coach, The Constitution learned Monday.

Roberts moves into Shot Senn's vacated post.

Davis, a 24-year-old Clarksdale, Miss., native will join the Tech staff in time for spring training, which opens early in March.

Davis had been in a two-way battle for the Tech coaching post. The other candidate had been Battle Ground Academy coach Ralph Brown.

Georgia Tech athletic director Bobby Dodd would make no comment on the hiring of Davis.

But Brown, according to the Nashville Tennessean, said that Dodd called him Monday night and told him "the other fellow was going to get the job."

Davis had his most spectacular season for State in 1955. He was named to the all-Southeastern Conference team, all-America team selected by the Football Writers Association of America and was the SEC's MVP in a newspaper poll.

Area fans will recall a tremendous effort Davis made in a 27-26 loss to Fob James and Co. in a thriller at Auburn in 1955.

A chronic shoulder injury curtailed Davis' effectiveness his senior year, and cut short a promising professional career with the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Davis turned to coaching in 1958, with Biloxi, Miss., in the rugged Big Eight Conference.

From Biloxi, Davis moved to LSU as a backfield assistant and scout.

WIN, LOSE OR STALL—IT WAS ROGER KAISER NIGHT

By TED SIMMONS

It wasn't a storybook ending.

Roger Kaiser's performance, on Roger Kaiser Night was, for him, sub-par. He hit just four points in the first half, and spent most of the second handcuffed by a Georgia Tech stall that even had Jacket fans booing.

But when the frustrating moments of the game were over and the quiet young man from Indiana came back for his final bow, the roar must have been heard all the way to Peachtree Street.

It was a standing ovation. The kind that brings tears to the eyes of little old ladies, and an undeniable feeling of awe to the most cynical of bystanders.

The house was on its feet with one thought in mind—to honor Roger Kaiser.

"I wish," he said as his last round of great applause died out in Alexander Memorial Coliseum, "I wish I had three more years to play here."

And from the way he glanced around over the emptying seats, you knew that he meant it.

A lot of other people wish the same thing, because even on what must be termed an off night, it was Kaiser who wrapped up Tech's victory Monday night.

His spurt in the early second half gave Tech the spark it needed to go ahead, and he iced it with a driving layup around two Florida defenders whom he had faked out of position on a switch-off.

That basket saved a strategic move that came close to backfiring in Tech's face—a stall, put on with the Jackets leading by five and 9:06 left on the clock.

"Maybe it worked, and maybe it didn't," Tech coach Whack Hyder said after the game.

"If we had had Keith Weekly in there, we would have gunned it all the way.

"But with him, one of our big offensive guns, not playing, I figured when we got the lead we'd make them come out and get us—press us.

"I figured with them pressing, they'd either foul us, or we'd get the shot close in under the basket.

Don Keiser Injured In Loss to Vandy

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Vanderbilt overcame a determined Georgia comeback effort Monday night and raced past the Bulldogs 87-76 to remain in a tie for the second place in the Southeastern Conference basketball race.

Behind, 45-36, at intermission, the Bulldogs cut the margin to 45-43 as Vanderbilt went two and a half minutes without scoring. Shortly thereafter, Georgia's Don Keiser fell while driving in for a layup and was taken out of the game, hurting the Bulldog drive. Keiser reportedly was cut on the head, and broke a finger.

Dr. A. Brant Lipscomb, Vanderbilt team physician, said Keiser suffered a concussion, lacerated head and dislocated joint on one finger. Ten stitches were taken and he was hospitalized.

Vanderbilt then moved into a seven-point lead, but the Bulldogs, who hit seven field goals before missing in the second half, cut it again to three before the Commodores took command on field goals by Larry Banks, Bill Johnson and Bill Depp.

Allan Johnson, who hit four of the Georgia field goals in the early second half spurt, paced the Bulldog attack with 18 points.

The victory left Vanderbilt and Kentucky tied for second place in the SEC race, and for the NCAA tournament bid, with 9-4

Wildcat Defenses Cage Tigers, 77-51

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky, using a brilliant defense, trounced Auburn 77-51 Monday night for its seventh straight Southeastern Conference basketball victory.

The famed Auburn shuffle seemed to puzzle the Wildcats at first, but they quickly snapped back and piled up a 43-24 halftime lead.

The victory strengthened Kentucky's position for a spot in NCAA tournament action.

Ned Jennings took scoring honors for the night with 23 points, followed by all-SEC Bill Lickert with 21.

Auburn's Layton Johns led the Tigers' scoring with 14.

Auburn made nine of 22 for 40.9 per cent.

Kentucky's SEC record now is 9-4 and Akuburn's 7-6.

Bass Girls Cinch State Berth; Nose Out Southwest, 52-50

Murphy Rocks Tigers, 46-39

By PAUL ATKINSON

Two quick overtime baskets by Bass' 5-2, 103-pound dynamo, LaVue Bloodworth, turned Bass' gym into a delirious madhouse Monday and sent the Warriors into their first state AAA girls basketball tournament.

Top-seeded Southwest fell, 52-50, in the 3-AAA semi-final shocker. Murphy, pressed early, turned on Northside, 46-39, for its 50th straight win against a 3-AAA team and grabbed the other region berth in the state tournament in mid-March.

Murphy and Bass meet Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. for the region title. In the 7 p.m. opener at Bass, Northside and Southwest go for consolation.

This Bass victory was the most popular decision since the Pittsburgh Pirates swept through the National League and World Series last season. Bass coach James Theodocian, accorded an unprecedented gesture, was given a standing ovation as he entered the arena during the Murphy-Northside game.

Bloodworth's brace of baskets in the overtime was redemption for missing a last-second regulation game crip shot. Jeanie Seignious, game high scorer with 31 points, had tied the score moments earlier with a jump shot.

Betty Allen and Martha Carmicael scored 21 and 18 points for Bass, while guards Betty Dale Brumbeloe, Nort Kalb, Susan Eberhardt and JoAnne Ryan defended well.

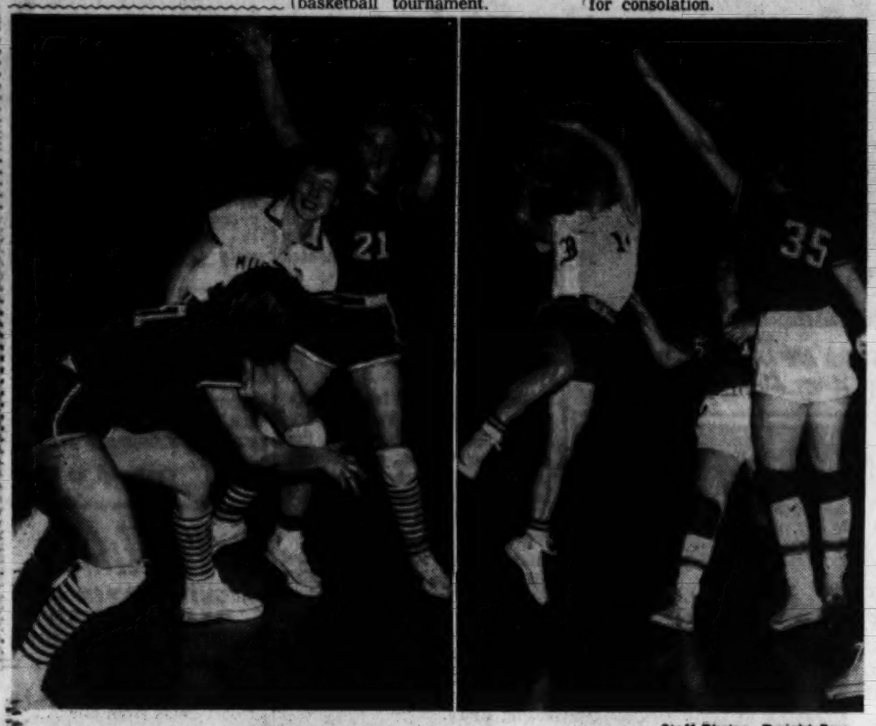

Murphy, getting 26 ad 18 points games from Martha Culpepper and Doris Spencer, never trailed. Martha Ware, Joanna Karr and Rosa Young threw a defensive net around Tiger and tournament top scorer Pam Robinson, holding her to three field goals in 19 attempts.

Murphy coach A. T. Harmon admitted he'd hoped to double team Robinson. "We had Young on her originally," said Harmon, "and let the other girls help when the situation called for it."

Woodie Morris and Carmen Springer scored 15 and 9 points for Wayman Creel's Tigers.

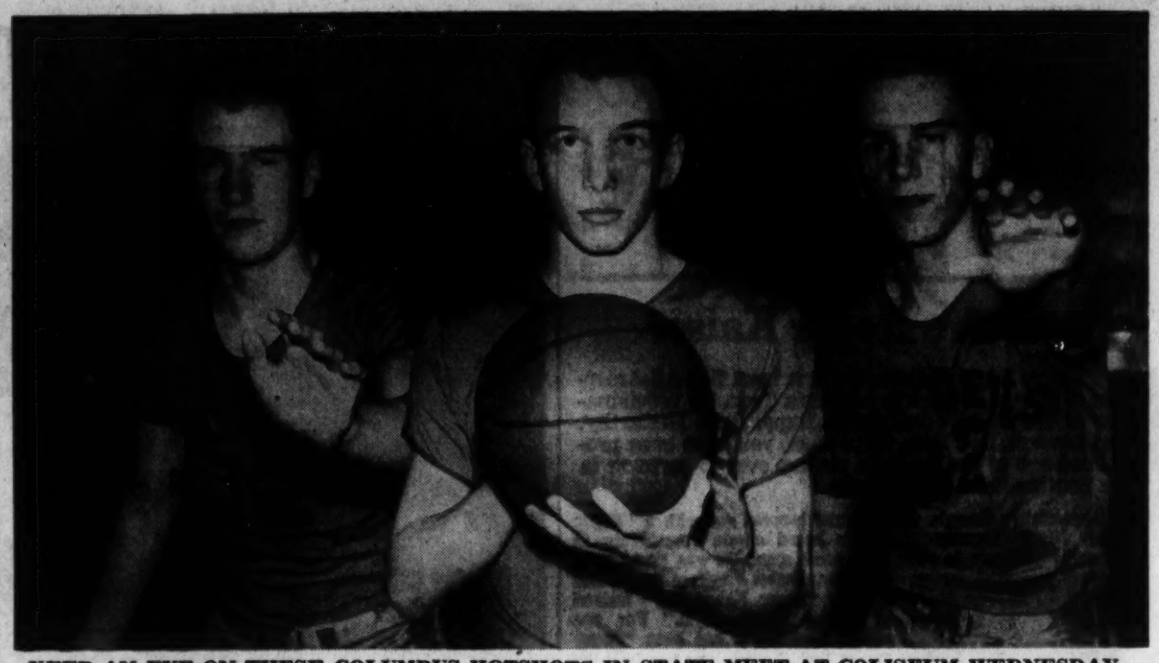

The Murphy-Bass meeting will be the third of the season. Murphy won both of the games, by two and 15 points.

KEEP AN EYE ON THESE COLUMBUS HOTSHOTS IN STATE MEET AT COLISEUM WEDNESDAY

MARIOTTI, BOWERS, MOYER WARN:

South Might Rise Again in AAA Meet

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

How great is the threat from the South to Atlanta security?

This is a question being asked frequently by Georgia high school basketball people as the Wednesday opening nears for the GHSA's Constitution-sponsored state Class AAA tournament at Alexander Coliseum.

Even those experts who predict that the eight Greater Atlanta teams in the annual classic will be too strong for the equal number of quartets from out in the state can't forget that region one schools have won the AAA crown 20 of 39 times.

Are 1-AAA teams—Warner Robins (26-5), Columbus (17-8), Lanier (18-10) and Valdosta (12-15)—really not as strong this season as most of that region's representatives in years gone by—as some say?

For the answer we solicited the opinion of Al Mariotti, highly respected coach of LaGrange High. His Grangers narrowly missed getting into a state meet for the 11th time in 12 years. His 1952 quintet won the state Class A crown, and his 1959 and 1960 units were runnersup to Brown and Sylvan in the state AAA tourney. Mariotti certainly qualifies as an expert.

"This may not be the strongest bunch our region has sent to the state meet," evaluated Mariotti. "But you can't sell that Warner Robins team short. That's sure.

"Don LeBlanc is a fine coach. His players are experienced and well-co-ordinated. They had a 25-3 record in AA in 1960. Bob Davis (6-2 forward who led the region with 613 points in 31 games) is definitely an exceptional player, one of the best. Bobby Cribb (318 points) is also a good one.

"I'd have to say that Warner Robins is a definite threat, and that Larry Oswalt's Columbus team might fool everyone, too. Columbus hustles, hustles, hustles—all the time. Chuck Harris (300 points), Harry Wilson (232), Ray Crawford (209), Jerry Smith (207) and that bunch really go all out.

"The big trouble with Warner Robins, Columbus and also Lanier and Valdosta is a lack of height. No one has a good big boy, one of those 6-5 or 6-6 fellows that can rebound against any team and get the points close in.

"Some teams have won without such a fellow—like Baker in 1954 and 1956—but still a coach needs one or two of them.

"Almost all teams in our region except Warner Robins are young—play a lot of sophs and juniors—so lack experience. But no one had better undersell Warner Robins—or Columbus, even if they don't impress you when they come on the court."

Harley Bowers, sports editor of the Macon Telegraph, has seen many of these tournaments through the years, too. So we asked him "how about the strength in 1-AAA?" Harley echoed the Mariotti beliefs and added a few of his own.

"Lack of a good big boy handicaps almost every team in the region, but Warner Robins and Lanier certainly can be regarded as threats," he intoned. "Warner Robins seems to be the soundest team.

"Davis is a fine player, and that Cribb can really shoot. He shot 19 times and hit 16 from the floor in the 1-AAA tournament at Albany. That's shooting.

"Lanier can shoot like mad, but needs a good big boy for rebounding purposes. John Breedlove and Jimmy Seward are the highboys and are only 6-2. But the Poets can get mighty hot. This Woodrow Fincher can hit real well."

Ellwood Moyer, the sage of Columbus, backed up the contention on Fincher. "A tremendous player . . . leading scorer in the Albany tournament with 70 points . . . hit 31 against Albany . . . had 489 points in regular season . . . has tremendous hands . . . very quick," he says.

So, the long, tall and terrific fellows from Atlanta perhaps had better not be counting their championship chickens before they hatch. The South may rise again—quicker than anyone believes.

Lane and Gordon At It Again; Disagree on Trading of Maris

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics have been in spring training only eight days and already Frank Lane is taking issue with his manager, Joe Gordon.

In an interview Gordon said he would make the Roger Maris trade with the New York Yankees all over again and is expecting to get a good year out of Norm Siebern, Don Larsen, Marv Throneberry and Hank Bauer. All four came to the Athletics from the Yankees in the Maris Deal.

"I sure hope Gordon turns out to be right," Lane said Monday, "but I'm afraid I'll have to disagree with him. I thought Kansas City got hooked when the deal was made and certainly in light of what happened last year I've seen nothing to change my mind.

"I certainly respect Joe's opinions and I'll consult him in any trade we make but I have the final say and I question whether I would sign the papers for such a deal."

HELPING HANDS—Apparently even eight coaches aren't enough for the Chicago Cubs, who opened training at Mesa, Ariz., Monday. With 49 players on hand, the Cubs' coaching board had to call on Ernie Banks, Richie Ashburn and Frank Thomas to help with the drilling.

EARLY BIRD—Mickey Mantle reported for work two days early, hit a couple of right-handed drives over the center-field fence, and announced his right shoulder is as good as it ever is going to be.

The shoulder has been chronically sore ever since Milwaukee's Red Schoendienst sat on it during a play at second base in the 1957 World Series.

ELSEWHERE—Dave Nicholson, Baltimore's $115,000 bonus prospect, was beaned during batting practice but was not seriously injured. . . . Three Pittsburgh Pirates came up with minor injuries. Dick Stuart reported a pain in his back, Roy Race had a pulled muscle in his left leg, and Gene Baker was treated for a sprained right knee.

Roberts was an All-American guard for Bud Wilkinson's famous Sooners in the seasons of 1951-'53.

Earlier in the day, Auburn head coach Ralph Jordan had announced a partial shakeup in his staff. Senn and basketball coach Joel Eaves were relieved of football coaching duties, and will work in administrative and basketball posts exclusively.

Vince Dooley becomes the freshman coach, and Erskine Russell, former Grady of Atlanta head coach, moves from the frosh position to the varsity staff. Russell's duties weren't immediately spelled out.

At Baton Rouge, former Louisiana Tech quarterback Taylor McNeel was named to the LSU varsity staff; apparently, as a replacement for Davis. McNeel had served as a graduate assistant with the freshman team after he entered LSU last fall to work on a Master's Degree in Education.

TECH EKES BY GATORS

man tossed lazy passes across court.

After waiting patiently the better part of five minutes, the Gators finally went after Tech with a passion, outscored the Jackets. 8-3, and almost pulled the game out of the fire.

Field goals by Lou Merchant and Carlos Morrison shaved the Tech edge to 49-46 with only 1:46 to go.

That's when Kaiser took charge—just as he always does in the clutch—and drove under for the basket which made it 51-46. Morrison came back with another Gator field goal, and after Hoffman had hit a free throw, Merchant connected with four seconds left to cut it to 52-50.

Hoffman then stood out of bounds, counting off those final four seconds and giving Tech the win.

The victory was the third straight for Tech and its sixth over-all against seven losses in Southeastern Conference play. The win also pushed the Jackets over the .500 mark for the year, 13 to 12.

Florida suffered its fifth SEC loss against eight wins and apparently dropped out of the running for second place in the conference race.

Kaiser, who was honored after the game in brief ceremonies, finished as the night's top scorer with 15 points. But, obviously pressing to make his final home game a good one, he was not the marksman he usually is.

Roger shot 20 times and hit only seven. He was one-for-two from the foul line.

Hoffman and another senior, Wayne Richards, scored nine apiece while sophomore Alan Nass grabbed 11 rebounds.

Merchant and Morrison sparked Florida with 14 and 13 points, respectively. The Gators played without three of their regulars, Capt. Bobby Shiver, Cliff Luyk and Paul Mosny.

Florida led, 31-30, at the half after staging a whirlwind comeback. The Gators trailed by eight points, 18-10, when Weekly was hurt in a collision under the Tech basket with 11:23 left in the half. But the Gators went to work, finally caught up at 28-all on George Junk's one-hander with 3:16 to go.

A field goal by Joe Meigs with 40 seconds left gave Florida its halftime edge.

The Jackets came back to run in 10 straight points after intermission and take a 40-31 lead. Kaiser sparked this push, and it appeared the Techmen were off to the races when Hyder suddenly called for the slowdown.

DIAMOND DIARY

RAFT OF EX-CRACKERS WEARING MAJOR LEAGUE FLANNEL

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

At least 37 one-time wearers of Atlanta baseball flannel, including old pro Dick Donovan, who insists he is going to pitch opening day for the new Washington Senators, are trying on big league uniforms for size this spring training.

Charlie Roberts

And no few of the former Crackers who haven't yet made the jump to the majors are given excellent chances to stick by their own managers.

Ray Rippelmeyer, Terry Fox, Bobby Hendley, Ken MacKenzie, Don Nottebart, Chet Nichols, Ben Johnson, John DeMerit, Bob (Hawk) Taylor and Bob Hartman in particular are being ballyhooed by their pilots as "likely to stick and make it big."

Joe Morgan, who has had big league flings without marked success, is another being counted upon—by Manager Jimmie Dykes of Cleveland.

Catcher Doug Camilli, pitcher Pete Richert and shortstop Dick Tracewski are the only players from Rube Walker's Southern Association championship Crackers of 1960 who are given a ghost of a chance to stick with the parent Los Angeles Dodgers.

But first baseman Tim Harkness, third baseman Don LeJohn, outfielder Shelly Brodsky and hurlers Dick Scott, Scott Breeden and Charlie Spell are toiling this spring with Walt Alston's varsity.

Always cocky Donovan vows he'll pitch the Senators' opener in Washington April 10 against his old team, the White Sox, and share the spotlight with President John Kennedy, who'll throw out the first ball.

And Mickey Vernon has tuned in on the Donovan wave length. Says the Nats' skipper, "It's fine with me if Donovan wants to pitch the opener. If he can show me his sore shoulder is well and he's ready, I'll probably let him."

Donovan says he wants to show Al Lopez that the Chisox skipper made a mistake in pitching him only 79 innings last year after he's toiled 220 or more for three straight years and worked with distinction against the Dodgers in the 1959 World Series.

Dykes says of Morgan, who's in an 11-way battle for the third base job, "Joe has some experience and hit well for us last season. We can use his .298 average if he can keep it up. He's got to be rated high among the third base prospects."

Manager Chuck Dressen of the Braves, who has 15 former Crackers among his Milwaukee hopefuls, says of Lefty Hendley, "They tell me he has the stuff to make it big up here, and he could be our fourth starter after he gets out of the Army in mid-April. Getting a late start will hurt his chances, but he was 16-9 at Louisville, with four play-off victories."

Outspoken Dressen expects right-hander Nottebart, 13-5 at Louisville after winning 18 there the year before, to make the grade for sure. "He's really ready now, I hear, and has a helluva slider," says Dressen.

Dressen also has high hopes that lefty Mackenzie, the ex-Yale fellow, 6-5 with a 3.40 earned-run-average at Louisville, "is ready to help us a lot in the bullpen." And he liked Noel Mickelsen's Pacific Coast League record so much (13-17 with 156 strike outs, 67 walks in 223 innings) that he had the brass buy back his contract from Portland.

Dressen also was quoted as rating outfielder DeMerit, .270 with 12 homers and 50 RBI in 126 games at Louisville, as his top rookie prospect—with catcher-outfielder Taylor, .270 with 17 homers and 80 RBI at Louisville, as number two.

He'll have a look, too, at pitcher Bob Botz, 7-13 at Louisville and Indianapolis; Cecil Butler, 7-3 and 2-6 at Austin and Louisville; catchers Bob Uecker and Jim Hay, .147 at Louisville and .242 at Jacksonville, respectively.

Freddie Hutchinson has high hopes that Rippelmeyer can become a starter for Cincinnati after a 16-13 and 2.71 campaign at Seattle, where he led the PCL in complete games (17).

Joe Gordon says he expects lefty Hartman, 10-11 and 3.01 at Louisville, to make it in Kansas City. And Fox, 12-9 and 3.07 for Sacramento, is high in the bullpen plans of Bob Scheffing at Detroit. Chuck Cottier, of course, is trying to outwrestle Jake Wood for the second base job there.

The Red Sox feel almost certain that Nichols has shaken the sore-arm plague of almost a decade after a brilliant 18-6 season at Vancouver in the PCL. And the Chicubs have a notion that right-hander Ben Johnson has reached big league maturity.

There are others—plus established stars like Ed Mathews—but those are the ex-Crackers with the best chances of going big league this trip.

WHAT'S HAPPENED TO BOAT DESIGNED FOR FISHERMAN?

By CHARLES ELLIOTT
Constitution Outdoor Columnist

Martin Kelly, who is host each spring to thousands of Georgians who visit his Sports and Vacation Show at the Municipal Auditorium in Atlanta, said that by far the most number of calls he receives at his office are from folks who are trying to buy a good fishing boat.

Charles Elliott

If he had asked me, I could have told him that there ain't any such contraption any more. You can purchase a 60-foot cabin cruiser or a 16 or 18-foot outboard job with about 10-feet of its deck covered and sleeping accommodations arranged underneath, more conveniently than you can buy an adequate craft of any size for convenient and comfortable fishing.

This must be due to a number of circumstances. One is the trend toward larger and faster outboards. A fellow starts out with a 3-h.p. motor and every time a boat passes him on the lake, he scales himself upward until he owns the largest boat and motor his credit will allow.

Another reason is that the manufacturers themselves can put just about the same labor and material into the larger boat, fancy it up a bit and get several times the price they command for an open vessel of approximately the same measurements.

Let's face it. Of the thousands of boats manufactured in the country each month, not a single builder has even a bateau which will fill the requirements of the average angler who spends his leisure hours in pursuit of some battling monster of the deeps.

Just what are the requirements of an adequate fishing boat? It should be safe, comfortable, roomy and maneuverable. Most of the assemblages which pass for fishing craft simply do not fill all of those four specifications. Those I've seen recently on showroom floors, in the catalogues and advertisements, are made with such low seats that they wouldn't weather a spring zephyr on a half-acre fish pond. If there is any possibility of a wind—and in these latitudes such a possibility always exists—it is almost suicidal to take one of those low-gunwaled jobs out on any lake of fishable proportions.

If you are looking for comfoft when you fish, don't buy the average boat built for that purpose. The seats and bottom of the craft are usually so close together that you'd be much more comfortable squatting on your haunches. The lads who invented the rack—that medieval instrument of torture—overlooked a bet when they didn't twist a guy into such a position that his knees were bumping his chin and he was half off balance, and make him sit there all day. It's one of the best ways I know to collect an accumulation of deformities.

Why doesn't some outfit manufacture an open fishing boat with freeboard enough to be safe, seats high enough to be comfortable, with sufficient length and beam to create proper space for gas tanks, tackle box, net, paddle, anchor and extra rods so you won't stumble over them every time you stand up? And design this same craft along such lines that it may be easily handled by either a small or large motor, or by paddle?

If such a boat is on the market, I haven't been able to find it. And apparently neither have the dozens of other people who make those calls to Martin Kelly's Sports and Vacation Show office, and inquire rather desperately whether a craft of this design may be obtained from any source.

OUTDOOR REPORT

Boat Show Playing to Largest Crowd in 12 Years

By TOM STODDARD

People by the potful poured into City Auditorium over the weekend, to get the Southeast Boat and Vacation Show off to its biggest start ever.

Bill Brown, announcer and PR man for the show was noticeably happy about the start, which came on the heels of some of the worst Atlanta weather imaginable, and maybe just before some more of the same.

"The crowds Friday and Saturday were not only the largest in the show's 12 years," reported Brown, "but people who work around here say they were the largest ever in the Auditorium. I wouldn't know about that, and I don't know how you could prove it, but that's what they say."

It appears, according to Brown, that an exhibit of guns and reloading equipment at the show is one of the biggest attractions, along with the swimming pool which boasts a number of girls, for adornment and demonstration.

Not everybody was prepared for such a crowd. One group of bank executives was pressed into balloon blowing service, when a helium tank gave out.

FISH STORY OF THE WEEK—Baxley McQuaig Jr. of Homerville, a strong exponent of south Georgia fishing and fishermen, boated a 9-pound 6-ounce jackfish, or eastern chain pickerel, on Feb. 17, and if the fish is recognized, he will have set a new world's record for that specie of fish.

The official world record, according to Field and Stream and the World-Telegram and Sun Almanac, is 9 pounds 3 ounces.

McQuaig said that, not knowing the exact procedure of recognition, he had sent a signed affaidavit and a picture to Field and Stream. Luckily, he was fishing with a notary public when he landed the fish at Guess' Pond, a private lake 12 miles south of Homerville.

"We didn't want to weight it until we had some witnesses," said McQuaig via telephone Monday, "so we waited until we got into town. But the fish was still alive and kicking when we took him out of the live well."

The jack measured 31 inches and had a 14-inch girth.

ELESWHERE OUTDOORS—All that rain has not aided fishing conditions in the slightest—just take a look at the lake levels elsewhere on this page. Most are filled to the brim, and many are spilling water; most of the water is muddy, to boot. . . . The Game and Fish Commission has decided against lengthening the quail season by a week. Many hunters who had looked forward to that final week of hunting were disappointed by the rains, and had asked for an extension. . . . One good fishing report did come in in this week.

Two Kentucky fishermen and their guide got a beautiful string of bass and jackfish at Lake Seminole, with some of each going over 5 pounds.

Though the situation is still muddled, it appears that the Game and Fish Commission budget cut, which had been proposed in an earlier appropriations bill, may be restored. The proposed Vandiver-compromise appropriations bill would eliminate the $95,000 cut.

DeFore, Guy Top AAA Scoring Race

Sylvan, Avondale Aces Matched in Quarterfinals

By PAUL ATKINSON

The luck of the pairings has set up a possible point duel between Georgia's Nos. 1 and 2 AAA high school scorers, Sylvan's Lee DeFore and Avondale's Freddie Guy, in the quarter-finals of the State Tournament Thursday.

According to final figures compiled by The Constitution, DeFore scored 444 points in 18 games, an average of 24.5. Guy was just a tad behind at 24.4, 220 points in nine games.

Sylvan's matched with Richmond Academy in the first round, and Avondale has drawn Lanier. Both Sylvan and Avondale, because of the productiveness of DeFore and Guy, will be favored to gain the second round and set up a "natural."

DeFore and Guy moved up to AAA's all-time Nos. 4 and 5 spots. Only three other players, Northside's Jerry Brooks, Murphy's Paul Cochran and Richmond Academy's Frank Clark, have had better averages. Brooks had 32.6 in 1959; Cochran, 25.9, 1955, and Clark, 25.1, 1958.

Actually, The Constitution-sponsored State Tournament will have five of the final top six firing away. Warner Robins' Bob Davis, No. 3 with 21.2; Grady's Don Baxter, No. 5 at 19.3, and Lanier's Woody Fincher, No. 6 at 18.8, are tournament-bound.

Only Sylvan of the State AAA's schools placed four men in double-figures. Besides DeFore, Tommy Roberts, Virlyn Gaynes and Terry Stephens scored 14.8, 11.2 and 10.4.

To be absolutely correct, Marist had four double-figure shooters. However, Carl Ackermann, who hit 12.8 per game, won't be available because of a broken foot. So John Baumgartner, Terry Murray, and Ray Monahan carry on with averages of 13.9, 12.3 and 11.6.

ARMY PISTOL UNIT SETS INDOOR RECORD

A United States Army pistol unit has set a new national record for marksmanship in indoor 22-caliber competition.

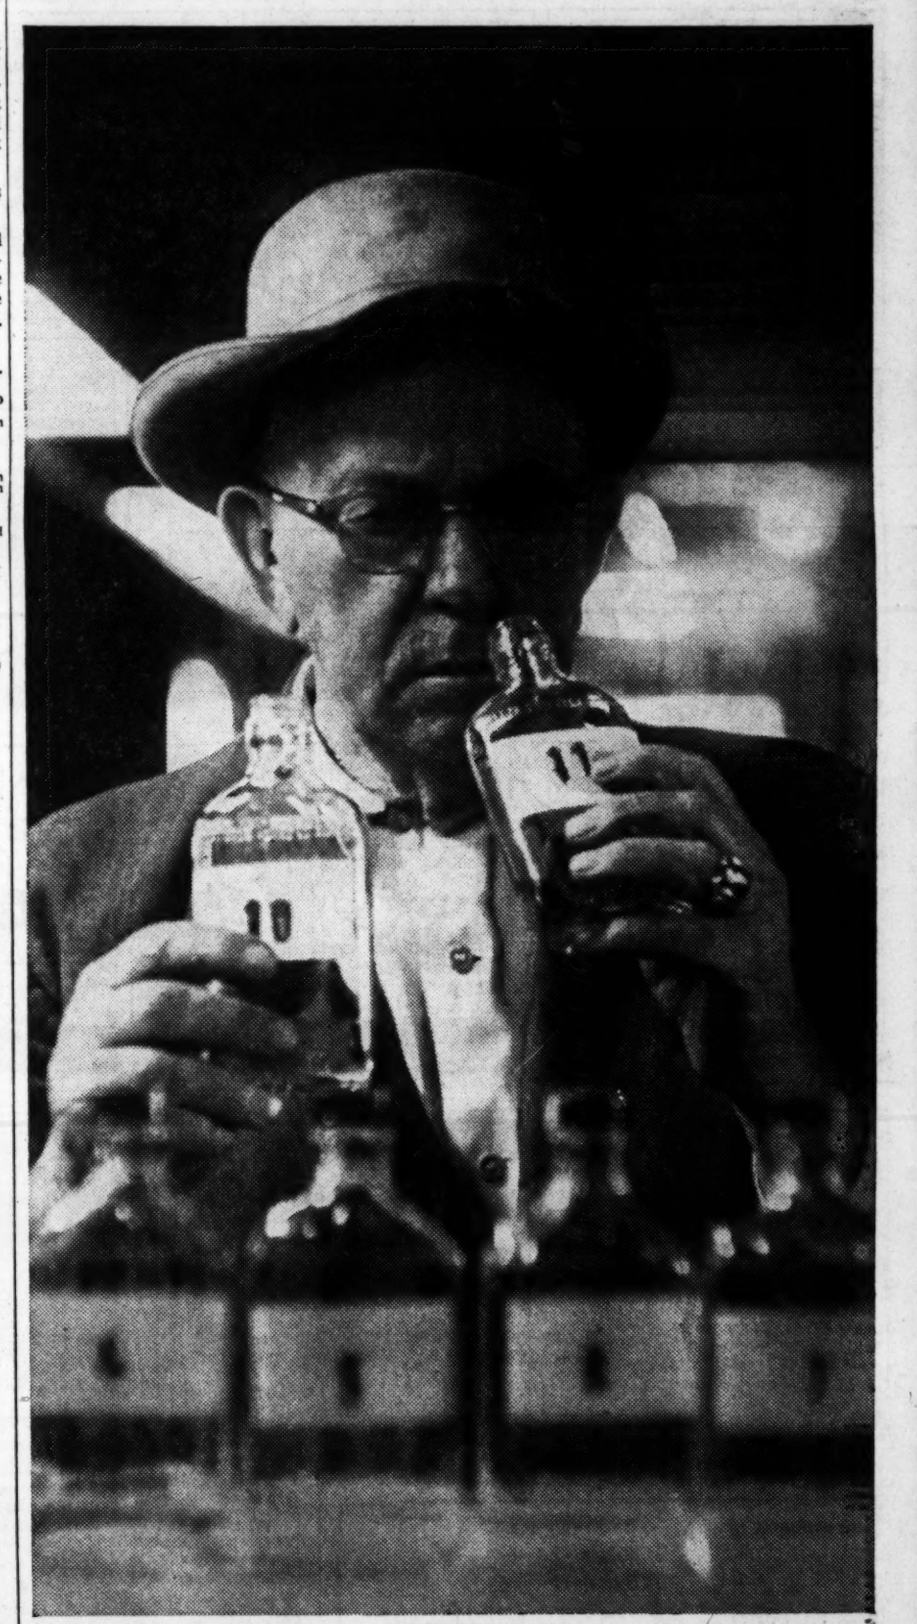

The Advanced Army Marksmen Unit, composed of Sgt. Bill Blankenship, Sgt. Richard Steinman, Sgt. Sam Hunter and Sgt. Floyd Oliver, scored 1,174 in their third try Sunday, breaking the old record of 1,165 by nine points.

In two previous matches, the four men had also broken the record, with scores of 1,173. The record-breaking shooting was held at the Atlanta Federal Prison pistol range.

The four men are stationed at Ft. Benning. Sgt. Blankenship is National Pistol Champion, and has competed in the Olympics and other international competitions.

The men were shooting 22-caliber pistols at targets 50 feet away. In slow fire shooting, the target bullseye is about the size of a quarter, and the team averaged hitting it 96 times out of a hundred.

Several perfect scores were recorded in rapid fire and time fire, in which the target is somewhat larger.

zone, which was all right with us. We had the lead and the ball. They couldn't win that way.

"We didn't stall just for the sake of stalling. We wanted them to come out of that zone."

But, at that stage of the game, Florida Coach Norman Sloan was having none of that.

"We weren't coming out until the stretch," he said. "We had it scaled. If we were behind by five, we were coming out with four minutes left. If we were behind by three, we were going to wait until three minutes left.

"We still had plenty of time to win the game, and the stall was helping us. With all those fans yelling up there, our guys could easily have lost their pose if the pace had kept up.

"The stall gave us a chance to settle down. It gave us a chance for some rest, which we needed."

At the end, strategy was a moot point. Tech won the game, with its usual clutch performance from Kaiser. And if he had spent most of his final playing minutes at the Coliseum tossing the ball back and forth with a teammate, the fans forgot it the minute it was over.

Win or lose, two points or 32, it was Roger Kaiser night at Georgia Tech. That's what the fans will remember. And so will he.

Wright Gets 22 For S. Fulton

Leon Wright scored 22 points and Larry Cantrell 20 as South Fulton stopped Archer, 83-76, Monday night. Thomas Gatlin scored 35 points for Archer, and Joseph Tate had 13.

ARCHER (76)—Tate 13, McDew 8, Bradley 9, McIver 4, Pitts 3, Davis 2, Gatlin 32, Price 7.
SOUTH FULTON (83)—Wright 22, Cantrell 20, Morris 16, Farmer 9, Carwell 5, Cleveland 5.
SCORE AT HALF—South Fulton 44, Archer 33.

JACK DANIEL'S SEVEREST CRITIC is our whiskey taster who makes sure our whiskey is gentled to the proper sippin' smoothness.

This gentleman's word is law at Jack Daniel's small distillery. He tastes our whiskey just as it comes from the room-high Charcoal Mellowing vats. And if he should say "no," the whole batch would be rejected, and the charcoal replaced for the next run. You see, we're not taking any chances on changing the quality of Jack Daniel's. One sip, we believe, will tell you why.

Brinkley's Wry Wit Will Spice TV Profile on Kennedy Tonight

By PAUL JONES

NBC is putting some frosting on a public affairs "Cake" Tuesday night.

In beginning a series of profiles on VIPs, starting appropriately with President Kennedy, the network which leads the rest with its Huntley-Brinkley news team has invited David Brinkley to do a segment which should add just enough spice to make the documentary presentation entertaining—I hope.

Jones

The new series, which NBC will offer on the basis of one every six or eight weeks, will examine the man, his family and his progress in office. In the beginning the programs will be devoted to men in government. Later, the series might delve into the careers of men in sports, industry, etc.

The first is called JFK—Report No. 1.

It will be divided into four segments. One will cover his early political life, his campaign and election. Still photographs made during this time will be employed in a way that will convey action.

The "frosting" will come when Brinkley, whose wry wit and objective reporting have made him one of the major talents in news broadcasting, comments on the impact the President and First Lady have had on the nation. His remarks will be punctuated, I understand, by some amusing material devoted to Mrs. Kennedy's influence on the world of fashion.

Brinkley might resent this, but I regard him as an entertainer as well as a newsman. His comments on the NBC-TV news report, carried on Channel 2 each day, Monday through Friday at 6:45 p.m., are made more interesting — and entertaining—when he injects a satirical barb or uncovers a human interest item which plodding newsmen have overlooked in their quest for the headline-making stories.

Some of David's witticisms seem even brighter when contrasted to the straight report given by his partner, Chet Huntley, who obviously culls most of his report from wire service offerings and stories done by NBC legmen.

JFK—Report No. 1 will offer a similar contrast.

A taped sequence will feature Martin Agronsky, a sure-enough go-getter, interviewing some leaders in Congress about what the chances of the President's program becoming law are.

And, to cap the report, some NBC newsmen will engage in a discussion of the Kennedy administration's first few weeks in office.

With Brinkley, the star of the NBC roster, getting in some good verbal licks, the show should prove enlightening as well as entertaining.

MRS. JACK JONES, of College Park, writes: "Debbie Drake is a disgrace. I am not surprised she doesn't get much fan mail. No one but a sex-sick person would take time out to write to her. It is your job to comment. But I can't believe you approve.

"Think of your wife or daughter in her place, or your son enjoying such entertainment."

The Chase Is On

Paul Ford, left, as captain of detectives, orders one of his men, Bob Hastings, to help him track down a murder suspect in "Open House," a comedy which G-E Theater presents at 9 p.m. Sunday on Channel 5. Robert Strauss costars with Ford in this presentation.

Carol Burnet Portrays a Secretary So Tired She Sleeps Standing Up

By TV SCOUT

BEST BET—The Garry Moore Show has more plus factors than any variety show on the air and finds Carol Burnett doing another of her wonderful bits of nonsense Tuesday night.

In her chief contribution, Carol will portray a secretary who is so tired she even sleeps standing up. The big scene in the skit comes when she is given an overdose of pep pills.

George Burns and Kay Thompson are the guest stars Tuesday night. Both will sing. The Wonderful Year is 1957. Durward Kirby will portray a beatnik poetry reciter. (Ch. 5—10-11 p.m.)

8-8:30 (Ch. 11)—The Rifleman has one of those stories about a deserted ghost town which has a good-sized population of flesh-and-blood citizens lurking in the shadows.

The ending is predictable, but it's still a chilling outing with sudden appearances in abandoned mine tunnels and such. There is good use of the subjective camera technique—the camera is used as a person's eyes—adding to the general air of suspense.

8:30-9 (Ch. 5)—Herbert T. Gillis (Frank Faylen) loves his wife, but, oh, those contests! Dobie Gillis tells how Wini (Florida Friebus) is a contest addict.

There is a funny scene showing her working three contests at once—a TV quiz, a radio game and a bean counting affair. Of course, she never wins—until Herbert agrees to let her mother and sister visit for six months if she ever wins.

9-9:30 (Ch. 5) — The Tom Ewell Show pits its hero against three pixilated ladies when he tries to buy their home which is standing in the way of a new shopping center.

WSB Takes A Look At Taxes

Should people who work in Atlanta but live outside the city limit be forced to pay taxes for the privilege of working in the city?

This question should arouse some interest when it is asked on Family Fare at 1:05 p.m. Tuesday on WSB.

Here are some other tips for listeners:

10:15 a.m. (WSB)—Earl Nightengale talks on "More Power to Use."

11:05 a.m. (WSB)—Pop Call Parade calls on a new employe of an Atlanta newspaper.

2:15 p.m. (WSB)—Elmo Ellis reviews John Lukoes' book, "History of the Cold War."

5 p.m. (WPLO-FM)—The Art of Jazz. Martin Williams features the music of Duke Ellington.

7:45 p.m. (WSB)—Jim Horne features a "Musical Montage of Camelot."

Ralph Cordiner Quits U.S. Job to Head GE

NEW YORK (AP)—Chairman Ralph J. Cordiner of General Electric Co. resigned Monday as chairman of the National Business Advisory Council to take over the GE presidency from retiring Robert Paxton.

Besides holding the chairmanship and presidency of the company, Cordiner will continue as a member of the council, which advises Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges. Hodges said in Boston he had no comment.

Cordiner announced that Paxton, 59, was retiring because of ill health after serving as president since April 23, 1958.

PROBLEM RAISED

The GE chairman said he was quitting the council chairmanship against the wishes of members because "my time and attention must be devoted solely to the affairs of the company."

A question over Cordiner's continuance in the council chairmanship was raised after GE and 28 other electrical equipment manufacturing companies were fined nearly $2 million in antitrust actions charging rigging of bids and prices.

Cordiner's announcement that he was quitting as council chairman and that Paxton was retiring a year in advance of plans made no mention of the antitrust case. Cordiner and Paxton were not involved in the government's allegations.

PAXTON'S HEALTH

Cordiner said Paxton's retirement was "precipitated by the need for a continuing period of convalescence following major surgery in January."

Paxton earned $212,497 in 1959, the latest year for which the company has announced figures. He has been with GE 37 years.

In another development, a GE spokesman said GE's 250,000 stockholders will be given an opportunity to vote at the annual meeting April 26 on proposals of the International Union of Electrical Workers that company officials convicted of antitrust law violations be barred from further employment, and that the company file damage suits against executives whose actions resulted in the company's conviction.

Billion Tax Ease Plan For Plants

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Treasury experts are drafting a potential billion-dollar program of tax rewards for businessmen who plow their money into new machines and factories.

The purpose is to stimulate growth of the U.S. economy at the level believed to be most lasting—investment in new plants and equipment to turn out cheaper and better goods.

TAX ALLOWANCE

In order to recover some of the revenue lost through the incentive program, the administration is asking Congress to knock out special tax allowances for stock dividend income.

The experts estimate that the tax credit proposal—if it catches on among businessmen — could cost $1 billion in revenue. Dividend allowance reductions might bring back $500 million. More might be gained by tightening deductions allowed for business expenses.

The administration in no way considers these possible steps to be general tax reform or relief. They go more to President Kennedy's priority plans to try to increase the rate of U.S. economic growth. Kennedy and his advisers believe the country has to expand output faster to achieve high employment at home and keep abreast of other expanding nations.

State's Rolls Of Insured Idled Ebbs

7 of 100 Draw Benefits Still

By JIM MONTGOMERY

Insured unemployment in Georgia receded slightly for the second straight week in the seven days ended Feb. 18, the State Labor Department reported Monday.

But it still marked only the seventh week in history in which seven out of every 100 insured workers drew jobless pay.

The total, 55,205, included 52,930, or 7.1 per cent, of the state-insured workers, and 2,275 federal civilian employes and ex-servicemen covered by federal unemployment aid.

This was down from the preceding week's 56,875, which included 54,560, or 7.3 per cent, state-insured, and from the postwar highs set in the week ended Feb. 4 of 57,998 total and 55,718, or 7.5 per cent, state-insured.

The figures for the week ended Feb. 18 also compared with a total of 32,902, including 31,255, or 4.3 per cent, state-insured in the comparable week of 1960.

The latest total included only 10,572 "partials"—that is, persons expected to be jobless for no more than two weeks as a result of temporary production cutbacks or shutdowns—the lowest for this category so far this year. This compared with 12,366 in the preceding week, and the alltime high for "partials" of 20,200 in the first week of 1961.

Georgia's ratio of insured workers drawing jobless pay has equalled or exceded 7 per cent in six of this year's first seven weeks. The only previous week in which it reached this level was in May of 1958, when the last recession hit bottom.

Total unemployment in Georgia is unofficially estimated at more than 100,000 now, including farm and domestic workers not covered by insurance, as well as a growing number of workers who have been exhausting their insurance benefits at a recent rate of more than 1,000 a week.

As many as 30,000 or more of the latter stand to be reinstated for 13 weeks with enactment of federal legislaion extending regular unemployment compensation benefits.

L&N Expects 50,000 Auto Shipments Here

The Louisville and Nashville Railroad opened a new automobile distribution facility here Monday which is expected to handle approximately 50,000 cars and trucks this year.

Rail transportation of new autos is expected to "be stepped up sharply" as a result of the $350,000 Tilford Yard facility, Wallace C. Walthen, division freight agent, said.

Autos come into the Atlanta rail facility from manufacturing plants in Detroit, Kansas City, St. Louis and other cities. Walthen said Tilford Yard should become a distribution point for cars of all major manufacturers within 30 days.

The present four-track facility can handle a total of 20 rail cars at one time, but it can be increased to eight tracks, with storage area capable of being increased to 30 acres of pavement. Walthen reported about two-thirds of the autos now passing through Tilford Yard are handled on a "piggy-back" basis. The remaining one-third come in on special multi-level rail cars.

No Atlanta-made cars are being shipped from the Tilford Yard area, which operates on a seven-day-a-week, 24-hour-a-day basis, the L&N agent said.

Atlanta Produce

On the Atlanta fruit and vegetable market receipts were liberal over the weekend, according to the A.M.S. Trading was fair on Sunday and light early Monday. The market was weak on vine-ripe tomatoes and liberal supplies of ordinary to fair quality cabbage. Iceberg lettuce was steady to firm; onions were slightly lower. Florida oranges held steady at mostly 2.90-3.00 per half box; grapefruit was 1.65-2.00 with pink varieties to 2.25 per half box carton. Temple oranges were mostly 3.65-3.75 per half box. Oranges included some fresh offerings of Valencias.

Georgia sweet potatoes were in lighter volume but steady at mostly 4.25-4.50 per bushel of good stock. Florida cabbage ranged 75c-1.15 per bag with some poorer 50c and some poor to ordinary quality unsold. Georgia turnips and greens, also green onions were in fairly good supply. Green onions sold 80-90c; collards 1.00-1.75, mostly 1.25, and turnips mostly 1.50-1.75 per dozen bunches. Bushels of mustard greens were 1.00-1.50, mostly 1.25 per bushel, and turnip greens also jobbed mostly around 1.25 bushel.

Florida pole beans brought 3.25-3.75, poorer 2.50-2.75; few ordinary to fair Contenders were 2.50-2.75 and Wade beans 3.25-3.75, with few very best to 4.75; lima beans were 4.50-5.25; yellow crookneck squash at 4.00-4.50 and large 2.00-3.00, mostly 2.25-2.50; few fairly good cucumbers were 7.50-8.00 bushel; eggplant fair 2.50-2.75, few best 4.00; crates of five dozen white corn brought 4.00-4.25, few 4.50; yellow mostly 4.75; crates escarole and endive were 1.75-2.00; romains 2.00; Bibb and leaf lettuce 2.25, some Bibb 2.00 per basket. Florida pascal celery three dozen jobbed mostly at 2.50 and 50-pound bags of round red potatoes U.S. No. 1 size A mostly 2.50; size B 2.65-2.75 and poorer size A at 1.35-1.50. Basket radishes were 1.10-1.25; 10-pound cartons of limes 54-63c at 2.50; medium to large bell peppers were 3.00-3.50, few best large to 4.50 per bushel.

Rallying Stocks Leap High Hurdle

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied in heavy trading and cleared an important technical hurdle.

It was the fourth straight five-million-share day.

Stock market technicians hailed the market's ability to scale the rally peak of 656.42 set by the Dow Jones industrial average last June 9. The Dow industrials topped that line decisively, rising 4.84 to 660.44. In doing so, the Dow industrials theoretically passed through an area of supply, represented by purchases of stock at the comparatively high June level. The Dow still remained well below its historic high of 685.47 reached Jan. 5, 1960.

STEEL LEADERS

Steel shares paced the wheelhorses as steel production held steady and forecasts were for a pickup this spring. All of the leading steels advanced at least a point.

More sensational gains were made among selected issues. Litton industries, recommended by an advisory service, spurted 9⅛. International Business Machines advanced 19.

Gains of most key stocks were moderate. Among the gainers were coppers, electrical equipments, rubbers, rails, tobaccos, utilities, drugs and electronics.

MANY GAIN POINT

Texas Instruments dropped 4¼. The same advisory service that recommended Litton suggested Texas Instruments be sold.

Gains exceeding a point were made by a wide range of stocks.

American Stock Exchange prices were generally higher as volume swelled to 2.44 million shares matching the turnover in the yearend session, Dec. 30.

Corporate bonds advanced. U.S. government bonds declined.

Firm Lint Turns Weak

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed unchanged to 55 cents a bale lower.

Trade and commission house buying imparted early firmness, with gains at one time extending to 45 cents a bale.

The market weakened toward the close as commission house selling increased.

There were 11 March delivery notices issued at New York, which were stopped in the early afternoon.

Memphis advices to a leading spot firm said the higher government support price on the 1961 cotton crop had spurred mill and merchant buying interest in spot cotton.

Beans Hit 5-Year Peak

CHICAGO (AP)—Speculative dealers mustered another mighty push in soybean futures and all strictly old crop deliveries reached or exceeded $3 a bushel, the highest peak in almost five years.

In 1956, the May contract sold as high as $3.40 a bushel.

Gains ran to more than nine cents a bushel at the finish. At one time in the early afternoon, the July delivery was up the limit of 10 cents allowed for a net change in one day on the Board of Trade. Thus, in the last three trading days, the old crop contracts have advanced more than 20 cents a bushel in spots.

AUTOMATIC WASHER From GEORGIA POWER

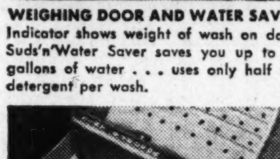

CLEANER CLOTHES OR YOUR MONEY BACK

If, within 15 days, you are not convinced that your Westinghouse Laundromat Automatic Washer gets clothes cleaner than any other washer you have ever seen, the full price will be refunded.

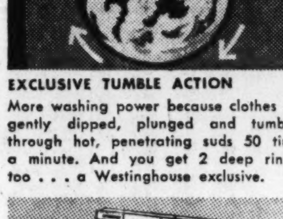

WEIGHING DOOR AND WATER SAVER
Indicator shows weight of wash on door. Suds'n'Water Saver saves you up to 10 gallons of water . . . uses only half the detergent per wash.

AUTOMATIC LINT EJECTOR
Lint is ejected down the drain, automatically. No filter or trap to clog or clean, ever. Self-cleaning Lint Ejector sweeps lint and suspended soil out of both wash and rinse water.

EXCLUSIVE TUMBLE ACTION
More washing power because clothes are gently dipped, plunged and tumbled through hot, penetrating suds 50 times a minute. And you get 2 deep rinses, too . . . a Westinghouse exclusive.

WESTINGHOUSE MATCHING DRYER
No guesswork with Automatic-Dry setting. Thermostats automatically shut dryer off when clothes are dry and ready for removal. Damp-dry setting also, if you wish to iron immediately.

MATCHING ELECTRIC DRYER

ONLY $189.95

ONLY $229.95 with trade $11.75 A MONTH

Big wash or small, from grimy work clothes to dainty ladies' things, your Westinghouse Laundromat Automatic Washer does the job right . . . with gentle, thorough precision.

That means a lot to smart homemakers:

Cleaner clothes . . . the cleanest you've ever seen.

Less work . . . front-loading takes the "weight-lifting" out of washing.

Big, big savings . . . save when you buy it, save while you use it.

See this wonderful Westinghouse washer at your Georgia Power Store today.

You can be SURE . . . if it's Westinghouse
